PSST! PSST! AND THE FLAGMAN IS LOST

Reminiscent Baggage Man Carefully Pulled the Rope to Go Ahead a Bit Too Soon

When the Mifflin local pulled out of Union Station last night it was twenty minutes late. In the front seat of the smoker the baggage man, a tall, gaunt, good-natured fellow, had settled down comfortably.

"Yes, you know, I wouldn't want to be a flagman or conductor," he was saying. "Could be if I wanted to, but their work is too hard. You know, I've caw-punched down in Texas, chased insurgents in the Philippines, gambled, horse-raced, played baseball and—"

"Two off at Lucknow" from the uniformed individual labeled "conductor." Without interrupting his story he signaled the engineer to stop.

"You know, doctor, we railroaders have it tough. Why, this last blizzard was nothing beside the one in '89," he rambled, as, without waiting for the signal from the flagman, who had stepped to the platform to lower the station "flag," he pulled the air cord twice for the engineer to go ahead.

At Marysville the reminiscences inclined the baggage man was awakened with this unkind jolt from the conductor: "Go back to flag, Harry. You left Charley behind at Lucknow."

The members of the crew are: Conductor, H. A. Gable; baggage man, H. B. Charles; flagman, C. W. Springer. Train Held Up an Hour.—Train No. 12 of the Philadelphia and Reading, due here at 5:10 p. m., was held up near White Hill last evening when a flue in the engine refused to work.

ACCIDENTS MUST BE REPORTED

Commissioner of Labor and Industry John Price Jackson Issues Warning to State

DR. STAHLEY IS HONORED

Again Elected a Vice-President of the State Veterinary Medical Society

Forty-one fatal accidents and 4,153 which are classed as serious were reported to the department of labor and industry during the month of February, this being the first month in which the reports under the new system have been received in sufficient number to enable a tabulation to be made.

Commissioner John Price Jackson, who is organizing the report service, says that this number represents but a fraction of the total accidents occurring in Pennsylvania inasmuch as employers have not yet fully realized that they are required to make reports under the acts creating the department.

Commissioner Jackson says that active measures will be taken during the year to require reports of all serious accidents to be made by that persons or firms failing to comply will be vigorously prosecuted.

"This is not intended as a hardship and all that is intended is a reasonable compliance with the law, which is of the utmost value to the people of the State," said he to-day.

"By having a full record of all accidents occurring, with specifications of their causes, the department will be able to make reports will operation with employer which will reduce the sum total probably more than fifty per cent. It can be readily conceived that such a reduction will not only avoid enormous suffering to those whose lives are given to accidents and their families, but will be an economic saving running into large denominations for the people of the State as a whole."

Field men and observers of the State Water Supply Commission have been directed to report immediately breaking of ice and relief of streams as a result of the thaw and the organized State flood warning service may be given a practical test.

STEELTON MIDDLETOWN & HIGHSPIRE SQUIRE USES FAMILY BIBLE FOR A DESK

Swatara Will Ask State Aid For Roads

Takes Information Against Deserting Husband in Room of Stricken Woman

For a short while yesterday afternoon Squire T. V. Gardner's court was transferred from the room in the Steelton Trust Building to a dingy little upper room in the home of Thomas Porter, 320 Franklin street.

Here by the bedside of Mrs. Martha Brown, who lay near death from an lingering illness, the Squire took information that later caused the arrest of her husband, F. T. Brown on charges of desertion and non-support.

With the big family Bible for a desk, and leaning close over the bed of the dying woman to catch her feeble whisperings, the Squire slowly wrote the heartrending story of a marriage gone wrong.

She paused frequently to gasp for breath as she told her husband lived with her happily for a few years after their marriage, then tired of her and neglected her. First, he came home late, and finally, on July 29, 1912, he came home not at all.

This was shortly after Mrs. Brown had been discharged from the Harrisburg Hospital as cured from a serious illness. Later, from overwork, she says, she again became taken care of by a nurse to plead with her husband to return.

Brown came back; but he didn't stay, said the woman. As he left her the sick time, the woman says, she begged him at least to give her money to enable her to secure proper medical attention.

He is alleged to have replied, "All I can give you is a widow's mite. Here, take this cent." Brown was arrested by Detective Gore to-day and will be arraigned before Squire Gardner this evening. Mrs. Brown has been taken again to the Harrisburg Hospital.

Without An Operation

Wonderful Healing of Rupture How a New Jersey Man Got Rid of a Severe, Obstinate, Right Inguinal Hernia Without the Slightest Trouble.

Below is a picture of Eugene M. Pullen, a well-known carpenter of Manassquan, New Jersey. If you could see him at his work, particularly when he handles heavy timber, jumps and climbs around like a youth, you would scarcely imagine that he had formerly been afflicted with a rupture.

Ruptured in Right Side. At an early age, Eugene Pullen was an express driver. His heaped railroad baggage. One day after delivering a heavy trunk on an upper floor he felt a pain in the right groin. The suffering increased and it was not long before the young man noticed the swelling.

The doctor told young Pullen that he was ruptured and that he must either wear a truss throughout life or submit to a drastic operation. All surgeons know that hernia operations, with anaesthetics, etc., are dangerous; they may end fatally. Moreover, it is a well established fact that many rupture operations are not successful; the bowel soon breaks through the sewed-up opening and protrudes worse than ever.

Afraid of Operation. Like most others, Mr. Pullen declined to take the risk of an operation; the expense and loss of time had to be considered, too. Hoping he might get a little better encouragement, he went to another physician who, to his sorrow, gave him even less hope. It was pointed out to the young man that unless the rupture were perfectly held all the time or the surgeon's knife successfully used, he might expect an increase or doubling in the rupture with further complications, or the dreaded strangulated hernia which kills so many ruptured people.

Victim of Trusses. The victim bought a truss, a hard, spring-like affair, the best he could get. It tortured him. He tried another—still no relief. He was compelled to give up his express business. The hard tasks of ordinary men were forbidden him. He became an insurance agent, in which position he did not need to do bodily work.

For six years Mr. Pullen dragged around, using various trusses, hard, elastic, etc., with never any contentment. On day his mother told him something she had just found out. It was a simple and easy thing for him to do. He lost no time.

Discarded His Truss. Relief came at once; he almost forgot that he had any rupture. Forward came a cure—a complete healing—and, although years have passed and Mr. Pullen is an energetic carpenter, working on buildings, climbing over roofs, lifting lumber and such like, he is absolutely free from the old hernia. He knows he is completely, lastingly cured. There was no operation, no loss of time, no trouble—comfort and contentment from the very outset. He is a strong, cheerful-minded man.

Valuable Information Free. The valuable information which Mrs. Pullen read in a newspaper many years ago and gave to her son, together with further important facts, will be sent free to any reader of this who writes to Eugene M. Pullen, 1425 Marcellus avenue, Manassquan, N. J., enclosing a stamp for reply. Mention the kind of rupture you have, whether on right or left side and what you have already done in your effort to cure it. A legion of cases of all kinds of rupture in men and women, including inguinal (groin), femoral, naval, scrotal, etc., have been reported completely healed. Age seems to make no difference.—Advertisement.
