HOME VOTE WILL COUNT FOR MUCH

are using every means within their power to gain support and to overcome this Judge Kunkel needs every vote he can get in his home district and the surrounding counties where he is best known.

The Straw Vote

Friends of the judge say that the straw vote on the judicial situation taken by a Philadelphia newspaper counts for little as indicating the real situation, but they see much to encourage them in its rather indefinite and altogether inconclusive results.

There is an old story that Themistocles successfully led the Grecian army against Xerxes, the Persian, and that after the battle was over all of the Greek officers met and decided by ballot to whom the most honor was due for the victory. When the ballots were counted it was discovered that each officer had voted for himself as deserving the highest honor, but that every one had voted for Themistocles as second.

Start Fight For Child

Mr. Streightiff and his wife than instituted legal proceedings to get the child. Streightiff is a carpenter in the employ of the Pennsylvania railroad and owns his own home in Valley street, Marysville. He is also active in church circles. His lawyer thought they would have little trouble in getting possession of the child.

A writ of habeas corpus was granted and a hearing held. Judge Selbert, however, ordered the child remanded to the custody of the wealthy contractor for one year, but giving the plaintiffs the right to renew their application for possession of the child at the end of this time.

The writ was renewed recently and Wednesday was the day set for a hearing. Little Mary Alice was in court and saw her mother for the first time within the year. While the lawyers argued the legal points of the case the little girl sat opposite her mother.

At the conclusion of the lawyer's plea she drew a sigh of relief and leaned back. She seemed satisfied that the judge would give her back her daughter. As the judge began to speak she looked across the room to where her daughter sat and smiled.

Evidently she had misunderstood the judge's words. With a happy little cry she sprang across the room and gathered the child into her arms, kissing her many times. Only the mother had failed to hear the judge's words and no one wanted to tear her from her child. The wealthy contractor, however, rose and beckoned to a court attendant. The attendant touched the mother. Gently as though his duty was distasteful to him, he told her she must give up her daughter--that the judge had said so.

neighborhood feeling are laid aside he is the recognized leader among the bar for ability and fitness for the office.

Yet after all a straw vote among lawyers is not the best test of popular feeling. Judge Kunkel is distinctly the candidate of the people. He is not backed by any political party or organization, but his campaign is being taken directly to the voters and his fitness and record as a judge, particularly in the Capitol graft cases, is being urged upon them as deserving of recognition.

Spangler Opens New Piano Store in North Sixth Street

A. E. Spangler has opened a new piano store at 2112 North Sixth street, next door to his former location above Maclay street. He now has an attractive store room filled with good, reliable makes of pianos and player pianos. Years of persistent hustling with pianos of merit, sold at the most reasonable prices possible, has built up a business so successful that this new store room was necessary to display the increased stock and to properly care for the rapidly growing business. Mr. Spangler extends an invitation to all patrons and prospective buyers of pianos and player pianos to inspect the instruments and store room. Two Ounces of Flesh: or the Promise Fulfilled

[From the New York Sun.]

Among many costly thoughts on view in the national Democratic platform of 1912 this is the most precious: "The high cost of living is a serious problem in every American home. The Republican party, in its platform, attempts to escape from responsibility for present conditions by denying that they are due to a protective tariff. We take issue with them on this subject and charge that excessive prices result in a large measure from the high tariff laws enacted and maintained by the Republican party."

The high tariff laws have been laid low. The citadel of protection has been blown up. The sin stained surplus provided by the Payne-Aldrich tariff of iniquity has been transformed into an honest, a virtuous and a waxing deficit. American manufacturers, fattening in stupefying ease under the old wickedness, have had their noses turned to the grindstones by a Congress and an administration eager to educate, improve and reform the dull witted beneficiaries of protective greed.

These have not been equal to or greater for their educational privileges. They see the export of manufacturers and the import of manufacturers' materials dwindling. They see American industrial production shrink. Their wits seem not to have been increased by the competition to which the Adam Smith of Warp Twisting-in, the Hon. William C. Redfield, so yearned to subject them. Yet a Washington dispatch in Monday's Sun contained this triumphant vindication of the tariff and the Democratic method of lowering the cost of living:

"Meantime the talk about increased supplies of food and reduced prices through removal of duties on foodstuffs is making manifest its real qualities. The records of the six months show an importation of $3,900,000 pounds of fresh beef in that period or about two ounces a month for each individual in the United States.

"The official records of the Department of Commerce show that prices at which the importation occurred were more than 20 per cent. higher in March under the new law, than in September, the last month of the old law, while in many other of the articles, on which duties were reduced, the prices abroad were promptly advanced."

Two ounces of beef a month, twenty-four ounces of beef a year for every man, woman and child, an amount notably increased when allowance is made for babies, sucklings and vegetarians. What more can any country ask? If foodstuff prices are up, is it because people are better and therefore hungrier under the Democratic administration?

MOTHER CAN NOT GET HER CHILD

corpore sued out by Mrs. Robert A. Streightiff, of Marysville, for the possession of her pretty 5-year-old daughter by a former marriage. In his decision the judge remanded the child permanently into the custody of George and Hettie Snyder, a contractor and his wife of Liverpool. Snyder is reported to be wealthy. This decision ended a legal battle of more than a year for the possession of the child and is asserted by lawyers to be without a precedent.

PURE OLIVE OIL

Contains nearly 100% of nourishment, while the next most nutritious grains contains less than 90%, and vegetables very much less. Two tablespoonfuls of Pure Olive Oil contain more nourishment than one pound of meat, and does not overtax the digestive organs. The food value of Pure Olive Oil—providing the quality is right—has no equal, and its nutritive qualities are quickly assimilated by the system and transformed into healthy flesh.

To get the best Olive Oil one must be very particular as to what brand he buys, for all Olive Oils are neither pure nor of first quality. You will never buy any other brand of Olive Oil once you have purchased Olivese.
