STEADY EMPLOYMENT IS STEEL CO.'S POLICY

supplies the company is running at a sixty per cent. capacity.

The publication of the Philadelphia News Bureau is authority for the following statement in regard to the changed policy of the company:

"Owing to the character of its business, the Pennsylvania Steel Company has been more affected by the developments of last year or so than some other companies engaged in the steel industry. Unlike the Cambria Steel Company, which has a very diversified commercial business, the Pennsylvania Steel Company is dependent very largely upon the railroads as buyers of its products. When the railroads are out of the market to a great extent, as has been the case since action on the application of the Eastern roads for a five per cent. rate increase has been in the hands of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the outlet for the company's products is much curtailed with some detrimental effect upon its earnings.

"The management of the company operates upon a careful and conservative policy and endeavors, as far as may be possible, to minimize the irregularity of ordering incidental to railroad purchases by distributing the work to the greatest feasible extent. As a result of this plan, the company is now able to keep its main plant, at Steelton, Pa., operating at about 60 per cent. capacity, despite the scarcity of railroad business. The plant of its important subsidiary, the Maryland Steel Company, at Sparrows Point, Md., is operating at its normal department pretty fully, but the rail mill and other departments are closed. The rail department closes every year for about a month, but the shutdown this year has been in the neighborhood of four or five weeks longer than usual.

"Money has already been spent freely by the management of the Pennsylvania Steel Company for the purpose of developing its commercial business, as distinguished from the railroad business, and thus obtaining a more varied and less fluctuating demand for its output.

TELEPHONE CASE OVER ANOTHER WEEK

Public Service Commission Hears
a Good Bit About the Inside of Business

The Public Service Commission put in another day on the telephone rate hearing, yesterday and adjourned last night until March 5, when a new phase of the physical valuation will be taken up.

Nathan Hayward, engineer of the Bell Companies, was recalled yesterday to answer some questions which had been asked by some of the commissioners at previous hearings. Mr. Hayward also explained in more detail some of the exhibits which had been previously submitted. Mr. Hayward then went into the subject of functional depreciation, which he defined as differing from natural depreciation in that the former is due to the forces of society, public requirements and like causes, while natural depreciation is what is happening to the telephone plant due to natural causes.

River Brethren May Hold Convention at
Hershey Park in 1915

Hershey, Pa., Feb. 20.—Twenty-five thousand people will spend a week or ten days in Hershey Park during the summer of 1915 if the present plans to bring the annual conference of the River Brethren of the country to this place succeed.

The eastern committee of the denomination is trying to bring the conference to Hershey and the annual conference to be held in Seattle, Wash., for the summer will decide whether or not to accept the recommendation of the committee. It is believed here that the conference will be secured for this place. If the River Brethren come here, it will mean that additional buildings will have to be erected and many thousands of dollars spent in preparing the park for the reception of the large crowd. The River Brethren met at Paxtang about a dozen years ago. At that time many thousands of people were at the meetings, which lasted two weeks.

No News of Schooner
Kineo, Missing For Three Days, Received

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 20.—Somewhere out in the forty-eight mile gale that was lashing the Atlantic to-day the five-masted schooner Kineo of Bath, Maine, now a three-day mystery, probably was fighting for the lives of her crew of eleven.

After a fruitless search the revenue cutter Onondaga having exhausted her bunkers in day and night cruising, was putting back to Norfolk for supplies to continue the hunt. Mariners were in doubt about the schooner's fate.

Some pointed out that she may have been sailing all the time since she was sighted Wednesday by the steamer City of Atlanta. Although the Kineo was then taking eleven inches of water an hour, her pumps were then keeping her afloat easily. Storm, however, might put the ship in a bad way.

A sailing course would be out of the steamer lanes, however, and somewhere out of the travel patches of shipping the unlucky ship may be making for port.

K-nutty Knute Erickson
at Orpheum Next Week

Lo'ing back over the list of funsters who have appeared at the Orpheum, it's good to come across the name of Knute Erickson, who might even be better known as Daffy Dan.

Mr. Erickson has appeared more times at the Orpheum than any other comedian and to say that he is easily the most popular cut-up the management ever sent here, is only a bare fact. Mr. Erickson first became popular here in Lasky's "At the Waldorf," then later in Mr. Lasky's "On the House." Then he came to town in a monologue and found as much favor as ever. His particular type of "nutty" comedy and drollery has branded him a favorite here.

The present season finds Mr. Erickson in another pretentious one-act musical comedy, employing a cast of some twenty players, an act that is said to be a blaze of light, beauty, color and song. And oh, yes, it has some comedy, by all means some comedy, for this element of the production is left to K-nutty, K-nutty Knute. Of all the odd character creations presented in musical comedies, that of Daffy Dan is unique.

"The Seminary Girl" is a bright, tuneful and pleasing affair. The music is catchy and alluring, the situations plausible, and the company is far above the average in capability, and all these things taken together, mean a good production, and one that will be enjoyed by the theatergoer who is a lover of the musical show. The piece is well staged, and the costumes and scenery are all that can be desired.

Daffy Dan and the Seminary Girls are announced as next week headliners at the Orpheum.—Advertisement.

TO PROTEST AGAINST FORRER'S DISMISSAL

since the news became known that Mr. Forrer would be dropped the children have been busy among themselves. The report to-day was that the juvenile protests would be combined in one petition to be presented next Tuesday provided the movement could be organized by that time.

The Rev. John H. Daugherty, president of the Civic Council of Federated Churches of Harrisburg, announced this afternoon that he will call the members of the executive committee together to-morrow to frame resolutions protesting against the dismissal of Forrer. These resolutions will be presented to the civic council for adoption Monday evening.

"We have been so busy in license court," said he, "that I've had practically no chance to go into the matter very fully thus far, but I have heard a whole lot of talk against the removal of Mr. Forrer."

The Rev. Father T. B. Johnson, assistant rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral and one of the leading athletic directors of the city, has issued an open letter on the subject of Forrer's dismissal. Following is the letter:

"What a pity that I have to enter this hallowed domain and rob our children of the efficient service of one who has advanced Harrisburg's park and playground interests to the present standing."

Those who are interested enough in the subject will learn that Harrisburg in its playground movement is far behind other cities; that the efforts of the past were but infant sprawlings; and that what the city needs, with an important secondary to no other consideration, is a continued work of this kind and more resources for this purpose.

We pose the faults of a grown generation; we abhor the conditions that environment imposes upon so many children in early training; we endure a network of societies for the amelioration of humankind, but we too often neglect duties of prime importance in our great commonwealth.

As Professor Stearns, of Phillips Academy, says: "In these days of increasing luxury, ease and softness, the influence of wholesome athletics in developing character and strengthening moral fibre must not be ignored."

Mr. Forrer's work needs no commendation; his efficiency is best attested by the results produced from such small resources, as well as from the universal and city-wide uplift of thousands of Harrisburg's children. Shall we remove him and nip the work in the bud? In these days of increasing luxury, ease and softness, the influence of wholesome athletics in developing character and strengthening moral fibre must not be ignored.

CANNOT ORDER CARRIERS TO DISREGARD THEIR TARIFF

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20.—In a decision following an inquiry into the enforcement of provisions of bills of lading the Interstate Commerce Commission held to-day that it "had no authority to order carriers to disregard their tariffs, nor does it feel justified in acquiescing in the adjustment of matters brought into the condition here presented by reason of disregard of tariff provisions, except when to do otherwise must leave uncorrected grossly unjust and widespread discriminations."

For Children Lax Links Are Safe and Sure

Don't let the little ones suffer from constipation, as serious ills are apt to result. Very often they will become constipated by overeating. Castor oil, rhubarb or other medicines relieve temporarily, and unless the greatest care is exercised, will often do more harm than good. Lax Links, those delightful candy laxatives, exquisitely flavored with the oil of spearmint, and which do not contain any habit-forming or dangerous drug are what the children like and need. They are not violent in their action; neither will they gripe or cause pains. A few tablets will be all that is necessary. Recommended by physicians and sold by druggists everywhere, 10c and 25c boxes. Write for free sample. Boro Salicine Co., Philadelphia.
