GO-TO-CHURCH DAY HAS GOOD RESULTS

Special Holidays Likely to Be Made Occasions of Wide Religious Observance

It is said that churches are finding the Go-To-Church Sunday project more permanent in its benefits than any of them dreamed it might be. Many people brought out by the public hurrah that everybody attend public religious worship somewhere on a given day are found to be attending on succeeding Sundays, so that from every part of the country, both where the Sunday has been observed and where it has not, church pews are better filled than before for years. Even Jews report that their attendance on Saturdays is helped. Plans now being made to extend the observance to cities that have not yet observed it, to select the Sundays nearest to the increased attendance in all cities where Go-To-Church Sunday has been observed is held permanently.

Plans now are being made to extend the observance to cities that have not yet observed it, to select the Sundays nearest to the increased attendance in all cities where Go-To-Church Sunday has been observed is held permanently.

The last named are being attacked in some quarters for excessive expense of money collection. The efficiency cry has struck the church broadly.

Steelton ministers report an awakened interest in church activities in the Sunday of several weeks ago. Many people have become regular attendants of the various churches who never went to church before.

Many Harrisburg churches have been holding Go-to-Church days during the last month and a big general observance of the day is now under consideration.

Fifty boys have joined the new troop of Boy Scouts formed at Covenant Presbyterian Church during the past two days. These boys are taking instructions in preparation for the tenderfoot examination. The Rev. Harvey Klair, pastor of the church has had four years of experience in work in the Boy Scout organizations and before that time was connected with other forms of boys' groups.

The troop is in charge of Jesse M. Shriver. The boys will be given instructions so that they may become first grade scouts. They will be taken through the entire course of instruction in indoors and outdoors work. The Rev. Klair will give many boys as possible will be made life scouts. A feature will be a weekly lecture illustrated with stereoscopic views. A summer camp and many hikes are planned.

BOYS OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

Boston, Mass., March 21.—A century of training of boys in practical pursuits was celebrated to-day by the Farm and Trades School, located on Thompson's Island, Boston Harbor. The school is the oldest of its kind in the country and was a pioneer in introducing the teaching of sloyd and the establishment of a form of student government.

DR. LYTER'S RED MUSTACHE "SETS FIRE" TO HIS FACE

Derry Street United Brethren Church, Fifteenth and Derry streets, is probably the strongest built church in Harrisburg. It was built under the supervision of a clergyman who is a competent civil engineer and mechanic. The Rev. Dr. J. A. Lyter is an amateur engineer, who uses a trowel or plans a building or bridge just for the fun he finds in that sort of work. He took engineering as a side course while at college.

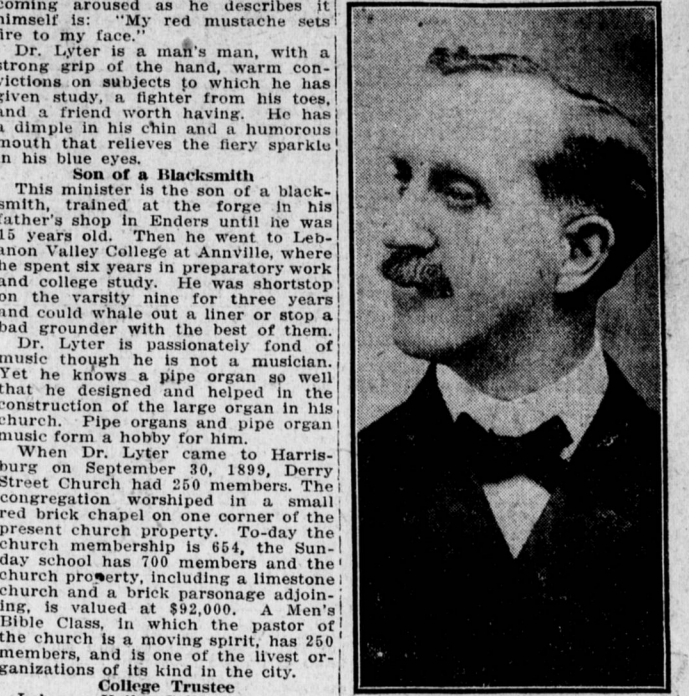

Dr. Lyter is a wiry, fiery man with a red mustache, that usually starts things going when the Scotch-Irish in him is aroused. His method of being aroused as he describes it himself is: "My red mustache sets fire to my face."

Dr. Lyter is a man's man, with a strong grip of the hand, warm convictions on subjects to which he has given study, a fighter on foot, a lawyer and a friend worth having. He has a dimple in his chin and a humorous mouth that relieves the fiery sparkle in his blue eyes.

When the church was nearly finished on May 21, 1907, it was gutted by fire, which burned out the interior and ruined the parsonage next door. Dr. Lyter lost a great part of his library in the fire.

Undaunted by the misfortune to the church, efforts were renewed and a year later, in July, 1908, the completed church was dedicated.

Dr. Lyter has positive opinions politically and tells of an experience which aids him in taking his stand on matters. He was chaplain of the

THE REV. J. A. LYTER, Pastor Derry Street United Brethren Church

This minister is the son of a blacksmith, trained at the forge in his father's shop in Enders until he was 15 years old. He became a student at Lebanon Valley College at Annville, where he spent six years in preparatory work and college study. He was shortstop on the varsity nine for three years and a coach while at college.

Dr. Lyter came to Harrisburg in September, 1899, to Derry Street Church had 250 members. The congregation worshiped in a small red brick chapel on one corner of the church. To-day the church membership is 854, the Sunday school has 700 members and the church property, including a limestone church and a brick parsonage adjoining it, is valued at $32,000. A Men's Bible Class, in which the pastor of the church is a moving spirit, has 250 members, and is one of the liveliest organizations of its kind in the city.

Lebanon Valley College has several times asked Dr. Lyter to become a member of its faculty. It has given him his bachelor's degree, a master's degree, and in 1907 the degree of doctor of divinity. He is a trustee of the college and has been so for many years.

Dr. Lyter left college in the class of 1885, with an intention of entering the ministry. He became principal of the Berryburg Seminary at Berryburg, and for nearly two years taught there. He then decided to enter the ministry, selecting the church with which he had become acquainted while a student. His first charge was at Mountville, where he spent five years. Then came a year in Philadelphia, a three-year charge at Mt. Joy, and three years more at Hummelstown before he came to this city. While at Hummelstown Dr. Lyter caught what is said to have been the largest fish ever hooked out of the Swatara creek. It was a monster bass.

Building the Church

When the Derry Street congregation was ready to build a new church, Dr. Lyter took charge. He told the architect the kind of church wanted and insisted that certain details be carried out. One of these was the matter of the largest fish ever hooked out of the church are six feet of solid concrete. The building has been filled

CONFERENCE SECRETARY

He is a prominent man in his own denomination. For some years he has been secretary of the East Pennsylvania conference of the church. He is a trustee of the church publishing house at Dayton, Ohio, and was a delegate to the general conference of the United Brethren Church held in Decatur, Ill., last year. He is one of the most prominent United Brethren ministers in the conference.

Dr. Lyter has never written much for publication. He believes that no young man should write. He says: "No man should put into a book his thoughts and theories while a youth. He should wait until ripe experience coming with the years settles for him whether his theories and his life are in accord. Much will change through the ripening wisdom of years."

DRAGON OF IMPURITY IS EVERYWHERE SAYS WHALEN

"IMPURITY"

The fairy tales we were told over in our childhood, the days when we were without guile—those tales always had their beautiful virgin when the dragon pursued, or the mighty stouted monster that dwelt in a frightful den, and that had to be fed at times on the fairest virgins, else he would spread destruction through the land. The dragon is going through every country on the earth, to-day seeking and the virgins whom he may devour. He is up in the land of the eternal snows and the midnight sun; he is busy in the torrid zone, and everywhere his victims outnumber the falling autumn leaves. The dragon is IMPURITY, and he is hunting for the innocent souls who are wearing their bridal baptismal robe unpolished.

The sin is in all the more dangerous because it is so common. Impurity is everywhere to-day—in the glaring "scare-heads" of the yellow journals, in the cleverly worded chapters of the "best sellers." It disperses itself in gaudy dress or unlovely stage, whether the theater be the high-priced "legitimate" or the cheaper vaudeville, it reaches our ears through the medium of music whether in the lascivious opera or in the words of popular songs.
