BE FIRST TO MATE

The Rev. Z. A. Colestock Will Go to Old Folks' Home at Quincy

By Special Correspondence. Waynesboro, Pa., April 4.—A pretty wedding took place on Thursday evening at 5 o'clock, when Denton Stine, of Shady Grove, and Miss Goldie Kauffman, of Waynesboro, were married at the bride's home in Ridge avenue by the Rev. Ezra M. Funk. After the ceremony a dinner was served in honor of the couple, at which members of the immediate families participated. The bride was attended by Miss Bettie Stull as bridesmaid. George Stine, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Dr. Bonebrake, Ridge avenue, entertained the members of his class in the Methodist Episcopal Sunday School at his home on Wednesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. George P. Beaver and Miss Victoria Beaver have returned from Florida, where they spent the winter. Mrs. Ira Wheeler, Miss Margaret West, Katherine Amerson and Lucile Woltz attended the sessions of the convention of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Carlisle Presbytery held in Carlisle. Mrs. George Patterson is recovering from a severe operation. Dr. J. George Becht, executive secretary of the State Board of Education, will deliver an address in the high school auditorium next Monday evening on "Lines of the Future." The Rev. George Franklin Boggs, the new pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, and his family will arrive here to-day from Hollidaysburg. The spelling contest held under the auspices of the Waynesboro Relief Association was a big success financially and a most enjoyable occasion. Mrs. J. E. Keary was taken to the United Brethren hospital at Baltimore Wednesday to be operated on. When the Old Folks' Home of the United Brethren church at Quincy, adjoining the orphanage property is completed, all the inmates will be the Rev. Z. A. Colestock, who was 99 years old March 25. The new home at Quincy succeeds the old home at Carlisle, Pa., which was given to the United Brethren church by the Rev. Colestock and his wife, now deceased, on April 1, 1893. The Rev. Mr. Colestock will give the residence of his parents at home at Quincy. He was born in Littlestown, Adams county, in 1824.

Complete equipment of stretchers, blankets, bandages, medicines, etc., has been purchased and will be placed in cabinets to permit ready access and application.

One Less Place Here For Down-and-Outers

Woe—more woe—for the down-and-outer. For to-day marks the close of the Salvation Army industrial home, 211 Cherry street, and the man out of a job will have to be beating a weary tattoo on the pavements. The home was opened November, 1908, for the benefit of men out of work, and it was hoped that the institution would eventually become self-supporting. But in this it has failed, and after having been for some time supported by national headquarters in New York, officials of the Army have decided that the institution should not show sufficient progress on the road toward self-maintenance to merit continued upkeep.

"PIGS" BROUGHT $130

Wormsberg, Pa., April 4.—The Rev. G. B. Renshaw, pastor of the St. Paul's United Brethren Church, is still very ill.
