How To Make a Pot Roast In an Aluminum Pan Without Water

Now and then you hear a woman say that she doesn't like to use aluminum ware because she fears it will burn the thing she wants to cook.

And because of erroneous beliefs of that kind Mrs. Yerkes, a direct representative of Wear Ever Aluminum Ware is in the Basement this week with a demonstration.

To-morrow Mrs. Yerkes will show how simple a matter it is to make a pot roast in an aluminum pan, without the use of water.

LIVELY INTEREST IN ELECTION IS SHOWN

of the lower house of the Legislature will also be nominated. It is the first opportunity for candidates for the United States Senate under the new federal constitutional amendment providing for the popular election of senators. It is also the first state-wide primary for state officers outside of the judiciary. The judicial candidates are being selected by nonpartisan ballots.

Senatorial Fight
In the Republican ranks Senator Boles Penrose is opposed for the senatorial nomination by J. Benjamin Dimmick, former mayor of Scranton. Representative A. Mitchell Palmer has Henry Budd, Philadelphia, as an opponent for the Democratic senatorial nomination, while Gifford Pinchot is unopposed for the Washington (Progressive) party nomination for senator. The Socialists and Prohibitionists also have unopposed candidates. There is a hard fight for the Democratic nomination for Governor between Vance C. McCormick, former mayor of Harrisburg, who has the support of the national administration, and Michael J. Ryan, city solicitor of Philadelphia. The campaign for this nomination was bitterly fought and both sides are claiming victory. The Republican organization is backing Martin G. Brumbaugh, superintendent of public schools of Philadelphia, for the Republican gubernatorial nomination and the leaders declare he will win by an overwhelming vote. The principal candidate against him is Joseph Cauffman, mayor of Johnstown.

Recipes For Wrinkles and Bad Complexions

Of all the beauty recipes that have been published, here are two that have successfully stood the test of time:
Wrinkle Remover—One ounce powdered sassafras dissolved in pint witch hazel. Use as a wash lotion. It brings instantaneous results.
Face Peeler—Pure mercerized wax, applied at night like cold cream, only not rubbed in; wash off in the morning. It causes the worn-out skin to come off in tiny, almost invisible flakes, a little each day, until the fresh young skin is wholly in evidence. The beautiful rosetinted complexion thus obtained is not to be compared with one made over with cosmetics. If the old skin is marred with freckles, pimples or other blemishes, these defects are of course discarded with the skin itself. An ounce of the wax is sufficient in any case.
The ingredients named are inexpensive and can be found in any drug store.—Advertisement.

Lewis Has Support
William Draper Lewis, dean of the law school of the University of Pennsylvania, has the support of most of the Progressive leaders for the Washington party nomination for governor. The only candidate against him is Judge Charles N. Brumm, of Schuylkill county. Frank B. McClain, mayor of Lancaster, has little opposition for the Republican nomination for lieutenant-governor. William T. Creasy, candidate of the "reorganizers," is opposed for the Democratic nomination by John E. Jenkins, of Luzerne, who is supported by those who favor Ryan for governor. Percy F. Smith, of Allegheny, has no opposition for the Washington party nomination. Henry Houck, of Lebanon, stands alone for renomination as the Republican candidate for secretary of internal affairs. The Palmer-McCormick candidate for the Democratic nomination is George H. Roosevelt, of Cambria, while the Ryan supporters are back of William N. McNair, of Allegheny. Fred E. Lewis, of Allentown, is unopposed for the Washington party nomination.

There is a lively scramble for the four nominations for congressman-at-large in several of the parties. There are ten candidates for the four Republican places, while twelve candidates are in the field for the Democratic nominations. Lex N. Mitchell, Jefferson, Philadelphia; Albert M. Fuller, Allegheny; Thomas J. Prather, Crawford, and Frank M. Trexler, Lehigh. A light vote was cast in Philadelphia during the morning hours.
