

CHURCH COUNCIL SAYS 64 BUSINESS PLACES VIOLATE BLUE LAWS

Will Make Efforts to Prevent Further "Sunday Selling" in This City

KNOW OF 62 OPEN HOUSES

To Notify Owners of Property; to Give Girl Inmates a Chance to Do Better

Efforts to close every place of business in the city on Sunday will be made at once by the executive committee of the Civic Council of Harrisburg Churches. At the meeting of the council last night sixty-four business places were reported as violating the "blue laws" by Sunday selling.

The committee will not bring prosecutions at once, but every class of business will be requested to arrive at a common agreement on closing on Sunday by Sunday selling.

In the report submitted last night by Elmer S. Schilling, chairman of the Sunday closing committee, mention was made of drug stores, candy stores, cigar stores and even grocery stores that violate the law. Effort will be made to close all drug stores except for a few hours when drugs alone are to be sold.

A committee will call upon the owners of the houses, notify them of the character of the tenants, and put the question to them, "Do you want to be linked with such a business?" Publicity and prosecutions will follow.

St. Valentine's Chief Aid and Pretty Girl Are Betrayed by Harrisburger

When City Clerk Charles A. Miller opened one of his pile of letters yesterday he thought for a moment that he and St. Valentine were mixed up in a lullaby. For, out of the envelope addressed simply to "City Clerk, Harrisburg," dropped a postcard picture of a pretty girl.

City office gossip has it that Mr. Miller brushed a trifle and said "Whew!" The clerical staff said "Ah ha!" and "Oh, dear me."

Mayor May Soon Offer Ordinance Doing Away With Unsightly Banners

Announcement was made late this afternoon by Commissioner Bowman that the councilmanic conference scheduled for to-morrow night may be postponed until Friday night.

What effect the so-called "ripper" resolution will have on the personnel of the various departments of the municipal government will be definitely known, it is expected, after to-morrow evening's conference of the city councilmen.

That the appointments decided upon then will be submitted to Council at Tuesday's meeting is a foregone conclusion. And the introduction of this measure, it is understood, will mean the indefinite postponement of Mayor Royal's resolution offered in Council yesterday providing for the reappointment of the entire police force.

So municipal circles anticipate some more warring at next Tuesday's councilmanic session.
