MONDAY EVENING, MARCH 9

THE CITY MOURNS TO-DAY

TWO of the most prominent and useful citizens of Harrisburg were removed from their spheres of activity by death to-day. Both had contributed much to the betterment of this community and the city has sustained a great loss that must be felt more and more as the work of these men is better understood and appreciated.

John Y. Boyd and Professor L. S. Shimmell were typical of the finest citizenship of Harrisburg. They had given to the community that which was best in them and civic, religious and educational circles will feel the departure of these excellent citizens in many ways.

They were men of the highest Christian character whose ideals found expression in the support of men and measures in the up-building of the substantial and esthetic interests of the city.

Mr. Boyd was greatly interested in civic affairs, and was one of the earnest group which assumed leadership in the great improvement campaign in 1901. He was also foremost in the erection of the present Y. M. C. A. building and was also active in the work of the Y. W. C. A., having presided at the noonday luncheons which were a feature of the campaign that resulted in providing funds for the new building.

He was also general superintendent of one of the larger Sunday schools of the city and was a ruling elder in one of the churches. His most important public service was as a member of the first State Railroad Commission. He likewise had demonstrated his interest in that which is best for the community in serving as a road supervisor in one of the contiguous townships.

Mr. Boyd was sympathetic and cordial in his associations in life and he gave freely and generously of his time and means to the advancement of the public welfare. Only those who were close to him can appreciate best the nobility of his character and the breadth and depth of his human sympathies. The loss of such a man is so overwhelming as to make difficult a proper tribute to his worth and usefulness as a citizen. He achieved much in a quiet and unostentatious way which will constitute the best record of his life.

Professor Shimmell was most conspicuous in his career as an educator. He was essentially a scholar and as a member of the faculty of the Central High school and later as a city supervisor of the schools he gave to Harrisburg the fruits of his more mature experience and learning. Throughout the city to-day there is deep sorrow, not only among the staff of teachers, but also among the thousands of girls and boys who learned to love and appreciate the modest, patient and devoted exponent of that which is best in our public school system. He was known far and wide as a broad-minded educator whose writings and teachings made his name a household word far beyond the limits of the city in which he did his splendid work.

Professor Shimmell was an authority in history and the files of the Telegraph contain many important articles on historical subjects which will prove to be of much value in the years to come. A kindly, unobtrusive and excellent gentleman has passed out, and like Mr. Boyd, that which he was doing in a quiet way will be best understood when there shall be opportunity to study the career that has now been closed.

When any community loses two such men in the same hour it is stricken indeed, but such lives do not end with the passing; they live on and the indelible impress of their service will remain throughout the years.

DON'T GET EXCITED

NEWS dispatches tell us that Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., has set a style for simplicity at Palm Beach by appearing in a $10 suit which she selected in preference to more elaborate garments submitted for her approval. After returning the costly clothing she walked into a small shop and bought a black dress of conventional cut. With the exception of a collar of green and white, it was severely plain in comparison with the very elaborate suits being worn this season.

Possibly Mrs. Vanderbilt felt as pleasurable a thrill in her $10 dress as some of her $10 sisters would in one of Mrs. Vanderbilt's gorgeous creations. Let us not believe that democracy has been born suddenly full grown in our millionaire set. The lady was enjoying a new sensation; that was all.

GOOD ADVICE

THE Telegraph has had always a strong admiration for the careful, conservative policies of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, unquestionably one of the most ably managed labor unions in the world. The following, from a recent speech of Thomas Fitch, vice-president of that brotherhood, but adds to that good opinion:

If you don't like the law, then use your votes to change it. But while it is a law, drop the club and let it alone. The dynamite bomb and the law. If there is a worker who has what you consider to be bad taste and the poor judgment not to belong to a union, you are not obliged to associate with him or greet him with friendliness when you meet. If you are obliged not to assault or molest him. He may be, in your opinion, a scab, but he has a legal right to be a scab if he chooses. He has a legal right to work for whomsoever he pleases, and for whatever number of hours in each day he pleases. Persuade him to stand by his fellow-workman if you can. That is your right. But keep your hands off him. You may be sure that if you attempt violence there will step to the front a Deputy United States Marshal who will say to you with a voice of 75,000, 000 of people, and with the bayonets of an army behind him, "Let that man pass to his labor."

I say to you, gentlemen, and I say it in all seriousness, that if this government is to endure, this thing must stop, for no government can permanently endure which long permits bands of insurrectionists to override the constitutional rights of its citizens, as this body of vandals has been doing.

Spoken like an American citizen and a far-sighted patriot. Violence and mob-rule may be in entire accord with such organizations as the I. W. W., but they have no part in any trade union that has for its purpose the true interests of its fellows and the advancement of civilization.

"Starting to-day the mines of the Lehigh Coal Company will work full time."—News item. Is it possible those pesky coal operators have inside information from the weather bureau?

CHINA AND OPIUM

WE should not judge too harshly of the new Republican form of government in China because of a recent press dispatch setting forth details of the execution of several violators of the new opium regulation. Nobody unacquainted with present day conditions in that country and the difficulty of blotting out the opium curse is in position to pass upon the manner of punishing those who refuse to be bound by the mandates of President Yuan and the national congress in their efforts to annihilate the drug scourge of the nation.

Yuan Shih-kai is seriously determined opium smoking shall cease to be in China. Elaborate steps have been taken to continue the "empire days" propaganda against opium, to prohibit and suppress opium-growing and the use of the drug. In order to make it perfectly clear that he is in earnest, Yuan Shih-kai decreed that deliberate violation of the anti-opium laws should be punished by the extreme capital penalty.

China, unfortunately, in earlier times was afflicted by too great familiarity with the public executioner. A certain not very considerable, but still hurtful, proportion of the Chinese populace has been taught through generations to regard all punishments, short of death, much as many of our own gunmen in the big cities regard all but the electric chair or hanging, with the sangfroid of ignorance or depravity.

Yuan Shih-kai and his representative council in Peking realize this. Without exception every political and social entity in China recognizes the opium evil and lauds President Yuan for his vigor in coping with it. And they laud him the more because he lives up to the letter of his decrees.

From quite reliable sources, it seems that several executions have taken place in several widely distant parts of China—about four or five, to be precise. Will it not be worth while, if through the decapitation of four or five incorrigibles, President Yuan Shih-kai can save China's 400,000, 000 men, women and children from the awful curse of the opium habit; and, like another Moses, lead his people out of the worst possible sort of slavery?

Now that he has consulted a Philadelphia eye specialist, possibly President Wilson will be able to see a way out of the Mexican quandary.

HOUSING OUR GUESTS

THOSE in charge of the State firemen's convention here next fall do well to lay their plans now for the accommodation of visitors who are expected by the thousand to attend the great gathering.

On ordinary occasions, with no big meetings in town, it is not uncommon to have all the hotels filled by 8.30 in the evening. We must have room for the many who will be with us in October. There is only one way to make sure of this. Owners of private residences must be prepared to "throw open" their homes to the strangers.

In no other way can we hope to properly house the city's guests on that occasion.

We would like to know why that correspondent felt called upon to announce a revolution in Brazil and the fact that Colonel Roosevelt is having an enjoyable experience both under the same date line.

Popular dances have taken the National Capital by storm, says a society item in a Washington newspaper. The Wilson administration doubtless approves the "hesitation" waltz.

EVENING CHAT

One of these days, when Uncle Sam commences to get rid of lost motion in the postal service, the wisdom of the people who are arranging for a larger government building in this city will be apparent. The plan to spend considerable money in making the addition to the big white federal building two stories higher, the building planned by the architects of the department is by no means caused by desire to have a large structure or to make the district loom up among those which have received appropriations, but is in fact based on a careful estimate of what is coming in the Harrisburg Post Office. The average man who hears the huge building thrown in and out of the temporary building at Third and Locust streets probably never thinks that this office is the distributing point of office supplies for smaller towns and that it is the place where the supplies for many offices are kept. As a matter of fact, this is the post office handles the mail for thirty-five out of the hundred post offices in the district. The mail is made up for them just like it is made up for the Hill or MacLay stations and as it will be made up for a number of smaller towns and that it is the place where the supplies for many offices are kept.
