DECEITFUL FINE BATTLE, SAYS LONDON CHAPPIE

The Times Tells of Exciting Crisis in the Recent Baseball Match

Many interesting things were written and said abroad about the world's tourist players who closed a memorable trip in London ten days ago. More interesting account of a game was written than that which appeared in the London Times on February 27, which reached Harrisburg to-day. The story was headed, "American Baseball: A Match in London," and is as follows:

"The King was present at the Chelsea football ground, Stamford-bridge, yesterday afternoon to witness the baseball match between the two American teams, the New York Giants and the Chicago White Sox. His Majesty was received by the American Ambassador, who sat with him and explained the points of the game, the King asking many questions. His Majesty remained until the end of the match, which resulted in a win for Chicago by five runs to four.

"The game was watched by about 25,000 spectators, and, considering the stickiness of the ground, the play was of a very high order. At the end of the nine innings the score stood 2-2. The inning being extremely dramatic and produced two runs to each side, making the score 4-4. New York failed to score in the eleventh, and Daly, the first man to go to the bat for Chicago, hit a magnificent home run and won the match.

Crisis of the Match

"Perhaps the greatest incident of the match was in Chicago's tenth inning. The score was 4-2 in favor of New York, and Chicago had two men out, with one (Weaver) on second base, when Crawford came to bat. The situation cried aloud for a home run—and it came, the batsman lifting the ball gorgeously over the head of the left field into the middle of the spectators in the further stand, scoring (Weaver being on second base) the two runs necessary to tie the match. It was hard on Faber, who pitched it finely throughout the game; but it was superb.

"There were, however, many thrilling incidents. In Chicago's eighth inning an extraordinarily brilliant piece of work by Merkle put Bliss out by a matter of inches at the home plate as he came in from third base, and for the moment saved the game for the Giants. Magee's performance at left field again aroused the spectators to enthusiasm. One catch in particular, when he took a flyer from Daly with his left hand high up against the rails, was almost too spectacular to be 'good ball.' On the other hand it was bad fumbling in the short field that allowed Chicago in the third inning to get three men on bases before one was out, so that when Weaver got the ball away cleanly to the boundary Evans and Bliss came home, and gave Chicago the first two runs of the match. It was poor fielding again which enabled Magee in New York's next inning to get to first base, so that when Faber hit a great home run the score was equalized. Such things, however, were very few, and the bad conditions of the ground more than excused them. In compensation there were some brilliant double plays, notably in Chicago fourth inning, in which Lobert, Doyle and Merkle took first, it is clearly 'glorified rounders,' part. Faber pitched very well throughout for New York. For Chicago Scott, who is reputed the best pitcher in either team, grew a trifle wild in the fifth inning, and was succeeded by Benz, who did extremely well in the trying final periods. The catching (in the American sense) of Wingo, Bliss and Slight was faultless.

Impressions of the Game

"English spectators, to whom the game was new, must yesterday have received certain definite impressions. Of course it has been immensely developed, and the fielders no longer have the youthful joy of 'corking' the ball as hard as possible at the fleeing batsman. It is superbly organized and specified in every detail; but the framework of the old English village game still remains. Secondly, in batting, in spite of all the gorgeous smiting that was seen, baseball does not compare with cricket. Next, the cleverness and velocity of the pitching are wonderful. Finally there is no fielding in cricket which approaches the throwing which were seen yesterday. The catching (in the cricket sense) was extremely good; but the real marvel of the game was the almost indescribable suddenness and accuracy of the returns. It is little exaggeration to say that in the double plays (when two batsmen were put out off the same stroke) the eye had difficulty in following the movements and the flight of the ball. The throwing from all points was approximately perfect. The catching (again in the cricket sense) almost as perfect, and, in the case of both Merkle and Daly, at first base, quite beyond praise. Before the game began (the King did not arrive until a few minutes before 3 o'clock) an exhibition of hitting, fielding and throwing was given by members of the two teams, which delighted the spectators, one excellent piece of fooling being when the New York men for several minutes played with an imaginary ball. Members of the crowd contributed their share to the entertainment by pleading with the pitcher to kill the batsmen, and the way the umpire called the 'strikes' and 'balls' and delivered his decisions was a joy. Altogether it was an excellent game but, to English spectators—it was not cricket. It cannot be said that the crowd showed any evidence of thinking that baseball is ever likely to supersede our national game.

"The sides batted in the following order (New York going in first), the places in the field of each man being given after his name:

- NEW YORK
1. Doulin (center field)
  2. Magee (left field)
  3. Lobert (third base)
  4. Doyle (second base)
  5. Marple (first base)
  6. Duolan (shortstop)
  7. Thorpe (right field)
  8. Wingo (catcher)
  9. Faber (pitcher)

- CHICAGO
1. Weaver (shortstop)
  2. Egan (third base)
  3. Speaker (center field)
  4. Crawford (right field)
  5. Schaefer (second base)
  6. Daly (first base)
  7. Evans (left field)
  8. xBliss (catcher)
  9. Scott (pitcher)
- x Slight took the place of Bliss at the sixth inning and at the same time Benz went in to pitch in place of Scott.

When Johnny Greiner goes up against Ty Cobb in the windup at the Lancaster Athletic Club to-morrow night, he will show the best form in his career. Kid Roberts of Reading, will meet Tim Dronney. One match in the preliminaries that is expected to make a lot of excitement will be between George McCann and Billy Brown, colliery men, both of whom came from the same town in the South.

Freddie Welsh, with his wonderful whipping like a man, giving the Welshman full credit and declaring him the cleverest man in the world to-day.

At the final gong, when Referee Eytton stepped forward, Rivers turned his back, voluntarily acknowledging defeat.

Outboxed at long range, helplessly pinioned in the clinches, Rivers was baffled and hopelessly mastered from gong to gong. Welsh saved his right almost exclusively for the clinches, using it to beat a tattoo on the Mexican back into the second round, with a twenty-round lacing so decisively administered that the raising of the victor's arm by the referee was purely perfunctory. Rivers took his

Harrisburg at York; Ask New Referee

Special to The Telegraph

York, Pa., March 18.—With "Doc" Newman, the De Neri "speed boy," in the York lineup, Manager Gardner is confident that the York team will turn the tables in the fifth and deciding contest with Harrisburg at the Coliseum to-night, starting at 8.15 o'clock.

Each team has now won two games, York taking both played here with Harrisburg, and the Capital City boys cleaning house in the two games played on their home floor.

The Harrisburg management has protested against Referee Liggett, and although Manager Gardner did not request it, Mr. Liggett has decided not to officiate. Referee Liggett is without a doubt one of the best officials in baseball in this city, and the protest from the Harrisburg manager came as a surprise. The teams will line-up as follows to-night:

New Cumberland Athletic Association Started the Game Last Night; Plans Outlined

Baseball at New Cumberland will be the popular sport in that hustling town again this season. Men anxious to keep New Cumberland on the baseball map met last night and started the game with a big boost. Officers were elected by the athletic association and plans were outlined.

Committees will take charge of the various branches of the work. A minstrel show will be given to raise funds and there will be entertainments and festive during the season. A special committee will be named to secure new members to the association, and another committee will have charge of the boosting and advertising. With few exceptions the line-up will be the same as last season. Officers elected last night were:

Only one member of last year's winners, Chambers, remains at school and new candidates will have to be developed. Among those who have been in athletics at the school who departed yesterday were Krout, Chambers, Shielley, Kolbas, Boyles, Alden, Orndorff, Finger, Gardner, Crump, Newbaker, Shipp, Sellers, Ungerhoff, Avery, Weaver, Dayhoff, Levitz, Weich, K. Ebner bowled a great game, scoring 223 for the high individual mark and 995 for the high total honors.

READING SIGNS PLAYERS

Reading, Pa., March 18.—Manager Izzy Hoffman, of the local Tri-State team, has signed Walter ("Rube") Holmes, a local southpaw, and George Mangus, the hard-hitting outfielder who was with the Atlantic City team last season.

SALTS FINE FOR AGING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat which clogs Kidneys, then the Back hurts

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Advertisement.

TAFT WILL HOLD CUBS

By Associated Press

Chicago, Ill., March 18.—Charles F. Taft, of Cincinnati, who recently acquired the controlling interest in the Chicago National League baseball club, announced to-day that he might succeed Charles W. Murphy as president of the Cubs. He also declared he had not attempted to dispose of his stock to Chicago syndicates.

Feds Will Vanish, Says Mathewson

In a copyrighted article printed in the Philadelphia Press to-day under Christy Mathewson's signature, and furnished by the Wheeler syndicate, the New York Giant twirler referring to the Federal League says:

"My personal opinion is that the new league is going to dissolve like the morning mist before the sun as soon as it is exposed to the sunlight of the opening of the regular season. At this writing the league is short several ball parks, and nobody can play ball in the summer without a park, and also it is shy on talent. No team will have more than four or five players of any reputation, and the backers of the new league are signing men at present who were ready to pass out or who had passed out of organized baseball.

"However, all the players are for the Federal League now because they believe it means a continued raise in salaries. But in my humble opinion the salaries will not hold up, because the magnates are not going to fight long when they find they are losing money by paying such top-notch prices for players. A compromise is bound to come if the Federals don't go under."
