SCHOOLHOUSES IN GREATER NUMBER

Dr. Becht Reports on the Manner in Which Improvements Are Being Made Now

The schoolhouses of Pennsylvania are being improved at a rate scarcely realized by the average citizen and a report just made to the State Board of Education by Dr. J. George Becht, the secretary, shows that in 1913 new buildings were erected in fifty-eight out of the sixty-seven counties of the State.

The cost of one-room buildings, from standard plans, varied from $225 to $2,800; the cost of two-room buildings varied from $2,200 to $6,000. The most expensive plans were submitted for the Williamsport High School, costing $250,000; Duquesne, $183,000; Shamokin, $152,000; Crafton, $110,000; Erie, $107,000; Johnstown, $105,000; Latrobe, $100,000; Horshoe, $100,000; Easton, $97,000; Renovo, $90,000; Media, $85,000; Carlisle, $80,000; Donora, $76,000.

The following list shows the number of schoolhouse constructions and reconstruction in each county: Allegheny, 23; Luzerne, 15; Westmoreland, 15; Fayette, 13; Montgomery, 13; Washington, 13; Cambria, 13; Schuylkill, 12; Somerset, 11; Lackawanna, 10; Armstrong, 10; York, 8; Tioga, 7; Chester, 7; Lancaster, 6; Berks, 6; Clearfield, 6; Delaware, 6; Indiana, 6; Bucks, 5; Cumberland, 5; Dauphin, 5; Beaver, 4; Blair, 4; Erie, 4; Green, 4; Warren, 4; Bradford, 3; Lehigh, 3; Elk, 3; Forest, 3; Franklin, 3; Huntingdon, 3; Jefferson, 3; Lawrence, 3; Mercer, 3; Monroe, 3; Northampton, 2; Northumberland, 2; Carbon, 2; Center, 2; Clinton, 2; Columbia, 2; Crawford, 2; Lebanon, 2; Lycoming, 2; McKean, 2; Mifflin, 2; Adams, 1; Bedford, 1; Butler, 1; Cameron, 1; Juniata, 1; Perry, 1; Potter, 1; Susquehanna, 1; Wayne, 1.

ANDREW J. DULL, MANUFACTURER, DEAD

Colorado Springs. The late James J. Dull was a brother of the deceased.

Through his father Mr. Dull came of German stock, but on his mother's side was a descendant of Irish ancestors.

Andrew Jackson Dull was born August 22, 1830, near McVeytown, Mifflin county, Pa., and was a son of Casper and Jan (Junkin) Dull, the former descended from ancestors who came in 1739 from Hesse-Darmstadt, Germany, and settled in Montgomery county, Pennsylvania, while the Junksins, who came in 1740 from the north of Ireland, made their home in the Juniata Valley.

The early education of Mr. Dull was received in the common schools and was fitted to enter the Tuscarora Academy, Juniata county, and at Strasburg Academy, Lancaster county. So fully was he prepared that he was able to enter the sophomore class of Princeton University in the beginning of the second session and to graduate with the class of 1852.

Made Monitor Plates For several years the company leaving the university Mr. Dull was engaged in the construction of public works and built part of the Washington aqueduct under the direction of Captain Aisgud. Ultimately, however, he associated himself with that power in the development of Pennsylvania—the iron industry. In 1863 he joined in forming the firm of Reese, Graff & Dull to erect mills for the manufacture of iron in Pittsburgh. The business was largely extended and before Mr. Dull retired from the firm included the manufacture of all grades of iron and steel. It was the firm of Reese, Graff & Dull that made and fitted the plates for two of the celebrated monitors. The firm joined with Graff, Bennett & Co. and Robinson Rice & Co. in organizing the Grafton Iron Company, and built a large blast furnace at Grafton, Ohio. Mr. Dull was made president of the company and filled the office with an ability which showed him to be not only an organizer but also an administrator. In 1870, however, compelled by failing health, the result of overwork, he disposed of his entire interest and retired from business. In 1871 he was elected secretary, treasurer and general manager of the Lochiel Rolling Mills, in this city, and had since been president of the Chicago and Block Coal Railroad Company, of Indiana, and president of the Electric Ore Separator Company, of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Dull had also been president of the Pulaski Iron Company, with blast furnaces at Pulaski, Va., and coal and coke works in the Pocahontas region, West Virginia; of the Virginia Mining Company and of the Empire Lumber and Mining Company. He had held the vice-presidency of the Corpus Christi and Rio Grande Railroad Company, of Texas, and of the Pulaski Mining Company, and was a director of the Kansas City, Topeka and Western Railroad, of Kansas, and of the Norfolk and Western Railway Company, of Virginia. Mr. Dull in recent years gave less attention than formerly to the details of the iron and coal business and as president of the Electric Ore Separator Company devoted more time and thought to the separation of magnetic and nonmagnetic minerals.

President of Harrisburg Club It may well be supposed that a man whose time was so fully occupied as was that of Mr. Dull with duties and responsibilities of the most engrossing nature had little leisure for social intercourse or for fraternal association. Nevertheless, Mr. Dull, who did not believe that it was true wisdom to entirely sacrifice the amenities of life to the demands of business, helped to organize and was for five years president of the Harrisburg Club. He was also a member of the Inglenook and Country Clubs, of Harrisburg, and of the Union League and Manufacturers' Club, of Philadelphia. During his student days he belonged to Clilo Hall and the Chi Psi fraternity. For many years he had been a member of the board of managers of the Harrisburg Hospital.

Mr. Dull married, June 3, 1857, Judith Reynolds, of Kittanning, who survives.
