C. V. Station on South Second Street Will Be Abandoned on May 24

With a new timetable going into effect on the Cumberland Valley railroad Sunday, May 24, 1914, the second street station will be abandoned. Trains will not stop or take on or discharge passengers at this station after May 24.

The old building at Second and Mulberry streets will eventually be torn down to make way for the subway, track and other improvements in that locality. For the present it is understood the building will be occupied as an office for contractors and for a special telegraphic and signal station to take care of trains moving over the bridge while the new structure is under construction.

Wells Fargo Company May Do Business Here

Announcement is expected that the Wells Fargo Express Company will take over the business of the United States Express Company in Harrisburg on July 1. It was also reported that the American Express Company might get the business on the Reading system. An Associated Press dispatch from Wilmington to-day says: "Announcement was made here to-day by Robert C. Miller, local agent for the United States Express Company, that when the latter company goes out of business, June 30, 1914, its entire business will be taken over by Wells Fargo Company."

According to the local announcement, the arrangements for this change, which also includes the express business of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, was made yesterday, through Mr. Lindsay, in the latter's office in Philadelphia.

Manager Miller has offered the present United States Express employees here similar positions with the new company and all have accepted. It is presumed the same policy will obtain wherever it may be possible to carry it out without conflicting with present business arrangements.

MORE HIGHWAYS TO BE RECONSTRUCTED

State Highway Department Will Ask Bids For Eight New Roads Very Shortly

OLD YORK WILL GET TWO

Lycoming Will Have Improvements Made in Montgomery Borough This Summer

The State Highway Department is preparing to advertise for bids on State-aid construction in Cambria, Fayette, McKean, York, Chester, Lycoming, Montgomery and Tioga counties and for bids on a small piece of approach work on a spout highway in Westmoreland county. These bids will close on June 16.

In Cambria county there are two contracts, one of which is in East Taylor township and East Conemaugh Borough, running from the Ebensburg and Johnstown road in East Taylor township, near the property of Mrs. Louise Good to the northern borough line of East Conemaugh, also from the north borough line of East Conemaugh via Jackson and Oak streets to Fourth street, also from Oak and Second streets via Second and Locust streets to the intersection of Locust and Green streets. The length of this stretch is 3,181 feet and the construction is to be of brick block on a concrete foundation in East Conemaugh Borough, while alternate bids will be received on a one-course concrete roadway and brick block paving on a concrete foundation for the piece in East Taylor township. The other Cambria county piece of work is in Barnesboro Borough from the north line of the borough via Chestnut street to the intersection of Chestnut and Carroll streets, the length being 6,242 feet, and is to be brick block paving.

In Fayette county the proposed construction is to run from the bridge over Lamb Creek near the property of Ed. Stevens to the Fayette City Borough-Washington township line. This is to be one-quarter of a mile in length and is to be brick block paving. The McKean county bid is for work to be done in Port Allegany Borough, a distance of 1,272 feet of brick block paving. This is to run from the intersection of Barnett alley and Mill street to the intersection of the bridge over the Allegheny river at the west borough line, also from Arnold avenue and Main street via Main street to the north borough line.

There are to be two contracts to be awarded in York county, the one in Hopewell township, where the road of nearly three miles in length of asphaltic bituminous macadam, penetration method, construction, is to be built from the north borough line of Stewartstown to the North Hopewell township line. The other York county bid is a continuation of the first one and runs from the north borough line of Stewartstown via Main street to the south borough line. A distance of one mile, lacking a few feet. This is to be constructed of asphaltic concrete on a concrete foundation.

In Chester county a portion of the old State road is to be improved for a distance of approximately of three and one-half miles in East Bradford township extending from a point opposite a line between the property of Robert M. Miller and John M. James on the line. Seven hundred and fifteen feet of this is to be a one-course concrete roadway and the rest is to be asphaltic bituminous macadam, penetration method. In Kennett township, Chester county, the Old Creek road, familiar to all readers of Bayard Taylor's story of Kennett, is to be improved from the southeast borough line of Kennett Square to the Delaware State line, a distance of nearly three miles. This is to be of asphaltic bituminous macadam, penetration method.

In Lycoming county a little more than a mile of brick block paving is to be let in Montgomery Borough from the Clinton township line via Montgomery and Main streets to the same township line near the property of J. R. Steib.

Two bids to be asked in Montgomery county, one in Upper Dublin township, where 2,107 feet of asphaltic concrete on a telford foundation is to be laid, extending from the White Marsh township line in a northwesterly direction to the Butler pike. This is known as the Morris road and extends through a suburban portion which is rapidly being developed by the erection of magnificent country homes. The other two miles of asphaltic bituminous macadam, penetration method, on the road known as Township Line Road, Church Road. This highway also runs through a suburban residential district, which is greatly in need of up-to-date highways.

Approximately a mile and a half of brick block paving is to be laid in Mansfield Borough, Tioga county, extending from the improved road at the Richmond township-Mansfield Borough line in a northerly direction via Main street to the intersection of Main and Prospect streets.

The relocation of an overhead crossing over the Hemphill branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad on the West Newton road, in Hemphill township, Westmoreland county, has necessitated the construction of a telford macadam approaches to the length of 325 feet on Spout Route No. 118.

Man Who Murdered His Father Is Chief Beneficiary in Will
By Associated Press
New York, May 22.—Chester B. Duryea, who killed his father, General Hiram Duryea, in their Brooklyn home not long ago, is chief beneficiary under the general's will, made public here to-day.
Chester received a third of the estate, the value of which is not stated and in addition, the use for life of the Brooklyn home, and an income of $5,000 a year, insured by the creation of a $125,000 trust fund. Other beneficiaries are his brother, Harry, and his sister, Mrs. Ellery Anderson.
Duryea is now in Bellevue hospital, where he was committed after he shot his father to death. A commission has been appointed to inquire into his sanity. He is named as one of the executors and trustees under the will.

Frank Moran, Who Will Fight Jack Johnson in Paris

The belief persists among sporting men that Moran will whip Johnson and be hailed in a few weeks as the champion of the world. No one undertakes to say that he would have beaten the old Johnson who met Jeffries. But Johnson has degraded since then. There is much doubt if he can get back into his old form. He is already older than was John L. Sullivan when Corbett beat him in New Orleans. While Moran is no Corbett, he is strong, game and a very hard hitter. He is the best educated heavyweight the ring has known since Queensberry boxing superseded the old London prize ring methods. He is an intelligent fellow, and some persons fear not ugly enough and rough enough to make a champion.
