Testimony That Cannot Be Doubted

I wish to testify to the good that your Swamp-Root did me. I was bothered with Kidney trouble and lame back for some three years; had taken medicine from several doctors but without effect. I finally tried Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and after taking three bottles was completely cured. I have also recommended it to several friends who have been completely cured of kidney and bladder trouble. I once knew a friend of mine in Toledo which dissolved some of his bladder. He has not been troubled since. Also a friend in Springfield, Ohio, who was employed at the Springfield Metal-Casket Company was completely cured of kidney trouble after taking Swamp-Root. I give this testimonial unsolicited, for it may be the means of helping some one else.

Yours gratefully,
C. M. SPENCER,
Manager Western Union Tel. Co.,
Bowling Green, Ohio.

Farm Boy Accidentally Hung While at His Work

Special to The Telegraph

Newport, Pa., March 17.—Francis Shaefner, of Saville, was greatly shocked yesterday at noon when he went into his barn and found his hired boy, Louis Shatto, aged 14 years, lying on the floor dead. Upon further investigation it was found that the boy had hung himself. A coroner's jury was impaneled and from the evidence presented it was decided that the hanging was accidental.

The boy had gone to the barn to throw down fodder from overhead. A rope on the end of which was an iron ring hung in his way, and having thrown it aside the rebound came with considerable force, knocking out one of the front teeth, evidently rending him unconscious, and in some mysterious way entangling him with the rope.

The boy's father died a few years ago. His mother, Mrs. Ellen Shatto, lives in Fairview. The remains will be brought here to the home of his grandmother, Mrs. George Cless, at which place funeral services will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Rev. James M. Runkle, Ph. D., officiating.

YOU WERE VERY SILLY

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I met a young man two years my senior at a party not long ago, and we instantly took a great liking for each other. He asked me if he could wear my ring, and I said yes, but to surely give it back because it belonged to a boy friend. It is three weeks since then, and I have not heard from him and can't get the ring back.

The girl who lets every silly acquaintance or even a friend, borrow her jewelry is always punished, and deserves to be. You must buy your boy friend another ring, and always remember the lesson.

With the exception of his son Kermit, Anthony Flala and several others had suffered slight attacks of fever, but otherwise all were well.

Aroused by Flames

Miss Charlotte Claster, of Wiscasset, Maine, and Miss Virginia Moffat, of Orange, N. J., both seniors, were the heroines of the fire. They occupied rooms on the third floor, under the laboratory where the fire originated, supposed from spontaneous combustion. Their rooms faced on the court around which the building was constructed, and the glare of the flames aroused them. Miss Moffat saw a bright light reflected on the transom over door, and springing from her bed, rushed into the hall, where she met Miss Donnell.

"There is a fire," she cried.

Miss Donnell replied: "I'll ring the fire alarm, while you call the girls."

Miss Donnell ran down a flight of stairs and started the fire gong on the second floor. Miss Moffat hurried along the halls pounding on every door. She did not yell "fire" but commanded: "Put on your wraps quickly."

Halls Soon Filled

Miss Donnell then joined the other and they roused all those who had not already responded to the gong. Soon the halls were filled with startled young women. Some carried personal effects in their arms, but the greater number did not wait to save their belongings.

The girls were already filled with smoke as the girls formed in line and marched from the building. The college volunteer fire brigade was early in action and made sure that none of the sleepers was left to the flames.

Once outside several of the girls sought to re-enter the building to save valuable papers in the offices. Miss Mary Smith, of West Chester, Pa., secretary to the dean, made a bold dash into the dean's office on the first floor, and with the aid of Edward C. Monahan, an employe, saved most of the dean's records.

Founder's Widow Sees Fire

Mrs. Henry Durant, widow of the founder of the college, who is 90 years of age, witnessed the fire, being taken to the scene in a wheel chair.

Fire companies from Newton, Natick, Concord, Weston, and Wellesley, all were unable to stay the flames, which were burning themselves out when the students assembled at chapel at 9 o'clock.

President Ellen S. Pendleton announced that the college would be closed until the end of the usual Spring vacation, April 7. Sessions were to have continued until March 27. The President asked all who could to make arrangements to leave Wellesley to-day, so that accommodations could be had for those who would be obliged to remain.

Scores of telegrams asking that money and clothing be sent from their homes were dispatched by the students. Officials of the college made arrangements to provide funds for any who were in immediate need, and citizens threw open their homes to the students.

The college telephone switchboard was located in the burned building and telephone connection with the outside world was cut off soon after the fire started. Miss Rachel Freeman made her way to the nearest long distance line and, calling up Boston, gave the first news to the press.

Miss Anna Margaret Miller, Miss Clarissa Claster, Miss Kathryn Drews, and Miss Henrietta Board, the four Harrietts, were still at Wellesley, were not in the burned building. Their rooms were in either other buildings on the grounds
