WALTER W. HUBLEY IS AGAIN PROMOTED

Former Harrisburg High School
Star, Supervisor For P. R. R., at Columbia

Effective at 6 o'clock this morning, Walter W. Hubley, a former Harrisburg, will be in charge as supervisor of Division No. 26 on the Susquehanna and Annapolis branch of the new grade line, Pennsylvania railroad.

Supervisor Hubley succeeds H. E. Bertolo, who has been in charge of this, the most important section of the Pennsylvania railroad freight lines, for several years. Mr. Bertolo will take up farming in York county. The new supervisor will make Columbia his headquarters and he will move his family to that city next week.

Walter W. Hubley, the former Central high school and Lehigh University football and baseball star, has been given two promotions in one year, going to Columbia from Altoona where he was assistant supervisor in the yards at that place. Previous to coming to Altoona he was located on the Pittsburgh division. On a number of occasions Supervisor Hubley won prizes for the best kept section of roadbed.

Walter W. Hubley is a son of Mrs. Annie S. Hubley, 1001 North Front street and of the late Alpheus T. Hubley, who for many years was a member of the firm of Weaver and Hubley, North Third street. His removal to Columbia will bring him nearer to home than he has been since he started with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company ten years ago.

BRUMBAUGH SURE OF IMMENSE VOTE

county chairman, who has been in touch with Republicans in many parts of the county to-day regarding the enrollment, which by the way shows large Republican gains, said: "Dr. Brumbaugh's statement has made an excellent impression. He is stronger than ever with the Republicans in this county."

Speaker Praises Plank
Speaker George E. Alt, of Allegheny county, who was for a time considered as a probable candidate for the Republican nomination and who is a big figure in the party, said to-day: "I think the local option plank ought to be satisfactory to the advocates of local option and temperance people generally, especially taken in connection with Dr. Brumbaugh's well-known views and practice as a temperance man."

No Alliances At All

The Philadelphia Record of to-day says: "Dr. Brumbaugh himself refused yesterday to be tied up to any other candidate, saying that he was making the fight for the nomination alone, without the backing of any leaders or bosses. He said he had written his platform himself, without advice from anyone, and would stand on it. He said he would not make an active campaign. It is doubtful if he will make any speeches or hold any meetings and it is certain that he will make no tour of the State. As yet no committee has been organized to promote Dr. Brumbaugh's campaign, but it is expected that some Republican business men will shortly get together and open headquarters. From time to time, Dr. Brumbaugh said, he will issue statements as to his position on State affairs, but this will constitute his whole campaign. 'I have no alliances of any sort,' he said, 'and I stand upon the platform I made public yesterday.'"

O'Neil is Satisfied

A Pittsburgh dispatch says: "Superintendent Brumbaugh's platform on which he will seek the Republican nomination for Governor is entirely satisfactory to county Commissioner J. Denny O'Neil, the local Oliver League leader. Speaker George E. Alt, of the last Pennsylvania House of Representatives, and 'dry' leaders generally in this county, are also satisfied with the platform. There is little doubt locally that a conference will be called shortly at which an effort will be made to line up behind Mr. Brumbaugh the support pledged to him in prospect for former Mayor J. Benjamin Dimmick, of Scranton, who will oppose Boies Penrose for the senatorial nomination. Commissioner O'Neil said to-day: Dr. Brumbaugh's platform is a good one. I am satisfied with his declaration as to local option. I cannot speak, of course, for all who attended the Philadelphia conference last week, but my judgment is that the platform will be acceptable to them."

Congressmen For Him

A dispatch from Washington to the Philadelphia Inquirer says: "The gubernatorial candidacy of Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, superintendent of the public school system of Philadelphia, was enthusiastically received to-day by the Republican delegation in the House from the Keystone State. With a few exceptions, the delegates declared Dr. Brumbaugh to be the strongest candidate for the Republican party could nominate, and they all united in predicting success for him in the May primary and at the general election in November. Members of the Progressive party privately admit that the Brumbaugh declaration of principles will appeal to the rank and file of voters in Pennsylvania and that he will carry to his standard much of the Progressive party strength."

Every Republican member of Congress from Pennsylvania who is now in Washington will support in support of the Brumbaugh candidacy. In addition J. Henry Scattergood, former personal registration commissioner of Philadelphia, active in the Committee of Seventy and leader of some of the party's most aggressive campaign movements, declared that Dr. Brumbaugh's platform was progressive and entirely satisfactory to those who have been demanding progressive legislation."

State Committee Neutral

Senator William E. Crow, chairman of the Republican State committee, yesterday let it be known that his committee will maintain an absolutely neutral course in relation to all candidates prior to the primaries. Much criticism is heard of the State organizations of the Democrats and Bull Moosers favoring special candidates.

"The policy of the State committee," said Chairman Crow, "has been and will continue to be one of entire fairness to all applicants for Republican nominations at the uniform primary elections. The province of the State committee is to help elect candidates after they have been named by the Republican party at the primaries. As soon as the verdict of the voters shall have been given on May 19 this committee will immediately proceed to perfect the party organization throughout the State for an aggressive campaign for the election of all its nominees in November."
