United States Company Is Running
Business at a Loss; Nothing Known Here

Representatives of the United States Express Company in Harrisburg have received no intimation from the general offices in New York city that the company is considering liquidation proceedings, because of decreased business, due to the introduction of the parcel post system.

Business in Harrisburg has fallen off to such an extent that a curtailment in expenses was ordered sometime ago. A dispatch from New York says:

"Facing large losses, in common with all express companies, as the result of the parcel post system, the company, rather than maintain ruinous competition, is ready to distribut its assets among stockholders.

"It is understood that the Harriman estate and several other large shareholders are in accord with the company, rather than maintain ruinous competition, is ready to distribut its assets among stockholders.

Asked whether there still was a possibility for him to consider a Federal League offer, Mathewson replied:

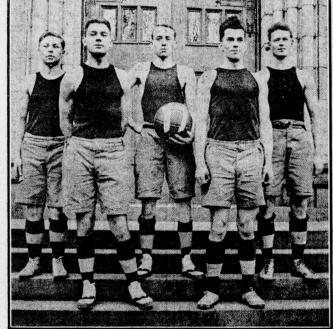

"No, none. I have signed with the Giants. Furthermore, the announcement of the Federal League that they will not try to get players who already have signed closes the matter."

President Hempstead, of the Giants, declined to make public the terms of the contract. "However," he said, "the terms were perfectly agreeable to Mathewson."

COLONIAL DAYS AT ORPHEUM THIS WEEK

Leona Stevens, a pretty and dainty bit of feminity in a singing and dancing act, and the B. A. Rolfe production, "Coloniar Days," are two really praisewithy acts on the week's Orpheum Most elaborate, perhaps, of any of many musical acts which have been at the Locust Street Vaudeville House this year, is the Rolfe production. Of exquisite taste and beauty are the stage settings, and the members of the cast are musicians of worth. The work of Willam A. Galpen, the baritone, was especially good, as was that of Alma Moore, the soprano. A Colonial porch and garden gave a touch of the days of '76 to the production, as did the costuming.

Miss Leona Stevens, who is as lovely as she is vivacious, did a bit of character work, alded with moving pictures between stunts, showing her making her change of costume in her dressing room that made her act a bit out of the ordinary. As a "Ragtime Sherlock Holmes," in which the comedienne wears a costume that is a delightful take-off on the great fictionary detective, Miss Stevens was particularly delightful.

For the booking of the remainder of the bill the Orpheum management is "more to be pitted than censured." Roger Imhof, in a miltary travesty, made the gallery laugh with his horseplay, Daniel Roach and James McCurdy, In an alleged humorous dialogue, were not apt to split any sides; the Apdale Zoological Circus with trained bears, dogs, and monkeys was as good as any $603.57; expenditures $595.85. The animal act that has been in season.

Love and Wilbur, a strong man and an athletic girls, are above adverse criticism in a trapeze act. One of the unpleasant features of last night's show was the temperature of the theater, as the management evidently had difficulty in heating the house because of the high winds.
