Special to The Telegraph

Newport, Pa., April 27.—The Men's Association of Newport, the M. A. N., was launched at a most enthusiastic meeting held in Centennial hall at which William G. Loy presided, with Francis A. Fry, secretary. The purpose and interest of the association are well described in the preamble to the constitution which was adopted at this meeting as follows: "We, the undersigned citizens of Newport and vicinity, feeling the necessity and desirability of an organization for the good of the community and our own benefit, have joined together, believing that by concerted action, we can best serve the public interest, thereby making our own lives more pleasant and of greater usefulness. It is our hope and belief, that such an association to which all good citizens of Newport and vicinity are eligible, will afford a closer bond of social intercourse which will bring all men to a better understanding of their duties and promote the best interests of the community. With this end in view, we propose to make the cost of membership within the reach of all men, keeping in mind that increased comfort and enlarged interests, both socially and in a physical way, tend to higher moral standards."

Thrilling Experiences of Pennsylvania Traveler

George W. Missemmer, of Mount Joy, Passes Through All Sorts of Exciting Incidents in Foreign Countries

Mount Joy, Pa., April 27.—George Missemmer, of Shanghai, China, son of J. R. Missemmer, editor of the Mount Joy Star and News, has escaped an extraordinary chain of fatalities and untoward events since he left his ancestral hearth. He has been through a cholera epidemic and insurrection in the Philippines, the bombardment at Port Arthur, and through the revolution and insurrection in China. The place where he spent his vacation in Japan last summer is so close to the seat of the recent volcanic eruptions that several inches of ashes fell there. In visiting America, two years ago, both going and coming, he went through terrific storms. Nearing Victoria, the storm was so fierce that the captain turned his vessel around and steamed back for six hours, so as to lessen the force of the wind. Coming back home a storm was in its height, when the wireless telegraph flashed the news of the Titanic disaster. Going east he was hauled through the worst sand storm ever experienced in the Mojave Desert. Coming up from the South a train ahead of the one he was on jumped the track and rolled down an embankment and he saw it lying on its side. He then passed by. Going west the Missouri floods were at their height and he arrived in El Paso just as the second revolution in Mexico broke out. The American cavalry was forming in the City Square and he was unable to fulfill his cherished hope of going to Mexico, as the cars across the bridge to Juarez had just stopped running. When he came back to Shanghai he found himself out of a job, because the paper had gone out of existence while he was in America.

Dozens of other similar events could be mentioned, but in spite of all these vicissitudes he always maintained good spirits and good health. There never was a day when he was not able to do a day's work, with one exception, when a sudden onrush of packed tobacco fell out of a warehouse on him and knocked him out for a week.

Fletcher Proclaims Martial Law For All Parts of Vera Cruz

Washington, D. C., April 27.—Refusal of Federal officials in Vera Cruz to resume their duties under direct control of the American forces—resulting in confusion over the city's administration, was one of the reasons given by Read Admiral Fletcher for ordering martial law. The text of the proclamation was given out by the Navy Department as follows: "The officials of the Mexican federation and of the State of Vera Cruz, who were in office in Vera Cruz at the time of the landing of the United States forces under my command, have informed me of their inability to continue in the performance of their functions of their respective offices. Although the municipal authorities of the city, with a fine consideration for the interests of their fellow citizens, have in reply to my request resolved to continue in the performance of their respective duties, there is no provision in the municipal laws and ordinances for the performance of many important functions of government.

May Be Extended

"These facts have created a condition which requires the adoption of different measures than those proposed in my proclamation of the 22d instant. Therefore, in order to afford to the inhabitants of Vera Cruz and of the other territories hereafter described the privileges of a government exercising all the functions necessary for the establishment and maintenance of the fundamental rights of men, I do hereby, under my authority as commanding officer of the military forces of the United States of America, proclaim that martial law exists in the city of Vera Cruz and the territory thereunto now occupied by the forces under my command, and that such law shall be hereafter extended to such additional territory as may hereafter be occupied by my forces.

"I further proclaim, in accordance with the laws of nations and the usages of customs and conventions of my own and other governments, that I am vested with the power and responsibility of government in all its functions and branches throughout the territory above described. The proper administration of such government by martial law will be provided for in regulations to be issued from time to time as required by the commanding officers of the forces of the United States of America.

"Done at the City of Vera Cruz this twenty-sixth day of April, one thousand and nine hundred and fourteen. (Signed) F. F. FLETCHER, Rear Admiral United States Navy, Commanding the forces of the United States of America now occupying Vera Cruz.
