KING AND QUEEN HEAR INSULTS

While this was in progress, half a dozen women in different parts of the theater started shouting at His Majesty. One of them jumped on the stage and commenced a speech. When she had been thrown out others began. Eventually all the disturbers were ejected. The police on duty outside had a hard struggle to save them from rough handling by the hostile crowd.

The "wild women" of the Women's Social and Political Union, the militant suffragette organization, today continued their terrorizing tactics by making two separate attacks on the National Art treasures.

The turmoil of the battle in the vicinity of Buckingham Palace, where a column of determined women yesterday attempted to reach the King and Queen, had barely subsided when early this morning a woman, armed with a loaded cane ruined five masterpieces in the National Gallery.

Almost simultaneously another woman wrecked a picture hanging in the Royal Academy of Art. Both women were arrested.

Proceedings Halted A little later the magistrate before whom were brought the fifty-suffragette women arrested in connection with yesterday's disturbance was compelled to suspend the proceedings because the accused created such a din that nothing could be heard.

The pictures damaged at the National Gallery were a "Madonna and Child With Infant Saints," a "Portrait of Giovanni Malatini," "Saint John and Christopher and the Dogs," a "Landscape With the Death of Saint Peter," and "Christ's Agony in the Garden."

The painting gashed at the Royal Academy was "Primavera," by George Clausen. The Academy was filled with a fashionable throng when a woman drew a butcher's cleaver which she had concealed in her clothing and dashed at the picture. Attendants at once seized her and it was only the presence of the police which prevented her from being roughly handled by the irate spectators.

Throw Flour at Judge The scenes at Mow street police court when the women arrested during yesterday's battle were arraigned today, surpassed in wildness all previous efforts of the militant party. A male suffragist, who somehow had found a perch among the rafters, blew ear-piercing variations of the "Marseillaise" on a cornet and then sounded the "Charge." This was the signal for volleys of bags of flour and other missiles to be thrown at the magistrate, Sir John Dickinson.

Three policemen were required to prevent one of the prisoners from throwing herself over the rail of the enclosure. Another woman removed her shoe and hurled it at the head of the magistrate, who caught it deftly in his extended hand.

When Sir John Dickinson suspended the hearing and ordered the court cleared, there was a free fight. Subsequently the women were again brought in. Most of them were bound over to keep the peace for six months, but they unanimously refused to find sureties.

Theophile O. Grandpre, of Chicago, who was knocked unconscious by a mounted policeman's horse during the suffragette raid on Buckingham Palace, told the police today that he was robbed of $250 by two men who came to his assistance.

An attempt by militant suffragettes to present a petition to King George at Buckingham palace yesterday failed, but not until a battle had been fought which, for fierceness, surpassed any previous militant demonstration.

At no time were more than a couple of hundred women engaged in the battle, while opposed to them was a force of 1,500 police. At mid the militants were a match for the "lobbies," their clubs denting many a police riot.

Women Meet Police Foes Headed by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, the flying squad of women swept down Constitution Hill toward Buckingham Palace, but when half-way along they met the mounted police and trampled the militants in the person of Inspector Riley, who has charge of the suffragette detail at the Scotland Yard police headquarters.

The shock of combat was short but sharp and resulted in the arrest of many women who in the fighting used clubs with a facility which betrayed long training. Many of the women were seized by the police and trampled, and a few taken to a hospital.

The roadway had just been sprinkled with water and many mounted policemen were thrown. Their comrades on foot, who were in the main, but eventually the strength of the police men told, and in a few minutes more than thirty women, including Mrs. Pankhurst, had been placed under arrest while the others had been scattered into small groups.

One group, headed by Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, reached a point almost across the drive from the palace, where mounted police surrounded the women and placed Miss Sylvia and several of her comrades in custody.

The crowd at this point was so dense

Most Skin Trouble Readily Overcome

The Active Principle of a Famous Remedy Works Wonders.

Many people have marveled the way S. S. S. overcomes skin troubles. The explanation is the fact that S. S. S. works in the blood and the blood is really a most intricate and extraordinary mass of arteries and veins.

When you come to realize that the skin and the flesh beneath are composed of a network of tiny blood vessels you solve the mystery.

There are wonderful medicinal properties in S. S. S. that follow the course of the blood streams just as naturally as the most nourishing food elements.

It is really a remarkable remedy. It contains one thing, the active principle of which is to stimulate the tissues to the healthy selection of its own essential nutriment, and the medicinal elements of this matchless blood purifier are just as essential to well-balanced health as the nutriment elements of the meat, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food.

Not one drop of minerals or drugs is used in its preparation. Ask for S. S. S. and just insist upon having it. And if you desire skillful advice and counsel upon any matter concerning the blood and skin, write to the Medical Department, The Swift Specific Co., 529 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Do not allow some serious clerk's eloquence to mislead you just as goods as S. S. S. to fool you with the same old mineral drugs. Beware of all substitutes. Insist upon S. S. S.

DEBATE WITH US! SUFFRAGE WORKERS

an absence of several months owing to illness, visited headquarters here and in laying plans for the summer campaigns the department heads, it is expected, will accept the challenge for debate.

"We have been trying to persuade the anti's all along to meet us in open debate," it was stated unofficially at the suffrage headquarters this morning, "so that we will be glad to accept such a challenge."

The Colonial Theater, it is understood, has offered the use of their stage Friday evening for the forensic clash, if that date is accepted by the opponents of the anti's. The opening attack of the anti's took place there last night, when Miss Price made her first address. "Sometimes," explained the young and beautiful orator from the Forest City, "we find it difficult to stir up a crowd on short notice, so you see we go where the crowds are."

It will be a busy time for Miss Price and the officers of the anti-association. Meetings are to be held in various towns in this vicinity, with the object of organizing associations that will carry on the work of persuading the electors not to let anybody but themselves vote. To-night a meeting will take place in Middletown; Monday at Carlisle; Tuesday at Lancaster; Thursday at Shippensburg normal school; and Friday is left open for the proposed debate.
