Why We
Wash Clothes So Nice and Clean

A friend remarked the other day, "How is it that the clothes you launder are always so nice and clean and sweet while others launder clothes that are streaky and so dull?"

He was so impressed with what we told and showed him that we decided to write an ad about it. We use the finest scap, and the finest starch. We employ the best labor we can find. We have the ideas of what is good laundering and the ability to carry them out.
