BIG TIME SATURDAY FOR HIGH SCHOOL BOYS

Many Entries Received Too Late; Reading Inquires About the Annual Trophy

High schools throughout Pennsylvania are awakening to the fact that an important track meet is scheduled for Harrisburg on Saturday. There is a big rush on the part of many schools to get in. It is too late, however, and there is no argument which gives them the right to be considered at this late day.

Dr. Charles B. Fager, Jr., chairman of the Harrisburg Athletic Committee, sent letters to York, Lancaster and other cities last night with copies of entry blanks attached showing that plenty of time was given all schools to enter. The schools added to the list yesterday sent their entries early enough, but they went astray in the mails.

With favorable weather a record attendance is looked for. Inquiries have been received from colleges and schools within a radius of sixty miles of Harrisburg regarding seating capacity and stating that large delegations were coming to Harrisburg.

To Look Over Promising Material "Shorty" Miller, the Harrisburg star, is coming from State College and will bring along a large number of students. The Penn State alumni members in Harrisburg are boosting hard for the meet and will have a large representation. Carlisle will send a big crowd, and as the upper end of Dauphin county will be represented by athletes from Millersburg, Lykens and Elizabethtown, students from those towns have sent word that there will be a large representation of rooters at the meet.

Reading Asks Explanation The Reading high school authorities have written a letter to the Harrisburg Track Athletic Committee requesting an explanation of the ruling on the awarding of the high school shield this year. The Reading Times says:

Reading Puzzled "Reading High track supporters are puzzled over the action of the Harrisburg Track Athletic Committee and their present attitude toward the final disposition of the trophy, oak and bronze shield, the trophy for the annual Harrisburg meet, to be held this year on Saturday next.

A tie already exists and has since 1911. Central Manual, Philadelphia and Reading High each have two legs on the shield. Central Manual's successor school is the West Philadelphia High School. While few contestants from that school attended the meet in 1912, the year after the disbanding of the Manual school, no one wore their colors in 1912. Nor will they this year, for the Middle States meet is held on Saturday at Franklin Field and West Philadelphia is in the running for high honors.

Up to the Winner? "It is up to Reading to break the tie this year if it is to be broken, but that does not seem likely in view of the strength of the Harrisburg Tech, which is looked upon as the logical winner of the meet.

The decision to select the winner by the high total of the number of points scored is not in accordance with the understanding among the locals as to the final award of the trophy. The conditions announced in 1908, the first year in which the shield was the trophy, was that the shield should become the permanent property of the team winning the annual meet the greatest number of times, not the team having the largest score."

Issue Tickets and Roll Cinder Track For the Big Meet

Tickets of admission to the annual State Inter-high school track and field meet on the Island Saturday were sent out to-day by M. Harvey Taylor, commissioner of Parks and Public Property.

The sale of the tickets begins at the Tunis stationery store to-morrow. The holders of the tickets mailed by the Park Commissioner must be exchanged for the reserved seats before 6 o'clock this evening. After that hour the whole board will be exposed to the general public's choice.

Seats on the grandstand will be provided for the members of the old Park Commission, the City Planning Commission, the Board of Public Works and the heads of all the city departments.

That Commissioner Taylor and Assistant Superintendent Hoffert are working with the Harrisburg track athletic committee to make the affair a success is indicated by the time and labor the Park Department has already expended in putting the running track in shape. Two carloads of cinder have been placed on the circle and this has been rolled. The edges have been trimmed off in such a way as to permit five instead of four "alleys" for the runners.

Extra Inning Battle Gives Trenton Victory

Trenton, N. J., May 14.—Heckert's White Roses were hard losers yesterday. The Tigers nosed out in the eleventh inning, score 1 to 0.

In the second extra period, Horsey laid down a safe punt, and Hammond, who followed, did likewise. Yale came in for the ball and Hammond beat it out, but Yale made a wild throw to first to catch the runner, and Horsey scampured to third and Hammond took second. Lee Meyer then smashed the first ball on the nose for a blazing one-base whack that scored Horsey with the only run of the melee, bringing to a grand finale the splendid battle. The score by innings:

FEDS AGAIN IN COURT

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 14.—The Chicago Federal League baseball club filed its appeal yesterday in the Catcher Killefer case. The appeal is against the decision in favor of the Phillies, which was rendered by Judge Sessions, who denied an injunction sought by the Chicago Federals to restrain Killefer from playing with the Phillies. The appeal to-day asks that the injunction be granted. The appeal will probably not be taken up until the Fall term of court.
