This development, industrial, educational and otherwise, is shown in an interesting volume, just issued by the Bureau of Insular Affairs, containing the reports of the governor and other officials for the fiscal year 1913.

This report shows that since 1901 the total external commerce of the island has increased some five fold, in round numbers the exports growing from eight and a half millions to forty-nine millions; the imports from less than nine to nearly thirty-seven millions; while the balance of trade, adverse in 1901 by a small amount, is now more than twelve millions annually in its favor. Few Harrisburgers realize the extent to which Congressman Olmsted was identified with the development of our insular possessions. He was President Taft's chief lieutenant on insular affairs on the floor of the House. His work for the up-lift of Porto Rico stands as a splendid monument to his personal talents, broad statesmanship and splendid achievements while in Congress.

"The campaign opened on Saturday with the circulation of nominating petitions," says a Philadelphia newspaper. Glad to hear it. Circumstances had led us to believe that the campaign had been on for a month or more.

A school for "TREASURES"

A home problem touched upon in Kathleen Norris' new novel, "The Treasure," is that of the servant. One way to solve this, in her opinion, would be to train servant girls in a school, fit their wages by a scale and arranger egular hours for their employment at in the case of salesgirls and stenographers. It is said that since such a program has been advocated by Mrs Norris she has received many letters of inquiry. Almost all of the writers have wanted to know whether or not there is really a school like the one mentioned in the service of the correspondent at least a score of the correspondent states to score of the correspondent such an institution where they could be fitted for a life comparatively comfortable and safe.
