RAILROAD NEWS

LIQUOR IS BARRED ON READING TRAINS

Order Includes Private Cars on Specials; Post Notices Over System

Liquor will be barred from all Reading passenger trains on the Reading Railroad system. This order was posted yesterday at all stations, and sent to passenger agents on every division. Letters accompanying this order also give notice that this order will be rigidly enforced.

In the notice to passenger agents attention is called to the enforcement of this order in making contracts with organizations. That bottle in the grip and the dry drink in the private room at the end of the car must be cut out. The order says:

"It has been decided by the management that no more contracts may be made with organizations, parties, which involve the furnishing of a car or cars, or any facilities for the selling or distributing of intoxicating liquors, no matter whether the equipment of the train is available or not, and this is to instruct you to that effect, and also to say that if any contracts have been made involving such a facility that must be cancelled. This order also affects all other trains.

Curtailing Supplies.—That the program of curtailing expenses on the railroads is a sincere effort to economize is shown by the fact that many of the facilities ordinarily employed at offices by officials as well as those in the ranks are being cut off. In an office of the Pennsylvania the act was being lamented yesterday

BELL AND TODD IN PASSAGES AT ARMS

Attorney General and Predecessor Cross Swords in the Dauphin County Court

John C. Bell and his predecessor, M. Hampton Todd, crossed swords in the Dauphin County Court today in the argument on the motion of the Dauphin County, W. Powell to quash the mandamus proceeding to compel him to pay income from the automobile license income to the Highway Commission for maintenance of State highways. Mr. Bell interjected some remarks into Mr. Todd's argument which was in answer to his own and the court's, very lively passages. When the court adjourned for the recess Judge Kunkel remarked that he hoped everyone would be in a better humor in the afternoon.

The whole suit is to have the money from automobile licenses paid to the Highway Commission, as provided by the act of 1913, for use on the State Highways. The fiscal officers contend that such payment would be contrary to the specific appropriation act of 1909, which Mr. Todd drew up. The motion argued today, however, was a motion by John M. Freeland, Pittsburgh, counsel for the Auditor General, to quash the mandamus on the ground that the Attorney General had no business bringing the suit, which should have been brought by the Highway Commissioner.

Mr. Bell contended that he was within his rights as chief law officer because of maintenance of the roads was a public duty of the highest kind and that the people had a right to have every effort made to have kept up the highways which they have owned from the days of Penna. Mr. Todd answered Mr. Bell, going into the merits of the whole case and causing the free discussion.

Commissioner signed—Governor Tener today signed the commission for Hans Wagner, the noted shortstop, as a member of the State Fisheries Commission. He will take office next month.

Committee Meets.—The good roads committee of the Pennsylvania Good Roads Association is meeting today at the State House. Proposed laws are being discussed.

In Washington.—Dr. J. George Becht, secretary of the State Board of Education, was in Washington today on department business. The board will meet next Tuesday.

Attending Conference.—Commissioner Jackson and members of his staff are in Scranton to attend a conference on safety matters, it being the idea to get away from those accidents which are preventable in factories.

It Was Smallpox.—State health inspectors yesterday found that cases of supposed chickenpox are smallpox and that quarantine was needed in Crawford county districts.

Just Waiting.—Adjutant General Stewart said today that he was still waiting for some orders from Washington in regard to the National Guard and that meanwhile there was no occasion for anyone to get excited.

Sold Overweight.—One of the oddest conditions found in the enforcement of the sealers law is that in some counties of America, we find that they are selling overweight. Underweight is not uncommon, but these are the first instances where the dealer was doing himself. Most of the cases are from northern counties.

Governor Returns.—Governor Tener returned today from Pittsburgh, where he spent several days.

The Labor Laws.—Agents of the Department of Labor and Industry descended on several manufacturers in Philadelphia who had been employing people overtime. The arrests caused considerable stir.

WANT MORE PLAYGROUNDS FOR STEELTON

Agitation for more playgrounds and letter playgrounds equipment will be started at a meeting of the First Presbyterian Church this evening, when W. E. Dickinson, associate secretary of the Playgrounds and Recreation Association, will deliver an address. That the borough needs more places where the children may gather for clean, healthy recreation is strikingly shown in the above photographs taken at various parts of the borough. The two upper etchings show how children gather along South Third street, and the lower etching shows how the boys play in Christian street.

ODD FELLOWS TO KEEP 95TH ANNIVERSARY

Steelton Lodge, No. 184, Has Elaborate Ceremonies For That Purpose

With elaborate ceremonies Steelton Lodge, 184, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, will celebrate its ninety-fifth anniversary in the lodge hall, in the Steelton Trust Building, North Front street, this evening. At the same time and place the Past Grand's Association of the Southern District of Pennsylvania will meet.

A varied program of instrumental and vocal music and readings has been prepared by the entertainment committee, of which M. Rudy Alleman is the chairman. Features of the program will be solos by Luke Bitt and Robert Millard; readings by Miss Anna Swartz, a duet by Misses Fernster and Dayhoff, a violin solo by Henry Shope and several selections by the Hillcrest Quartet. The Rev. A. K. Wier, pastor of Centenary United Brethren Church, will deliver the principal address.

Short speeches will be made by officers of the lodge and several of the visitors. Many guests will be present from Harrisburg, Middletown and New Cumberland. Middletown and Harrisburg will both send large delegations in special trolley cars.
