Dr. Downes, who based his recommendations on reports he received from the different teachers, insisted that 'everything has been done fairly and everyone has had a square deal.' Director Yates questioned whether the committee did not violate the spirit, if not the letter, of the school code, in patronizing so fully the American Book Company, when, as he put it, 'we all know that two of the principals and the school treasurer are agents of the American Book Company?"

In conclusion Dr. Yates tried to have action postponed for sixty days until other booking concerns could have a better opportunity to place samples of their books in the schools and so give a wider opportunity for teachers to vote. This was voted down, only Mr. Yates himself voting for it. The other members of the committee are Directors Kennedy, Pohl and Saul.

pected that the new officials will begin their duties Tuesday morning.

In announcing his appointees to-day Commissioner Bowman said his purpose in selecting Dr. Zimmerman was based on his worth as a physician, a chemist and bacteriologist. Dr. Zimmerman, said the commissioner, will be educated in the bacteriological work under Dr. George R. Moffitt, the city bacteriologist.

"Dr. Hughes is unquestionably a good veterinarian," went on Mr. Bowman, "and he will be especially valuable to the city, I believe, because of his knowledge of cattle. Both men are well qualified for the positions."

If the domestic science appropriation item is passed upon to-night the plans for establishing this course in the Central High School alone will be started so that instruction in sewing and cooking may be begun in the Fall. It is expected that the courses will be taught in the high school.

While the finance committee last evening was busy over the budget, the textbook committee was wrestling with the problem of adopting School Superintendent Downes' recommendations for new books.

Director Yates charged that the recommendations all of which were for American Book Company products, were premature in that there was ample time to make a wider selection. Other book companies, he said, hadn't had full opportunity to have their samples passed upon.

Dr. Downes, who based his recommendations on reports he received from the different teachers, insisted

Senator Oliver Against Panama Canal Repealer

Washington, D. C., April 3.—In a statement on his position regarding the proposed repeal of the exemption clause in the Panama Canal act United States Senator Oliver, of Pennsylvania,

States Senator Oliver, of Pennsylvania, says:

"After considering the subject from every point of view I have decided to vote against the repeal. I voted against exemption in the last Congress because it then seemed to me that it was a violation of our treaty obligations, and I am one of those who believe in sticking to a bargain, no matter at what cost; but the subsequent discussion has convinced me that this point is at least debatable, with the weight of opinion in favor of the Contention that no violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty is involved. "Less than two years ago the Congress, by an overwhelming majority, decided in favor of exempting our own construise shipping from tolls. That action stands as the settled policy of the American people.

"It cost $65.000,000, practically all of which was put up by British capitalists, and free tolls to American coastwise ships, which includes the ships running from New York to Hawaii, would make that entire investment worthless. Shoots Self in Hotel Block Away From No-License Meeting

While a conference of No-licens

While a conference of No-license League workers was going on just a block away, Alvin A. Langsdorf, Williamsport, said by his mother to be a "victim of drink," put three bullets through his heart and died on the iavatory floor of the Globe Hotel, Sixth and Cumberland streets.

Five men were drinking around a table in the adjoining room when the shots rang out, and several of them fied. The hotel owner, A. L. Taylor, investigated, and found the suicide's body lying in a pool of blood. A note, in which he said he was "tired working for a dead horse," was the only reason assigned. He lived at 320 Louisa street, Williamsport, where his body will be taken for burial. He was 34 years old.

"Less than two years ago the Congress, by an overwhelming majority, decided in favor of exempting our own coastwise shipping from tolls. That action stands as the settled policy of the American people.

"The principal objection of Great Britain to tolls exemption is not on account of the Canadian Pacific, as is commonly believed, but on account of the Tehuantepec Railway, owned by Cowdray. This railroad, due to the failure of the Mexican government toput up its share of the mends of the Mexican government.

Representative J. Hampton Moore, of Pennsylvania, in a speech in the House, yesterday attacked the Underwood tariff bill, declaring that its operation had not reduced the cost of living, but on the contrary had resulted in laying a heavier burden upon the workingmen of the country by throwing thousands of them out of employment.

In a running fire of questions and answers Mr. Moore charged that the new tariff law up to date had merely placed the duties taken down by the Democratic party in the pockets of the Einstein property which has a performance of the position of the importers and foreign manufacturers.

Mr. Moore cited the hosiery business in particular, declaring it to be one of those marked for the fiercest foreign in the duty.
