Ogelsby, tractor, the skating rink and circus manager, the liveryman and the broke will have to pay the city of Harris-burg for the privilege of doing business each year will be threshed out at a conference of the city councilmen Friday afternoon.

The problem is embodied in Har risburg's first real license tax ordinance, introduced yesterday in Council by Commissioner W. L. Gorgas superintendent of finance. The meassuperintendent of mance. The méas-ure not only provides for the fees to be charged for conducting every line of business in the city and for the method of levying and collecting of assessments, but for the appointment of the new municipal office of city license tax officer. The official's salary is fixed by the ordinance at $1,000 and he-is required to file a bond for the same amount. Old I aw Obsolete Not since 1892 has the city adopted a license ordinance and the develop-ment of new lines of industrial and commercial activities has made this measure more or less obsolete. Many changes in the fee schedule will be necessary before the measure is finally adopted. The Chamber of Commerce has asked for the privilege of a hearing on the ordinance and this will likely be granted within the next few weeks. Representatives of certain lines of business affected will also ask to be heard. The conference Friday after-noon will be held at 3 o'clock and City Clerk Miller was authorized to-day to call the commissioners to-gether. Announcement was made that the meeting will be behind closed doors. In addition to considering the new ure not only provides for the fees to

The meeting last nigh was one of similar ones being held among the Lutherans of city and town of the East Penn-sylvania Synod. A minister and lay speaker from some other town ad-dresses these meetings. Last night the Rev. Martin L. Clare, of Spring Grove, and P. A. Elsesser, a prominent busi-nessman of Yoork, Pa., talked before the meeting in Zion Church. As "The Seventy" Went The plan is to have the missionary society of each Lutheran church se-lect a group of from twenty to thirty canvassers, depending upon the size of the membership. On March 8 these men will go, two by two, to each home connected with the church, and will talk with the many families about the church work. Every Lutheran in this district will receive a letter during the week tell-ing of the intended visit of the lay visitors. Each member of the church will be asked to be ready to receive the visitors. Next Friday night an-other union meeting of the laymen and ministers will be held in Zion Lutheran Church for the fand discus-sion of plans for the day. This is the first. time in the history

A number of churches have carried on every-mem-ber canvasses, but never has the sys-tem been extended to every church.

Choruses From Faust

Sung by Orpheus Club

The Orphelus Club, under the direc-tion of Frederic C. Martin, last night gave their annual concert for the em-ployes of the Mount Pleasant Press. The features of the program were the numbers from "The Damnation of Faust," by Berlioz. The club in these numbers was assited by rs. Bumbaugh as Margaret, George Sutton as Me-phisto, and Ferd Lutz as Brander. The club sang five of the choruses from the opera in a highly pleasing style, showing to excellent advantage the work that has been done during this season. The "Romance of Margaret," by Mrs. Bumbaugh, and the "Ro-mance of Mephisto, by George Sutton, weer done in an artistic manner. Newel Albright accompanist of the club, played two studies from "Opus 25" by Chopin and two concert pleces by Poldini in his usual masterful style. Mrs. Bumbaugh sang the Cadman ver-sion of "The Land of the Sky Blue Water."
