

CHILDREN GET BULBS; BRING BACK LILIES

Fifth Street Church to Be Decorated by Children For Easter Day

Children this year have brought a rich floral tribute to the Fifth Street Methodist Church, adorning the pulpit platform with blooms of tulips, hyacinths and lilies of the valley. The flowers grow from bulbs which the church last November distributed to the children. Hundreds of the bulbs were given out and around each bulb was wrapped printed instructions telling just how to grow them. Most of the bulbs came up and bore fine blossoms, and these the children are taking to the church. During Easter Day the children will carry them to the hospitals and sick rooms of the city.

In no former year at the Fifth Street Methodist Church has more elaborate preparation been made for the proper observance of Easter. The first service of the day will be a sunrise Easter praise meeting at 6.30 o'clock. At 10.30 the choir will render "Praise" (Sing to God a Hymn of Praise), and a ladies' chorus will sing "My Hope and Trust." The pastor, the Rev. B. H. Hart, will preach briefly on "The Homing Instinct of the Soul," after which a large class will be received into church membership. The Sunday school will meet at 2 o'clock, when the various classes will make a report of the amount of money earned during the past three months by self-denial. The amount thus raised will be given to the trustees to be applied on the church indebtedness. The Junior League will meet at 3 o'clock and the "North Star" devotional exercises will be held at 6.30. At 7.30 the choir will render Schnecker's beautiful cantata, entitled "The Risen King," and Lorenz's "Jesus Christ is Risen To-day." The minister will speak briefly on "Sleeping in God's Acre."

700 at Hart Reception.—The members of Fifth Street Methodist Episcopal Church last evening tendered a reception to the pastor, the Rev. B. H. Hart, and his family and to members taken into the church during the year. The reception marked the beginning of the fourteenth year of the Rev. Mr. Hart as pastor of the Fifth Street Church, the longest term of any pastor in the Central Pennsylvania Conference. An address was delivered by Dr. A. S. Pasick, superintendent of the Harrisburg District of the Methodist Church. He congratulated the Rev. Mr. Hart and the congregation. Mr. Hart responded with an address and a solo. More than 700 people attended the reception.

How to Make Books.—The Hick-a-Thrift Class of the Pine Street Presbyterian Church will meet this evening in the rooms of Post 58, Grand Army of the Republic, 28 North Third street. Following the meeting a lecture will be delivered by two of the members of the class on the subject, "Making a Book." The manufacture of paper will be told by Daniel Herge, of the Evangelical Publishing House, and various methods in printing will be told by William Nagle, of the Telegraph Printing Company. The lecture will be illustrated with stereopticon slides.

Sing "Crucifixion."—At the Covenant Presbyterian Church last evening "The Crucifixion," a meditation on the sacred passion, was rendered in the main auditorium of the church, under the leadership of Stanley G. Backenstoss, choirmaster, and Miss Nancy E. Cramer, pianist.

Lecture on Forestry.—Professor George H. Wirt, head of the Pennsylvania State Forestry Academy at Mont Alto, delivered an illustrated lecture last evening before a large audience at the Immanuel Presbyterian Church. His subject was "Forestry, as Carried on in Foreign Countries." The Aeolian Quartet sang.

BASEBALL BOOST BY COMMERCE BOARD

Belief That a Team Is Good Advertisement For Any City Prompts Action

Believing that a baseball team is a good advertisement for any city, the directors of the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce last night decided to stand back of the Harrisburg Tri-State team. Plans for boosting the game in Harrisburg will be held at a noon-day luncheon to be held on or about April 20. At this luncheon the speakers will be Governor John K. Tener, George M. Graham, president of the Tri-State League, and two others, to be announced later.

George B. Tripp, president of the Chamber, announced to-day that a real baseball booster meeting is to be held. The date will be fixed as soon as W. Harry Baker, president of the Pennsylvania Exhibition Company, backers of the Harrisburg club, has had a conference with Governor Tener.

Thousand Dollars Is Floating Down the Susquehanna River

A thousand dollars, figuratively and fugitively speaking, is floating down the Susquehanna, and may be obtained by the Harrisburg Police Department. This sum is in the nature of a reward offered by relatives of Russell Uhl, Wilkes-Barre millionaire, who a week ago drowned himself.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon it was reported to Chief of Police Hutchison that residents of the village of Wapwallopen, near Nescopeck, had seen the body, but when efforts were made to recover it it sank beneath the surface and eluded them. Unless the body is found in the intervening eighty-eight miles, it will probably pass by Harrisburg some time this afternoon.

Chief Hutchison has called up rivermen at different places along the stream and will post two or three men in boats to watch for the body this afternoon.

AMUSEMENTS

ORPHEUM BILL POPULAR

It has been a long time since local theatergoers took so kindly to a bill at the Orpheum, as they are to the one that prevails there this week. The popularity seems to be not only because of the presence of McIntyre and Hyams, the clever musical comedy couple, but because of the excellence of the offering throughout. Of course, it goes without saying that Hyams and McIntyre are the choice plums of the bill. Their delightful comedy, with music, called "The Quakers," is one of the most pleasing turns we have seen at the Locust street playhouse. But then there is the delightful vocal spectacle called "The Girl in the Moon," in which a girl appears in a floating moon that sails away out and over the audience, sometimes dipping down so far that she can pin a rose on the lapels of a number, seated anywhere in the orchestra circle. Lovers of a clever song and dance team are certainly reveling in the appearance of The Astaire, a youthful couple in really wonderful exhibitions of the latest crazes in society dances. McConnell and Simpson are as popular as ever in their screeching farce called "The Right Girl," while a laughing hit is being scored by Lewis and Body, eccentric character duo. Prellie's Dogs are interesting in the appearance of a bill that is widely different from anything in that line that we have seen. The Orpheum's bill throughout is a real metropolitan offering and it deserves the capacity audiences that are on hand for each performance. Banner sales are recorded for the remainder of the week. For next week the management is announcing Lasky's "Trained Nurses," with Clark and Bergman.—Advertisement.

AT THE COLONIAL

A feature of Easter "posies" will probably prove an interesting bit of the Colonial's Country Store entertainment to-night. Many varieties of the seasonal flowers will be distributed to the store shoppers as well as many laughable and valuable gifts that are also on hand. Chief of the entertaining vaudeville bill that is appearing there for the remainder of the week is a very clever series of character impersonations of great men, past and present, offered by Gravetta and Lavondre.—Advertisement.

Irvin Hoffman.
