ARE THREATENED BY FIFTY INDICTMENTS

President and Vice-President of Big Store's Company Accused

FRAUD IS THE CHARGE
Punishable by Five Years in Prison and Fine if Convicted

HENRY SIEGEL

By Associated Press
New York, March 12.—What the district attorney's office described as "material for at least fifty indictments" alleging fraud against Henry Siegel and Frank E. Vogel, president and vice-president respectively, of the Siegel stores corporation, who were arrested yesterday on three indictments and are now at liberty under $5,000 bail each, was placed in the hands of the grand jury.

Assistant District Attorney Arthur C. Train said that as many indictments as the ends of justice seemed to require would be found against the merchant-bankers.

Charge Violations
The indictments already found charge violations of the banking laws and grand larceny in making false statements to obtain credit. The grand jury indictment is based only on the affairs of the Fourteenth street store of this city and the Henry Siegel & Co. private bank, conducted in connection with it.

Prison Term Threatens
Conviction on the indictment charging violation of the banking laws in that Siegel and Vogel accepted deposits when they knew the bank to be insolvent is punishable with a term of from one to five years' imprisonment and a fine of $5,000. For the grand larceny charge the men may be sentenced to ten years in prison and fined $10,000.

District Attorney Whitman said statements of two secretaries employed by Siegel were the basis of the grand larceny indictment. These secretaries testified that false statements were prepared for merchants and bankers; that liabilities were turned into assets and that approximately $2,500,000 of money deposited in the Siegel private bank was placed into the retail business while it was losing money.

"HIGH JINKS" WHEN

ONE BOX IS CEMENTED UP
Amateur Blacksmith Manufactures Key and Turns on Supply Again

By Staff Correspondent
Camp Hill, Pa., March 12.—Employees of the Riverton Consolidated Water Company, under the direction of Superintendent Charles Saunders, this morning began carrying out their threat to turn off the water supply of residences here whose owners refuse to pay the increased water rates. When the men, six in number, reached Camp Hill this morning they were warned by Squire Bowman that any attempt to dig up the streets would be met with arrests. Pick and shovels were not used this morning nor early this afternoon but a key, such as is used to turn off water at the water valve boxes in front of houses, played a prominent part.

Two women defied the company employees and stood over the boxes refusing to move until after the men had gone away. One Mrs. W. G. Vandergrift, who lives in Oyster Point avenue, stood over the tap for a full half hour. The men told her they wanted to turn off the water and she ordered them away. They did not go and she then took up her position on the water box. The men, tired of wasting time, departed. The other woman, Mrs. Michael Shipp, of Main street, was equally determined not to allow the water to be turned off. She also stood on the box and threatened to dig up the street did not frighten her.

The next place visited was the home of William Stauffer, of Cumberland street. Mr. Stauffer had placed cement over the top of the water valve box in front of his home. The men were about to crack the covering when threats of arrest made by Mr. Stauffer made them tarry in their work and they went away without disturbing him.

Off Again, On Again
At the home of M. H. Gleim, in Bowman street, near the tollgate, the men succeeded in getting the water turned off but this afternoon the water in both properties was again running. After the men turned the water off, Mr. Gleim had a man to turn it on again and then pour cement over the top. If the company

PINE ST. CHURCH SORROWS
People Helped by His Many Benefactions Gather to Pay Last Tribute

The body of John Y. Boyd, for years a prominent figure in the life of Harrisburg, was laid to rest in the old Harrisburg Cemetery this afternoon after services attended by people from every walk of life in the city. Men in high State offices, men widely known in business, men from railroad lines and shops and people who have been helped by Mr. Boyd's benefactions gathered to pay a last tribute.

The services were held early this afternoon at the city residence of Mr. Boyd, 124 Pine street, and before the hour many called at the home, among them representatives of various boards with which Mr. Boyd was connected, and friends from other towns. Numerous floral tributes had been sent.

The services followed the time-honored form of the Presbyterian Church—prayers, the Scripture and hymns. The services at the house were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Lewis S. Mudge, the Rev. Dr. J. Ritchie Smith, the Rev. H. B. King and the Rev. John M. Warden. At the grave the service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Marcus A. Brownson, of Philadelphia, a close personal friend of Mr. Boyd's. During the services the quar-

Petition of Property Owners From Third to Second Presented to Bowman

Following the action of Locust street property owners in petitioning Commissioner of Public Safety Harry F. Bowman, several weeks ago, to extend the standard cluster light system in Locust street from Second to Third streets, a big delegation from the West End Improvement Association to-day asked the commissioner to place standard clusters in some of the principal streets of the West End.

Ever since the five-globe clusters superseded the old overhead arc lights in the Locust street district, the businessmen in the upper and Hill sections have been eager for a similar kind of street illumination, as provided for by the Harrisburg Light and Power Company.

THIS CITY AMONG LEADERS
Harrisburg Doing Everything Possible to Aid Advancement of Brighter Scholars

[This is the first of two articles dealing with the "special schools" established for the purpose of giving very bright pupils opportunity to complete the public school course in less than the regularly allotted period.]
By Mrs. Anna H. Wood
Superintendent F. E. Downes, of the city schools, found upon investigation that in five cities of the United States there were successfully operated "special schools" for exceptionally gifted children. Through his efforts Harrisburg followed in line. To-day we have two schools in widely separated sections of the city, each under an expert teacher, where ambitious children cover in one year the work usually accomplished in two. The eighth and ninth grades thus become the eighth grade, but from it pupils pass on to the high school. The work of the teachers is much less irksome than in the case of pupils of both bright and slow children. It is also more fair and just to those pupils whose minds are unusually receptive, for who would think it fair to join a weak and a strong horse to make a perfect team?

Widow, Reconciled to Millionaire, Barred From Bier

New York, March 12.—Mrs. Bertha Nolin Ford, divorced two years ago from her millionaire husband, J. Howard Ford, and reconciled to him three days before he died, is said to have consulted with her attorneys to ascertain whether she could recover damages from J. B. Ford, brother of her husband, for refusing to permit her to view the body of her dead spouse. Mrs. Ford declared that she and her husband had agreed their misunderstanding had been the result of a terrible mistake and that she had dined with him last Friday at the Waldorf Astoria. Mrs. Ford before her marriage in 1906 was Miss Bertha Nolin, of Berlin. She was prominent in New York society for several years. In the winter of 1911 Mrs. Ford sailed to visit her parents in Germany. During her absence her husband found letters from Mrs. Ford and it was alleged, the baron, and their evidence was presented at the divorce suit in Goshen, N. Y., in December, 1912. Mr. Ford was 60 years old. His fortune is estimated at $6,000,000.
