fund assets for the forty-eight States $342,251,000. Various practices are found in different States with reference to the assumption of debt by the States, and some difficulty arises when attempts are made to compare the debt of the different States. The only two States which call for special mention in this connection are Arizona and Massachusetts. In Arizona the State has assumed responsibility for a very large amount of county and municipal debt, and has issued State obligations to cover the same, holding the counties and municipalities responsible in turn. It might be noted, however, that the Arizona debt even under these circumstances, amounts to only eight per cent of the total for the United States. Massachusetts, on the other hand, has assumed liability for debts of metropolitan districts which in most States would probably be classified as local county or municipal debt.

The total debt (less sinking fund assets) for Massachusetts represents 23.2 per cent of the total for all States in the United States. Iowa, Wyoming and Oregon each has less than one-tenth of 1 per cent of the debt of all States, while in the case of Pennsylvania the sinking fund assets exceed the total debt.

A study of the per capita debt shows that in Iowa the debt (less sinking fund assets) amounts to only 3 cents per capita, and in Wyoming 4 cents per capita. In Arkansas, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Jersey, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Texas, West Virginia and Wyoming the per capita debt (less sinking fund assets) is less than $1.

Debt Jumps $107,342,000 According to the report of ten years ago, the indebtedness (less sinking fund assets) for the forty-eight States amounted to $234,909,000, as compared with $342,251,000 shown in the report now being prepared. This is an increase of 46 per cent, or $107,342,000 or nearly 50 per cent, in contrast with an increase of slightly more than 20 per cent in the population of the country.

Ten years before that, in 1890, the indebtedness (less sinking fund assets) for the States and Territories of the United States amounted to $211,210,000. In 1890 the State of Michigan had $274,746,000. Thus between 1880 and 1892 the per capita indebtedness (less sinking fund assets) for the forty-eight States combined gradually decreased, while during the last ten years there has been a very noticeable increase.

In 1880 the per capita indebtedness (less sinking fund assets) amounted to $3.38; in 1890 it had been reduced to $2.37, due to the increase in population and decrease in debt; in 1902 it amounted to $2.99, due to the rapid increase in population and very slight increase in debt; in 1912 the per capita debt had again increased to $3.52, the increase being due to a very rapid increase in debt in contrast with a much slower increase in population.

THROUGH THE LAND OF RIDDLES

beautiful city in the world and its cosmopolitan atmosphere, its character, its boulevard and people are known the world over. The claim is made that Paris is France and that France is Paris, but while this may all be true to the average tourist who imagines that having seen Paris he knows France, some of the most remarkable scenery is to be found outside in the country sections and this has been covered in a manner that will bring the attention of those who like to see the out of the way places.

Scenes in France The City of Nice, the gem of the Riviera, with its carnivals and celebrations, the most noted winter resort in the world, is well worth a visit and the pictures that were obtained here form an interesting study. Monte Carlo, where fortunes are made and hearts are broken in an effort to "bust the bank"; the cities of Rouen, Tours, Loches an old-fashioned city with its cliff dwellings; Orleans, the city famous for the perfumery that is made here; Pau, with the kings of the air in their flights; Marseilles, where the famous Cathedral of Notre Dame is located--these are but a few of the incidents that go to make the trip through France one of unusual interest.

When one mentions a bull fight, it naturally brings thoughts of Spain and the fact is that the only place where there are bull fights held in France, but the character of the French bull fight is somewhat different than the other and in the motion picture will be shown in the "Practical" method of fighting the animals and this is only one of the unusual features that have been obtained for this series. The people of France are interesting and the peasants, the gypsies, and the various characters that are to be found in this Republic form a comparison that is unique when we see the people of Paris, the shops, the buildings and the monuments that go to make Paris the city that it is to-day. The fountains at Versailles, acknowledged to be the most beautiful in the world, are shown in all their grandeur, an automobile trip in and around Paris, "the native city that it is to-day." The bloodless bull fight, the old tinker, are all included and no details are missing that will leave any regrets with those who take the journey through France to-morrow night.

A coupon from the Telegraph and 10 cents is all that is necessary for admission. Admission without the coupon is 25 cents. Doors open at 7:30 o'clock, performance begins at 8:15 sharp. A few reserved seats may be had for 10 cents extra; but the greatest part of the hall is not reserved and seats are included in the price of admission.

PRIZE WINNERS IN WORD CONTEST Announcement has been made of the prize winners in the contest conducted by the Great Eastern Publishing Company, whose advertisements appeared recently in this paper. The contest consisted of making as many words as possible out of the letters contained in the name of the company's real estate development, and replies were received from Harrisburg and the many suburbs around. The prize winners were: First, free lot, John A. Fackler, Lingelstown, Pa., 2,264 words; second, credit certificate and week's vacation, Mrs. J. Cunningham, 1516 Walnut street, Harrisburg, 1,128 words; third, one credit certificate each to G. P. Sheller, 523 South Tenth street, Harrisburg, 78 words; J. Earl Keim, Post Office, Steelton, 797 words; J. A. Mullenwey, M. D., Harrisburg, 740 words; C. M. Farley, Newberrytown, 785 words; and Mrs. Alice Messersmith, Steelton, 760 words. Awards were also made to Mrs. M. Grandon, Carlisle; L. J. Kugh, Dillaburg; A. B. Hensel, Steelton; Mrs. A. C. Taylor, Esther, W. Wilson and G. H. Alexander, of Harrisburg.

The local representative of the company under the contest is the contest was held, will personally deliver awards to the winners.

WHILE NORTH SHIVERS THOUSANDS BASK

son I have gathered during the few days I have been here and it seems to be the impression of all northern visitors. Palm Beach is attractive as a resort and will always continue to be the spectacular show place of the coast, but for substantial achievement and permanent growth this city impresses me as the one that is certain to stand out as the one having a great future. It requires only ordinary vision to see a city of many thousands within the present decade. About 80 per cent of the population represents northern activity and ginger. With the enormous grapefruit groves, the fruit farms and the rapid development of agricultural interests, added to the fisheries and the fact that this is certain to be one of the important ports and the further fact that it is now the outlet of a branch of the drainage canal system, it is not difficult to understand the phenomenal growth and development. Miami was scarcely more than a village ten years ago; to-day it is a bustling, beautiful city of approximately 20,000, and I am told the census jumped almost six thousand in a single year. Much of this unusual growth has come from the opening up of the fruit country and increase of activities along the general lines of development. The Flagler railway system has made Miami the metropolis of the lower peninsula.

There is also a significant development along political lines, one second to the material prosperity. The county of which Miami is the seat of government closed down on the liquor traffic recently, and it is said there is a State-wide sentiment developing on this proposition along moral and economic lines.

Ex-Senator William Flinn, of Pittsburgh, was here yesterday and attended a meeting of the Bull Moose committee. He was so much impressed with Miami that he remained until to-day, spending most of the time riding about the city and its suburban districts. He also believes that there is a great future in what he sees in Miami and that the State of Florida agrees that Miami is the natural outlet for Southern Florida.

Here the visitor finds a never-ending interest in the wonderful drainage work being done in the Everglades. Since our boyhood days we have been taught that the Everglades was a jungle swamp, filled with crocodiles, big serpents and bad Indians, but to-day it is a great fruit and irrigated acreage has changed all this and there are now thousands of acres of rich soil under cultivation where as many as four crops are gathered in a single year.

It is not difficult to understand why Flaggler pushed forward his great railroad system in view of what has transpired and is transpiring all over the southern part of Florida. It is just on the edge of its development. Land in the Everglades which sold ten years ago for two dollars an acre is now selling at an average of $40, and in some cases from $150 to $200 an acre. Meanwhile tracts are being taken up by farmers and fruit growers who are utilizing what has been a vast waste in producing enormous crops of the fruits which are sent all over the world in untold quantity.

Our party traveled all of the way to Key West in order to see the wonderful viaduct system over the Keys, and even Key West, isolated as it was for many years, is now looking forward to its permanent development as a great seaport by reason of the opening of the Panama Canal. Millions of dollars are being expended there in dock construction. The opening up opportunities such as have not been known since the early western homestead days and the boys of the present generation are going to see in this peninsula such growth as will be comparable only to the opening of the prairies of the great West.

Fine State highways, constructed of the coral rock which sticks its nose through the sand everywhere, are helping to bring Florida into the world and the lesson must be obvious for the Pennsylvanians who are coming this way in increasing numbers every year.

Farms of every kind, flocks of every sort, fruits in endless variety, fish inexhaustible, climate unsurpassed, a bright future--what more?

BRUMBAUGH BOOM IS GROWING RAPIDLY

will make him an exceedingly strong candidate if he decides to run. The Democratic battle is more bitter than a week ago. McCormick is visiting various parts of the State and making speeches. Ryan is remaining in Philadelphia and threatening to go out and orate.

The declaration of Gifford Pinchot in his announcement against fusion with the Republicans on congress or legislative nominations has crippled the Washington party. With dwindling strength and dissatisfaction over the slating of the Lewis-Smith-Levis ticket the Progressives are in an unhappy state. Pinchot's announcement contains just what he has been saying in speeches since he began to study the State. The opposition to Levis is threatening to set up candidates anyway and especially in the western end of the State where the dissatisfaction is strong.

Senatorial Rows Senator Penrose is expected to make announcement of his candidacy within a few days and papers nominating him for the primaries will be put into circulation at once. The senator will start more speaking-making the latter part of this week. J. Benjamin Dimmick kept his candidacy before the eyes of the people last night by a plea to all Republicans to register.

Gifford Pinchot, who has been studying Pennsylvania topography by touring the State, went to Milford a day or so ago and issued therefrom a stirring announcement. He says he hopes to make Pennsylvania a better place to live in and will destroy all machines and boss ruling. Mr. Pinchot was slated for the nomination by a select band of Washington party members by William Flinn and others at a secret conference in this city.

Congressman Palmer is proclaiming his candidacy everywhere and listening for confirmation of reports that Judge Garman may enter the race against him. Palmer does not want judgment.

A CHILD'S LAXATIVE IS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

Made from fruit -- Can't harm tender stomach, liver and bowels.

If your little one's tongue is coated, it is a sure sign the stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When your child is cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, system full of cold, throat sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs." and in a few hours all the clogged-up constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies. Children of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow.
