Our Great Spring Clearance of Suits For Misses and Women

Begins To-morrow Morning at 8 O'clock

THIS SALE INCLUDES OUR ENTIRE STOCK OF SUITS. EVERY GARMENT IN THE LINE WILL BE OFFERED AT A REDUCED PRICE

This is the first general clearance movement of the women's garment section and is one that will be of the utmost importance to every woman...

The Former Prices of These Suits Were $12.50 to $37.50. Clearance Prices Are $7.50 to $14.98

There are over three hundred suits in this sale and they are in the season's most fashionable fabrics, such as crepe, crepe poplin, imported wool poplins, silk moire, wool moire, silk poplin, gabardine, shepherd checks hairlines, ratine and imported and domestic serges.

On account of the greatly reduced prices none of these suits will be sent on approval, none laid aside on part payments, none sent C. O. D., and none charged. Under no circumstances can any be exchanged or returned.

Bleese Staff Member Killed During Quarrel

Special to The Telegraph Laurens, S. C., May 13.—John M. Cannon, a lawyer of this city, Judge Advocate on the staff of Governor Cole L. Bleese, and a former member of the State Legislature, was shot and instantly killed at Gray Court, near here, by Joseph G. Sullivan, following a quarrel in a magistrate's court. So far as is known the killing had no political significance. Cannon and Sullivan quarreled during the trial of Sullivan's brother. When the court adjourned the principals walked away in the same direction and the argument was resumed. Sullivan, it is charged, fired five times, four shots taking effect. Sullivan is a member of one of the largest and most influential families in this section of the State. He is a political leader in his community. Cannon was known as an ardent supporter of Governor Bleese and himself had been in politics for several years. He was a young man and only recently married. Sullivan is in jail here.

ROSIE SMITH AND HER PET LION CUBS WITH RINGLING BROTHERS' CIRCUS

Some little girls are fond of dolls, who is not one bit afraid of such jungle playmates, which she teases and fondles every day of her life. Rosie is the daughter of "Boss" Charlie Smith, the modern Noah without whiskers who presides over the Ringling menagerie. Every summer, as soon as school is over, Rosie joins her father and travels with the circus over the country. The lion cubs with which Rosie plays, were born at Baraboo, Wis., the winter quarters of the Ringling circus, and Rosie was almost the first person they saw after their eyes had become accustomed to the light of day. When the cubs were a week old, Rosie was permitted to take them from the cage and pet them, despite the disapproving snarls of Quennie, their mother. As they grew older and stronger, the cubs were allowed the freedom of the menagerie and the little girl would play with them for hours at a time. As Spring approached and the time came for the big circus to shake off its winter lethargy, and move from Baraboo to the Coliseum in Chicago, where the show opens its season, the little girl was almost heartbroken at the thought of losing her playmates. Finally it was promised that she would be permitted to visit them in Chicago and later on, when school was over, could join the circus and travel with her father. Rosie went to Chicago and while there she decided that the cubs were old enough to have names, so one afternoon she gathered several of the other children of the circus in the menagerie and formally christened the little animals Jack and Jill. Then she led them out to the sidewalk in front of the big gray stone building and the three had their pictures taken together. Jack and Jill and Rosie are almost inseparable and they roam the big menagerie tent together at all hours, the best musical treats of the season. You'll want to hear their exquisitely rendered program including selections that are bound to please the tastes of all music lovers. On the bill the Perry Sisters add a pleasing specialty of singing and dancing and Murphy and Matthieu take care of the smiles of the bill, offering a laughfest that would be hard indeed to surpass. Thursday will witness the installation of a bill comprising such artists as the Denning Trio in songs and dances; Redington and Grant, the bounding tramps, and Burns and Acher, comedy and singing duo. "In Royal Bondage," an excellent Pathe feature film will be a special attraction in to-day's moving picture program. Advertisement.

Victoria Theater Tomorrow, at the Victoria, a new departure in the movie world will be shown. Hagenbeck and Wallace's circus will be thrown on the screen as one of the features. The arrival of the first advertising car unloading the circus, putting up the big tent, the parade and the entire circus from start to finish will be shown. The film is promised to be one of the great spectacles of the motion picture world and, in that it differs so widely from the ordinary run of the present day film should hold great interest. It will be shown for one day only. Advertisement.
