

CENTRAL GIRLS CAN LEARN ALL ABOUT MANAGING HOME

New Courses to Give Students Wide Training in Care of the Household

CAN LEARN "FINE ARTS"

Special Provisions Made Under New Plans For Those Who Study Music and Painters

Two years' instruction in "burnt" leather or other craftwork is included in the proposed "fine arts" curriculum for the girls of the Central High School, which will be one of the seven new courses adopted Friday evening by the school board. Craftwork, drawing and painting will constitute one of the sixteen "units" necessary to obtain a diploma, and the studies will be one the student programs four times each week.

The "fine arts" course, a cultural course for girls as it is called, is modeled in some respects after the domestic science or "home economics" course. While the fundamental are different, there is a similarity of choice of electives. The course in home economics, however, extends throughout the four years; the first two years of the fine arts course are the same as in the domestic science, and the other regular courses, except the normal.

In the third year of the fine arts course the pretty High School Junior begins the serious study of how to paint, to draw and to "do" burnt leather and other work. More attention will be devoted to music, and in addition to the history of music, she will have to go in for vocal training twice a week. English and English history are the other regular studies and she will have a choice of two studies from these electives: Geometry, Latin, French, German, Greek, domestic chemistry, physiology and dressmaking, with public speaking as an optional choice.

In the senior year of the same course there will be the final year of drawing, painting and craftwork, American history and civics, music.

President Wilson Puts His Trust Policy Into One Bill in Congress

Washington, April 15.—Important changes in the Administration's program of anti-trust legislation are proposed in a bill introduced in the House by Representative Clayton, chairman of the Committee on the Judiciary.

By direction of President Wilson the anti-trust program, heretofore made up of four tentative bills, is embodied in one measure. It is the opinion of the Administration's leaders that it will be easier to pass one anti-trust bill than a series of four.

The revised program softens the restrictive features of the original bills in some respects. This is notably the case in the provisions dealing with holding companies. Other features of the revised program are more drastic than those provided in the first instance.

This is true in the matter of the prohibitions against interlocking directorates. In the anti-trust bills as originally presented subsidiary concerns representing the legitimate growth of corporations were prohibited. Under the revised program the holding company prohibition does not apply to subsidiaries of this character.

The new feature of the new anti-trust program that is expected to cause a lot of trouble in a political way is to be found in the provisions dealing with labor.

Father Sues Son to Get Back His Farm

Father and son, the former white-haired and bent with the burden of 78 years, the latter fast graying with the years of middle-age, appeared as plaintiff and defendant in an ejectment suit in April Common Pleas Court before President Judge Kunkel to-day, when Moses Minkner sued his son, John, for the recovery of the Minkner farm, in Fox's Valley. The aged man contends he was forced to leave the farm because he wasn't given enough to eat.

This case was occupying President Judge Kunkel's attention in No. 1 room while Judge Henry disposed of two trespass suits against the Harrisburg Railways Company in No. 2. Elmer E. Hummel, a Deputy Prothonotary, who sues the company for damage to his auto, won a verdict of $91.75. While the case of Kasimir Posega against the company for damages growing out of the death by a trolley car of Posega's daughter, was settled for $700.

ODD FELLOWS PLAN TO MAKE THIS CITY LODGE HEADQUARTERS

Old Fight to Transfer Grand Lodge Offices Will Be Resumed at Session in May

1,200 DELEGATES ARE COMING

Argument Will Be Put Forth That Harrisburg Is More Accessible Than Philadelphia

As the time draws near for the ninety-first annual session of the grand lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, to be held here the week of May 17, intimations that there will be a renewal of agitation to transfer the grand lodge offices from Philadelphia to Harrisburg are again rife in Odd Fellows' circles.

It is said to-day that there will probably be a strong effort to bring the offices to this city, and that if the movement gathers the strength it appears to be gaining, the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce will be asked to co-operate in securing a site for the erection of a building.

Such an attempt was made some years ago, but was not successful. It has grown out of the alleged difficulties of the management of the offices in Philadelphia on the grounds of expense, and also the argument is advanced that the offices should be located in a city more accessible to all parts of the State, thus economizing time and money of officers who have to do business with the order. Also it is advanced that there are more past grands within a radius of fifty miles of Harrisburg than in any other section of the State, and as these men have jurisdiction of the various schools and homes of the Odd Fellows, that it would be a great deal more convenient for the management of affairs to have the grand lodge offices located in Harrisburg.

Change Constitution According to some members of the order, particularly the Philadelphia contingent, the interpretation of the constitution requires the permanent residence of the offices in Philadelphia. It is said that the constitution is capable of a different interpretation, but even if construed so as to permit of no other site for the official headquarters of the order in Philadelphia, then, according to the plans of the insurgents, a move to amend the constitution, as to permit of the removal of the offices will precede the direct attack toward getting the headquarters here.

In whatever way this agitation may result, Harrisburg is planning to make the coming session one of the most successful in the history of the order. Committees appointed were announced to-day and they will meet April 24 at Steelton, in connection with the anniversary celebration of

PRINCIPAL FIGURES IN MEXICAN CRISIS

The refusal of Mexico to accede to Admiral Henry T. Mayo's demand that the Stars and Stripes be honored by the customary salute from the guns of the Federals at Tampico was the action that caused President Wilson to finally assume a very militant attitude toward Mexico, inciting him to order the cream of the United States Navy to proceed to Mexican waters under command of Admiral Badger, the head of the Atlantic fleet. It is generally believed that this extraordinary naval demonstration on the part of Uncle Sam in Mexican waters will bring President Huerta to his senses and at least cause him to seriously consider the possibility of intervention on the part of the United States.

99-Year Old Woman to Turn First Dirt For New Church

Oldest Member of Wesley Congregation to Be Given Honor of Throwing Out First Shovelful

The oldest members of the Wesley Union A. M. E. Zion Church and probably the oldest member of any church in this city, will turn the first shovelful of earth next Monday afternoon when ground is broken for the building of the new Wesley Union Church at Foster and Ash streets. The oldest member is Mrs. Henrietta Jones, of 128 Indian street. "Henry" Jones, as she is known, is 99 years old.

Headed by the Perseverance Band, the congregation will form in a line in front of the old church in South street on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock and will proceed to the new site where the ground breaking program will be presented. The program will be opened with an address by the pastor, the Rev. J. Francis Lee. Following his address the entire congregation will sing "Zion." The Rev. I. B. Turner, pastor of the Harris Zion African Methodist Episcopal Church, and the Rev. W. H. Marshall, pastor of the Methodist Church at Mechanicsburg, will deliver addresses.

And then will come the ground breaking with the nearly century-old negroes at the shovel.

Paraffin Bath Heated to 125 Degrees Is New Rheumatism Treatment

Paris, April 15.—A paraffin wax bath, heated to 125 degrees Fahrenheit, is a new treatment for rheumatism, sciatica, gonorrhea and kindred ailments, as described by Dr. Barthélemy Sandfort at the Academy of Medicine last night.

The physician, finding that superheated wax applied to wounds, burns and ulcers removed all pain and caused them to heal rapidly, was led to believe that it might be advantageously applied to the whole body. Accordingly he went to an oil refinery and got into a vat containing 100 gallons of wax at a temperature of 140 degrees. Not only did this cause no burning, but it resulted in a pleasant sensation. A number of patients were then put through the same process, with results that exceeded the physician's expectations.

Dr. Sandfort communicated his discoveries of the properties of hot wax to Dr. Alexis Carrel, of the Rockefeller Institute, New York, who is said to have used it with great success in connection with skin grafting experiments.

R., of this place, will hold a double anniversary celebration in their halls in this place next Friday evening. Although the anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg is the real event, the local post will observe the anniversary of the surrender of General Lee and also the forty-seventh anniversary of the institution of the local post. The Rev. H. C. Rose, of the Lewisburg Lutheran Church, and the Rev. J. E. Kauffman, of the Christian Church, will make the addresses of the evening. Scholars from the Lewisburg high school will sing, and there will be several other features of the program.

MILLIONS IN MERCHANDISE TO GO THROUGH CANAL

By Associated Press Washington, D. C., April 15.—Evidence of the extent of the traffic which may be expected to pass through the Panama canal are given in figures made public to-day by the Department of Commerce, which show that in 1913 two small isthmian railways carried $100,000,000 worth of merchandise brought by vessels from the United States and later shipped to other ports in the United States and foreign countries.

BIG ARMY TRANSPORTS PLACED IN READINESS

Marines Will Be Landed at Tampico as Soon as Ships Reach Harbor if Necessary; Constitutionalists Are Beginning to Leave City

Washington, April 15.—Huerta will salute the American flag or the Atlantic fleet will seize Vera Cruz or Tampico. What happens afterward depends on Huerta.

That is President Wilson's determination. Leaders in Congress with whom he conferred to-day agreed there was ample precedent for such action.

Not only the Tampico incident but a long series of indignities offered to the United States to the conspicuous exclusion of other foreign nations represented in Mexico, has convinced the President and his advisers that the United States has been singled out for "man"estations of ill-will and contempt.

Official dispatches to Charge O'Shaughnessy have been intercepted by the Mexican censor.

A ship's orderly ashore in full uniform in Vera Cruz on business of the United States was arrested and released, while a nominal punishment was meted out to the local officials. These hitherto unpublished facts were disclosed to-day in an official statement.

President Wilson told his advisers he stands for peace but is determined to force Huerta to recognize the honor and dignity of the United States.

While these developments were taking place in Washington the ships of the Atlantic fleet were beginning to move toward Tampico. The first of Profit Sharing This is the age of profit-sharing. Business men are finding that to give their employees a share of the profits is stimulating to the employees and helpful to the business.

Co-operative advertising between merchant and manufacturer in the local newspapers is, in a way, a phase of this profit-sharing movement.

The manufacturer brings to the merchant a certain share of his profits — by advertising in the newspapers of the merchant's city.

These profits in turn create more business, and when the merchant is shrewd enough to do his share in pushing the goods, the increased sales are well worth-while, both for the merchant and for the manufacturer.

If any manufacturer who is interested in newspaper advertising will address the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York, it will be glad to answer questions. Booklet on request.
