NEW REGULATION FOR MILITIA WORK

Adjutant General's Department Will Make Rifle Practice Conform to Regulars

New regulations for the small arms practice of the National Guard, to make it conform to the requirements of the War Department, are announced in a circular issued to-day from National Guard headquarters.

The season for outdoor practice is to run from August to October 31, as usual, but announcement is made that indoor or gallery practice will be in order from November 1 to October 31 of the year following.

The figures of classification have been changed. Hereafter 210 will constitute experts; 190 sharpshooters and 150 marksmen.

As far as possible the practice will be under the same conditions and silhouette targets will be used instead of the old-fashioned bull's-eyes.

Big Men to Address Housing Conference

Plans have been practically completed for the opening of the State conference for the organization of the Pennsylvania Housing and Town Planning Association to be held in this city Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

The conference will begin at 4 o'clock and the first speaker on the program is expected to be Governor John K. Tener.

During the three days practical problems for bettering housing conditions will be the principal topic discussed, and some of the leading advocates of this phase of municipal improvement will be present.

Salvation Army to Close Its Doors

The Salvation Army industrial home located at 211 Cherry street, which was opened November 1908, for the benefit of men out of work will close its doors Saturday.

The home has been operated at a considerable annual loss which was borne by the National Housing Commission in New York City in the hope that it would eventually become self-supporting.

LION ROARED

March came in like a lion, 'tis true, if you'll remember; and it may be well said that March went out much like a lamb, as it should. But from March 1 to March 31 it alternately behaved like anything but a peaceable lion, and occasionally was like the proverbial lamb.

SHIP A MOST OF CREW OF 170 MEN ARE LOST IN ICY SEAS

St. Johns, N. F., April 2.—The steamer Newfoundland came into port to-day with a story of disaster to the sailing steamer Southern Cross, and her crew of 170 men.

The exact loss of life is not known but it is believed that practically the whole crew perished after the Southern Cross had been crushed and sunk in the ice off Cape Race.

The Newfoundland picked up fifty of the crew, the greater number already dead and others dying, from the floating ice floes which they escaped when their craft went down.

Those who survived were able in their weakened condition to tell but little of the wreck and probable fate of their fellow crew members.

The Southern Cross had completed an unusually large catch in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Her holds were filled with seal skins and her decks were piled high with trophies of the cruise.

HUERTA ENDEAVORING TO DEVELOP POLICY

Refers to United States in His Latest Message to Mexican Congress

Mexico City, April 2.—In his message to Congress last night, President Huerta said he refrained from extensive mention of international relations.

"Some of the American States have not yet recognized the constitutional government at interim of the Republic, but the greater number of them keep in Mexico diplomatic representatives and no one of them has interrupted relations with the Republic.

"Referring to the Department of Foreign Relations, I must tell you that the government of the Republic has earnestly endeavored to develop a just nationalistic policy, which, far from injuring our international relations, has resulted in making them the most cordial possible with the chief powers of the world.

"The only direct reference to the United States was in a review of the work done by the foreign office, when he said:

"Referring to the Department of Foreign Relations, I must tell you that the government of the Republic has earnestly endeavored to develop a just nationalistic policy, which, far from injuring our international relations, has resulted in making them the most cordial possible with the chief powers of the world.

"Some of the American States have not yet recognized the constitutional government at interim of the Republic, but the greater number of them keep in Mexico diplomatic representatives and no one of them has interrupted relations with the Republic.

"The United States has been so good as to invite me, through his excellency, President Wilson, to organize in common accord the preparatory work for the approaching peace conference at The Hague."

SEAMAN EVER READY TO ASSIST MATES

Report to Navy Department Tells of Rescue of Men on Collier Jupiter

Washington, April 2.—Readiness of officers and enlisted men of the navy to risk their own lives at all times to save their shipmates is strikingly illustrated in a report to the Navy Department from the commanding officer of the collier Jupiter which was made public to-day.

"On March 16 last," the report says, "ordinary seaman Curtis, Fritz and Anding went down in No. 13 hold of the Jupiter to coal the galley. About five hundred tons of coal were stored in this hold and subsequent developments showed that poisonous gases had collected. Fritz, seeing himself getting faint, started to go back up the ladder, but fell unconscious. Anding at once placed the hoisting line around Fritz and Curtis went up for help. Seaman Stanley then went below to bring up Fritz. As soon as the latter had been removed Anding himself dropped back unconscious.

Boatswain Mate Leitner then went down to put the line around Anding, but found that he had fallen so far from the ladder that the line would not reach. He then tried to drag Anding but was himself overcome and fell back into the hatch. Boatswain T. W. Shaw arrived at this time, went below and endeavored to drop the unconscious men. He was then helped by Chief Carpenter Kempton and Ordinary Seaman Ferguson then went into the hold to render assistance, and Ordinary Seaman Curtis went back into the hold a second time. When the executive officer arrived he had a line thrown into the hold from the coal boom and Boatswain Shaw placed this around Anding and Fritz. They were hauled out. He then started to bend the line around Leitner, but was overcome before he could finish his task.

Kempton, Curtis and Ferguson finished Leitner and Leitner was then hauled back into the hatch. Ordinary Seaman Sales and Simpson then went to the rescue and all were hauled to safety.

Wotherspoon to Succeed Wood as Chief of Staff

Washington, D. C., April 2.—President Wilson has named Major General W. W. Wotherspoon, now assistant chief of staff, to succeed Major General Leonard Wood as chief of staff of the United States Army.

General Wood will retire from office on April 22 on the expiration of his term of four years at the head of the army. He will be assigned to the command of the Eastern Military Department, with headquarters at Governor's Island, N. Y. Brigadier-General Hugh L. Scott, now commanding the Second Cavalry Brigade, with headquarters at Fort Bliss, El Paso, Texas, will be assistant chief of staff, succeeding General Wotherspoon. There is also connected with the announcement the intention of the President to nominate General Scott to be a major-general on the retirement of Major-General Wotherspoon, November 16, this year.

Building Pulled Down by Auto Provides Fire Wood

Residents of Third and Reily streets regret that the removal of the old partly burned building at the northwest intersection of these thoroughfares was not pulled down earlier in the season. It would have saved them some fuel bills. As it is all of the cellars in that vicinity are well stocked with fire wood as a result of the school authorities which own the plot hiring an automobile man to pull down the old structure to-day. The building was 125 feet long and 30 feet wide. The auto car pulled it to pieces in five hours and the population for a block around cleared the ground of the debris.

WE SHAPE OUR OWN CAREER

The greatest moment in our career is when we awaken to the shining truth that our life, to make or mar, is wholly in our hands; that neither dark destiny nor grim fate, nor the stars, nor the decrees of the gods, nor the machinations of men or devils, can cheat us of that greatness of soul and serenity of mind which is the crown of real success.

The most terrible note in the despair of the despairing is the sound of helplessness. To feel that the universe is a huge machine to grind us at last to dust, that the odds of existence are against us, and that we are borne down by the tramp of irresistible forces, this is the fall of man.

But when a man has discovered that he himself is master, and that no outside force can touch his inner being, that discovery is as of a new world, the America of spirit, the opening vista of limitless opportunity. Dr. Frank Crane, in Woman's World for March.

U. S. to Save $11,000,000 on Pensions This Year

Washington, D. C., April 2.—The pension roll has diminished to such an extent in recent months that it will require $169,150,000 for pension disbursements in the fiscal year that will begin on July 1 next instead of $180,300,000, the amount appropriated the current year.

This interesting fact is brought out in the report on the pension budget which was reported to the House to-day by the committee on appropriations. More than 40,000 names have been dropped from the pension roll in the past year on account of death and other causes.
