Spring Opening

OPENING DAYS

Wednesday & Thursday, March 18th & 19th

Modes That Will Enjoy High Favor in Suits, Coats, Dresses, Shirt Waists, Millinery and Every Little Accessory of Dress

OUT of the shadows into the sun-flushed open comes Spring again like a bud of promise whose unfolding petals will disclose to curious eyes many delightful surprises in the realm of woman's dress. To you who have waited expectant she flings a cheery welcome to the new things from dictatorial sources--originals and duplicates of the season's accepted styles. A lavish display is ready.

"Fashion" is the theme of the Opening, but back of that is the resolute purpose to maintain a true standard of value so that quality and workmanship shall always be worthy of the price.

- Suits from $12.90 to $45.00
- Coats from $5.95 to $25.00
- Dresses from $5.95 to $30

SPLENDID BOOKS IN NEW LIBRARY

Latest Additions Are Works Which Will Be of Vast Use to People of City

Some of the books recently added to the collection of the Harrisburg Public Library are of especial interest. Two of the works of the East Indian poet, Rabindranath Tagore, recent recipient of the Nobel prize for literature, are "Sadhana, or the Realization of Life," being his philosophical lectures delivered at Harvard University, and the "Gardener," lyrics translated from the original Bengali by the author. Josephine Preston Peabody's latest book is a poetic drama, "The Wolf of Gubbio," the story of the play being taken from the "Little Flowers of St. Francis of Assisi." Alfred Noyes, who has given much pleasure to American audiences in his readings from his poems, has been invited to come to Princeton University as lecturing professor. The library has his complete poems and his poetic play, "Sharwood," and has recently added "Tales of the Mermaid Tavern," one of his long poems, which remarkably reproduces the spirit of the Elizabethan period. One of the popular books of last year was "Crowds," by G. S. Lee. More recently has appeared "Crowds, Jr.," which also promises popularity. A book of much interest locally is Dr. Thomas S. Blati's extensive work on "Public Hygiene," which covers very fully a subject becoming of more and more importance with the increase of population and consequent need of careful oversight of the public health. Additions are being made as rapidly as possible to the children's collection, upon which such heavy demands have been made. The boys will welcome Harper's "Aircraft Book" and Sweetser's "Book of Indian Braves;" and not only children, but all lovers of Mother Goose and of artistic illustrations, will enjoy Mother Goose illustrated by Arthur Hackham. Wright's "Encyclopedia of Gardening" is a timely addition, for as Spring opens the library hopes to supply an increased demand for the literature of gardens and flower lovers. Numbers of new titles have been added to the fiction list which will attract the general reader, and the library expects to supply extra copies of popular books as it becomes possible. The coming fair weather has boosted the attendance at the library and Saturday's figures show how it is being used. On that day there were 844 books circulated and there were 477 readers at the rooms. This number of readers is the greatest on any day since the library has been opened and included 245 children. The Saturday story-telling class was attended by 74 youngsters. Thirteen questions were answered at the reference desk on Saturday alone.

AMUSEMENTS

"BABY MINE" TONIGHT
If a merry comedy that alternates roars, screams and yells with Gattling-gun rapidity is what theatergoers want, they will crowd the Majestic Theater to-night when the funniest play ever written, "Baby Mine," will make its long-awaited appearance, and judging from the advance sale it is evident that everybody is going "Baby Mine" is justly entitled to the title, "the world's funniest comedy." It not only ran for one solid year at Daly's Theater, New York, but is now playing in London--its second year in the British metropolis. --Advertisement.

"OH! OH! DELPHINE"
"Oh! Oh! Delphine" is to be offered at the Majestic Theater, Saturday, afternoon and evening, when Klaw and Erlanger will present their musical comedy hit as it was given during its run of over a year in Manhattan. The splendid musical hit reveals the new forces and tendencies of the time in theatrical entertainment. Beyond such details it is too well known as a marked success to require further introduction. It is interesting to note the many hands that have been utilized in welding it into a satisfactory whole. The story originally comes from "The Girl of the Year," a farce by Georges Ber and Marcel Guilhemard, of the Parisian stage. C. M. S. McLellan adapted it for the American stage, Ivan Caryll adapted it for America's musical score, Klaw and Erlanger made the production and Herbert Fresham staged it for them, while Julian Mitchell looked after the girl numbers and ensembles. The producers have wisely kept their big hit intact. The original production and company of over 100 people remains in every part of the same. --Advertisement.

ST. PATRICK COCKTAIL

Novelty is the keynote of the Orpheum bill this week. If the bill of variety that went on view yesterday isn't replete with unusual features, it isn't anything. Somebody remarked at the madhouse that the bill ought to be called a St. Patrick cocktail bill on account of its many rare and unusual ingredients. To-day that expression is at least appropriate and after looking into the contents of that beverage, the management may brand it that. Starting with the headliner, a screaming comedy called "Wrong From the Start," we have the largest and biggest novelty. Keith vaudeville has never served up a comedy that can be compared with this irresistible laughing ringer. The playlet is a whole "melodrama" in four acts with special scenery and a budget of tinsel balala. He is programmed as Prince Lal Yon Kim, and is the only Chinese baritone triller ever seen here. Ed Vinton and "Buster" is another of the dainty bits of novelty. "Buster" is really a wonderful dog. He plays the piano and prays and does all sorts of stunts without any apparent cues. Much originality is also injected in a comedy musical act presented by Klime, Abe and Nicholson; as well as a musical skit, "Traveling," with Hopkins, Axzell and company. Several acts of merit round out the bill. --Advertisement.

AT THE COLONIAL

Hodge and Lowell, an eccentric duo, in a good comedy and singing turn, are the bright lights of the variety bill that was introduced at the Colonial yesterday. Grouped on the same bill is Alberta Whitman and her Picks in a song, dance and comedy turn; and Josh Dreano and company in a skit of songs and patter. "The Intrigue," a splendid Kalem moving picture feature, in two parts, will be a special attraction to-day. --Advertisement.

The Cheerful Life

It is the right of everyone to live and enjoy the cheerful life. We owe it to ourselves and those who live with us to live the cheerful life. We cannot do so if ill health takes hold of us.

The wife, mother and daughter suffering from hot flashes, nervousness, headache, backache, dragging-down feeling, or any other weakness due to disorders or irregularities of the delicate female organs--is not only a burden to herself, but to her loved ones.
