IDEAL PRACTICE DAY; TRACK ATHLETES OUT

High School Candidates Indulge in Limbering Up Exercises Along River Front

Cool, crisp atmosphere made this an ideal day for outdoor practice for High School track athletes, and both Central and Tech had large squads working along the paths in Riverside Park, and on the dry spots at the Island.

It was impossible for the athletes to get down to any kind of real work. The practice to-day was mostly limbering up exercises, and in giving special attention to the men who will likely represent the local schools in the big relay race at Franklin Field on April 25. It is the belief that another week will put Municipal Field and track in good shape, when greater activity is promised.

Central High candidates numbered thirty when they reported to Coach William D. Meikel at the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon. Following a chase up Front street through Riverside Park, the athletes were directed across the Market street bridge.

Tech's candidates went to Reservoir Park and chased up and down the hills for a time and then took a good run up Cameron street. Tech had about twenty men at practice. Work has been in progress at the Tech gymnasium for some time and a strong team is indicated by the good work already shown by the athletes.

Harrisburg Night at Lancaster Show; Big Bill Arranged

Harrisburg boxing fans will be largely represented at the boxing show at Lancaster Monday night. It will be Harrisburg night, and as a special favor to local supporters, Manager Hensel is offering an unusually strong bill.

Johnny Greiner, of Lancaster, will meet Ty Cobb, of Philadelphia. This will be the third bout between these lightweights in four months. Honors so far are even. Greiner lost the last match and his friends were rather disappointed. The Lancaster boy now proposes to come back strong and show he is the best man. Cobb has something to say in this matter, and a battle royal is looked for.

There is a fight promised in every bout on the bill for Monday night. Tim Dronney meets Charley Myers, of Philadelphia, who is a small-sized pugilist; Young Russel will try "Buck" Crouse; Young Russel will try Young Coster, of Reading. There will be something doing which the bantams, Stone and Kreider, meet and Wilson and Brown, colored boys, are full of action.

Manager Hensel will take some fast boys from Philadelphia, Baltimore, York and Lancaster to McSherrystown on April 21.

Hassetts Won Out in Close Contest; Defeated Olivets

Nothing in the way of ginger would have made last night's game between the Hassetts Boys' Club and the Olivets of Reading hotter. The locals won, 41 to 39.

The games was played at lightning speed from start to finish. The Hassetts tossers were more accurate and shot brilliant goals from different angles, a big factor in the victory. There was rough work at times. This game ended the season for the Hassetts tossers.
