

DR. HARTMAN TO BE BURIED WEDNESDAY

One of City's Best Known Physicians Dies Following Stroke at State Dispensary

DR. PAUL A. HARTMAN Dr. Paul A. Hartman, 63 years old, died yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at his home, 514 North Third street.

Dr. Hartman was one of the best known physicians in the State, being a recognized authority on smallpox and tuberculosis.

He was stricken while at work Saturday afternoon in the State tuberculosis dispensary in North Second street near Walnut. This was the second attack Dr. Hartman suffered during the last two years. Death was due to oedema of the brain.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon. The body will lie in state at the Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, State street near Third, from 12.30 to 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when services will be conducted by the Rev. John D. Fox, D. D., pastor of Grace church. Burial will be made in the Harrisburg Cemetery.

Six members of the State dispensary staff will act as pallbearers. They will be: Dr. C. R. Phillips, Dr. H. R. Douglas, Dr. H. H. Farnsler, Dr. W. J. MacMullin, Dr. C. J. B. Flowers, Dr. C. E. R. Kerns and Dr. A. L. Shearer. Surviving Dr. Hartman are Mrs. Hartman, and a sister, Mrs. S. A. Baer, of Frostburg, Md.

Active in Public Life Dr. Paul A. Hartman was active in public life having been a member of Common Council and of the school board. He was born at Lebanon, December 24, 1850, being the son of the late John Joseph and Wilhelmina Steever Hartman, who moved from Lycoming county to Harrisburg, in 1864.

Dr. Hartman was educated in the public schools, at the State Normal school, Kutztown, Berks county, and at Dickinson College, Carlisle. He studied medicine in the office of the late Dr. Robert F. Seiler and later attended the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, receiving his diploma in 1874. Dr. Hartman started practice in Harrisburg during the same year. He was a member of the State Medical Society, Dauphin County Medical Society, of which he was president and secretary, and of the Harrisburg Academy of Medicine, of which he was president one year. Dr. Hartman was sent as a delegate to the meeting of the American Medical Association on two occasions.

Following the death of the late Dr. W. H. Egle, Dr. Hartman was made prison physician. He served in that capacity until six years ago. He has been a medical inspector for the State Health Department for many years and was recognized by Dr. Samuel G. Dixon as a capable man, especially in the work against the white plague. As a member of the city health board at the time the Sanitary Hospital was erected, Dr. Hartman gave valuable suggestion, and for a number of years was special physician for the city in smallpox cases.

Dr. Hartman was a member of the staff of the Harrisburg Hospital, the Harrisburg Republican Club and the Social Club, serving the latter as president several terms. As a hunter and angler Dr. Hartman also gained much prominence making frequent trips to Canada and Maine on his vacation trips.
