"DICKENS—A MIGHTY BENEFACTOR OF MANKIND"

PICKWICK PAPERS:

The book that makes the whole world laugh—Sam Weller, Alfred Jingle, Mr. Winkle—A famous club.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL:

"Scrooge, Bob Cratchit, Tiny Tim—household words in a million homes."

OLD CURIOSITY SHOP:

Little Nell and her Grandfather—lovable characters that will never die.

DAVID COPPERFIELD:

Dickens wrote his own life into this story, and put his heart into it as well—"Barkis is Willin'—Uriah Heep, Mr. Micawber, Agnes.

THE CRICKET ON THE HEARTH:

A fairy tale of the home, Peerybingle, Dot, Caleb Plumber.

A TALE OF TWO CITIES:

Sidney Carton, and his sacrifice—The greatest story of the French Revolution.

THE CHIMES:

Mag, Toby and Alderman Cute—A Goblin story.

OLIVER TWIST:

Bill Sikes and Nancy, Fagin and Charley Bates—A powerful romance that changed the laws of England.

When Dickens wrote he was heard to laugh, and the sound of his laughter has echoed 'round the world. He is the greatest of humorists, and the characters he created are as real and alive today as when they sprang from the brain of their creator. He employed laughter in two ways: to arouse our love, and to arouse our scorn. With the little foibles of mankind he made merry, and excited our sympathetic mirth. But he also leveled his laughter at meanness, injustice and oppression; and with this weapon of ridicule he killed many wrongs.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE PARTY

West Fairview, Pa., April 17.—A birthday surprise party was held at the home of Charles Gerlock, at Enola, on Tuesday evening in honor of Mr. Gerlock's birthday. At a late hour a buffet supper was served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gerlock, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Waller, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Bowers, Mr. and Mrs. George Kinter, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Conrad, Mrs. Kline, Miss Alverta Kline, John Kline, Bayard Bowers, Harry Bowers, Merle Kinter and Harry Kinter, Enola; Miss Marie Weaver, Miss Margaretta Bailey, Miss Jessie Weir, Donald Montgomery, Horace Gross, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gerlock, Harrisburg; Gracia Landis, Mae Froehlich, Alice Payne, Carlisle; Beatrice Miller, Paoli; Marlin Altland, Jeanne Kelley, Philadelphia; Rosa McGowan, Ray and Forney, Columbia; Mrs. Anna Foote, Mr. and Mrs. J. ### THE USE OF LEFT-OVERS

Celery tops dried and kept in a paper bag furnish excellent flavor for soups. Water in which vegetables are cooked contains flavoring, mineral matter and sometimes starch. It makes a desirable addition to soup. Potato water should not be used, as it is considered by some to be unwholesome. Rice water is rich in delicate, well cooked starch, and may be nicely used to furnish thickening as well as liquid to a soup. Onion water may be used in a vegetable soup where meat is used. Water in which cabbage, cauliflower or turnips have been cooked furnish a foundation for a soup when these flavors are palatable. Careful cooks buy few materials for every-day soup making. The left-over bits of meat (which have not been handled or served), the juices from the meat plate, the water from the vegetables and the left-over vegetables furnish sufficient materials. Small quantities of raw uncooked vegetables may be scraped, cut fine and cooked in a small amount of water. To them add some stock from fresh meat or ham liquor, season and serve with bits of toasted bread. The vegetables should not be cooked in the ham liquor, or strong flavor may develop. Tomato can't be nicely with ham stock, as do potatoes and celery. Okra combines nicely with corn, or with both corn and tomatoes. Any of these soups from left-overs may be thickened by adding to them a few dry crusts of bread; allow them to soften and press through a colander, reheat and serve as a substantial dish for lunch or supper.—Heart of the House, in Woman's World for March.

Funeral will be held Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. The Rev. B. H. Hart, pastor of the Fifth Street Methodist Episcopal Church, will officiate. Burial will be private in the Paxtang Cemetery.
