BERRY BOXES ARE MARKED BY OUNCESCounty Inspector Boyer Discusses Methods of Dealers in County Districts

While City Sealers of Weights and Measures Harry D. Reel has issued a warning to the dealers in berries and fruits in the city to be watchful of the weight of the law's provisions requiring proper marking on the boxes of the weight of the contents, County Inspector of Weights and Measures Harry A. Boyer is exercising similar vigilance upon conditions in the county.

"Thus far we've had no trouble in the county districts," said Mr. Boyer to-day, "the dealers will obey the law. Of course, there are fewer hucksters in the streets in the towns outside of Harrisburg."

"Some of the dealers have adopted a unique method of complying with the spirit and letter of the law. They have marked their berry boxes in ounces instead of pounds or portions of pounds. Now a quart of berries should weigh just twenty-four ounces. The size of the boxes doesn't bother this chap at all; some of his boxes are marked for 'thirteen,' some 'fifteen' and 'sixteen' ounces and others more. It is really the proper legal way, for then no fault can be found."

"TWELFTH NIGHT" IN OPEN AIR
AT THE ACADEMY, JUNE 3

Clifford Devereux and his company, supported by Grace Fisher, who will play Shakespeare's Comedy "Twelfth Night," the evening of June third on the campus of the Harrisburg Academy, will give the performance in an open air theater, the stage being designed somewhat after the creek. Its stately columns of white standing out against nature's background, make a most ideal setting for the rendering of the immortal classic. The characters never seem more made of flesh and blood than in this al fresco setting; there seems to be a delightful intimacy between actor and audience which is most inspiring to both. The lighting is arranged by throwing floods of light from electric spot lamps upon the stage from different angles, giving a most soft beautiful effect. Beside Mr. Devereux and Miss Fisher, the more important members of the cast are Mr. Leslie Palmer, Mr. P. J. Kelley, Mr. Edwin Wolfe, Mr. George Smith, Mr. James Hagen, Mr. Alan Crosland and Miss Mary Holton.

Three Injured When Car
Crashes Into Automobile

Special to The Telegraph
Lebanon, May 13.—Three persons narrowly escaped serious injury and possible death, when a street car struck a taxicab in Market Square in this city, on Tuesday evening. Ray Allwein, the chauffeur and owner of the car, was thrown out and seriously injured. Two passengers, Miss Katie Barker, of South Lebanon township, and Miss Lydia Houck, of the Hotel Stratford, this city, were bruised and suffered from shock. The taxi was wrecked. The heavy shower was in progress at the time and the taxi-driver failed to see the approaching car.

Teachers' Training School
Commencement on May 22

The commencement exercises of the teachers' training school, to take place May 22 in the auditorium of the Technical High School this year, will consist of practical demonstrations of the art of "teaching the young idea how to shoot." Children who have been used as subjects by the teachers will cooperate and the classes will be conducted just as they would be in the schoolroom. The public will be invited to attend the exercises. The following program was announced to-day: Prayer, the Rev. William N. Yates; reading, first grade, Latona Dennis; nature work, Alice Buffington; piano solo, "Romio Capriccioso," Mendelssohn, Clarence Faust; reading, second grade, Miriam Brown; music, third grade, Helen Bright; essay, "The Use of the Story in Education," Sara Bankers; address, Superintendent L. E. McGinness; presentation of diploma, Harry A. Boyer, president of the Board of School Directors; benediction, the Rev. Dr. Yates.
