

JEFFERSON DINNER
LARGELY ATTENDED

Secretary Daniels, Congressman Palmer and Others Deliver Addresses

DEMOCRATS OUT IN FORCE

Committeemen Here For State Meeting Today Are Among the Guests

CONGRESSMAN PALMER He and Secretary Daniels Guests of Honor at Central Club Dinner

The Central Democratic club excelled even the Jefferson dinner of 1913 when it had William Jennings Bryan as its orator in its celebration of the birthday of the patron saint of Democracy at the Chestnut street auditorium last night. It was the biggest Democratic dinner ever held in this part of the State and 350 men sat down, the smaller hall being thrown open to take care of those who desired to attend. Hundreds more, including probably 250 women, crowded the hall to hear the speeches. The hall was decorated elaborately, the star spangled banner and the Pennsylvania and State flags being featured, while the State flag of North Carolina and the official flag of the Secretary of the Navy were in view as special compliments to the orator of the evening, Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy. Aside from the attendance, which included many Democrats here to-day's meeting of the State Committee, and the enthusiasm when references to the "promised land" were made, the most striking thing was the way in which Mr. Daniels, the cabinet representative of the Wilson administration, espoused the cause of the machine ticket. Secretary of State Bryan, the apostle of peace and decelerator of internecine warfare, sent a letter of regret and Secretary of Labor "Billy" Wilson did not show up. So it was left to Secretary Daniels to do the lauding and he did it with the patted Palmer and McCormick and Creasy on the back in utter disregard of the fact that they are being strongly opposed for nomination by the men now in control of the national and State Democratic machines. To make the notice from the White House all the more plain he boosted Guthrie and Morris two men conspicuous in the factional warfare of the Democracy in Pennsylvania, and never chipped about the existence of men favored for nomination by thousands of Democrats who resent machine rule.

Never Mentioned Cleveland. Secretary Daniels got perilously close to a reference to the men who sustained the Democratic party in Pennsylvania before the present bosses got the grip of the machine by praising the party in Pennsylvania for "constancy all these years" and for "keeping alive the Democratic

French Women Say:
Sage and Quinine
To Darken Hair

If you desire to restore gray hair to its youthful color perfectly and evenly get a large bottle of LeMay's Cream of Sage and Quinine. This is a famous French recipe, costs but little, makes you look younger, and, besides being a safe remedy for gray and faded hair, it is one grand hair tonic. It stops itching scalp almost instantly, prevents the hair from falling out, banishes dandruff, and causes the hair to grow beautiful, lustrous and luxuriant. It is a purely vegetable remedy—not a dye—and druggists everywhere report that customers are delighted with this old French recipe.—Advertisement.

An Ideal Fireless Cooker
Ought to Be in Every Home

If you spend a half hour at the Basement demonstration, this week, of the Ideal Fireless Cooker, you'll never be a satisfied housekeeper until you have one of these fuel-saving cooking devices in your kitchen.

It isn't necessary for us to say here how the Ideal Fireless Cooker is constructed with its water sealed top, nor how it bakes and roasts and steams and stews. A practical lesson made possible to a visit to us this week of an expert woman from the Ideal factory, will answer any question that might arise.

You'll like the principle of fireless cooking if you attend to-morrow's demonstration.

O-Cedar Mop and Polish
Demonstration

With house cleaning so near at hand every housewife who comes to the store this week will be interested in the O-Cedar Mop and Polish demonstration, in the Basement.

One of the best things about O-Cedar is the ease with which it produces a high, lasting luster, and it requires less rubbing that you've had to exert with other mops and polishers. The mops are in two sizes, $1.00 and $1.50. The polish can be had in 4-ounce to 1-gallon cans, 25c to $2.50.

Presbytery Holds Its Spring Session Today

With a hundred clergymen in attendance the spring session of the Carlisle Presbytery opened this afternoon at the Covenant Presbyterian church, Fifth and Peffer streets. The Rev. Edwin H. Kellogg, Carlisle, presided as moderator at the opening meeting. The singing was loudly applauded every time he appeared. The singing and the music were fine, but it was noticed that Hartman got a lot of applause. He's one of the big men in that new Democratic League.

After two sessions devoted to business tomorrow again there will be a popular session. In view of it, all

Presbyterian churches in town will dispense with the usual Wednesday evening prayer meeting. At this session the Rev. Dr. James McFunkin, Oakdale, will speak on "Home Missions in Pennsylvania" and the Rev. Dr. John E. Tuttle, York, on "A Call for Matchless Opportunities."
