DEMOCRATIC WAR SCARES OFF PEACE

is furnishing no end of amusement to Republicans and Bull Moosers, Socialists and Prohibitionists, Pennsylvania, which was promised to Wilson and did not go that way, is one of the grand old battle grounds for control of the party machine and the name of the President is being indiscriminately used by both sides.

spellbinders will be out this week. The McCormick faction will have its top liners at the Jefferson dinner of the Central Democratic Club in this city and Michael J. Ryan and Henry Budd will be addressing two mass meetings in Philadelphia about the time that A. Mitchell Palmer and Vance C. McCormick will be basking in the company of Secretary of the Navy Joseph Daniels and Secretary of Labor "Billy" Wilson. Mr. Budd is expected to issue his platform in reply to the challenge from Palmer. City Chairman B. Gordon Bromley and Edwin O. Lewis, Philadelphia reformer, will also be Ryan speakers in Philadelphia.

Up and Down the State After the State committee meeting to-morrow, which may or may not endorse the machine candidates, Palmer and McCormick will go to Scranton and spend the rest of the week in Lackawanna, Luzerne, Carbon, Monroe, Northampton and other counties and arrange to invade Philadelphia next week. They will take a little time off to get their papers filed, but will go out on the stump again. Automobiles will be used in the traversing of the State and the torches of factional warfare will light them on their way. Ryan will talk at two Philadelphia meetings Tuesday and then go into Chester and Delaware counties. Thursday he goes to Clearfield and Friday to Phillipsburg, coming here Saturday with Henry Budd and a retinue of speakers to say things about his opponents. With Ryan will be Judge Bonniwell and Senator Farley. The outlook is bright for examples of warfare within the party. Speaking at Altoona Saturday Congressman Palmer forgot his usual good nature and his defense of the reorganization machine as poor and faithful for its running expenses and offered to buy a special car and send it around the State if the men fighting his crew would only agree to make the grand tour. Just which one of the wealthy men in the reorganization crowd would stand for the cost he did not say.

Fuss Over Expenses About the time Mr. Palmer was talking about paying for a free excursorion of his rivals Congressman J. J. Fitzgerald, one of the big Democrats in Congress was tearing apart the policy of the leadership of which Palmer is a cog, and Howard W. Jones, president of the Central Democratic Club, was raising his voice and squandering forty cents in telegraphic message to one Green in Philadelphia that there were no free tickets to the Jefferson dinner. Mr. Green had charged that free transportation was being sent to members of the State committee for Tuesday's meeting. The State windmill admitted that although such actions in the Guffey days were considered a crime, but the State committee forgot to mention anything about the dinner and Mr. Jones had to rush into the breach.

Chairman Bromley has sent back to the windmill his order for a free ticket, but up to date no reorganizers are announced as having returned the transportation. It is loudly proclaimed that the machine has to depend upon contributions, which by the way, are to be probed by Congress as a result of the scandals over post offices in York, Adams and Schuylkill counties, but some Democrats are wondering who is paying the bill for the Palmer-McCormick tours, especially whether the State committee is footing the cost or whether candidates are putting up.

Knives Above Board To-night the Central Club will have its Jefferson dinner. The Ryanites celebrated the birthday of Jefferson on the date in the old style calendar and the reorganizers are taking the new style date. They can not even agree on a date to honor the patron saint of their party. There will be 700 or 800 Democrats, men of all factions, at the dinner and all knives will be above board. Although there are Ryan men in the club and some who will attend the dinner, the speaking list will not represent that faction. A big committee headed by Postmaster Sites will meet the secretaries and escort them to the hall. Many Democrats from throughout the State who have come here to attend the State committee meeting to-morrow will be present, including members of the State committee. Secretary Bryan, who has taken a position as the leading peace advocate of the nation, has sent his regrets.
