STUCKERS' PRICE FOR FRONT ST. "FILL" STARTLES COUNCIL

Contractors Ask For Seventy Cents a Load; "Nothing Doing" -Lynch

Because of the exorbitant price asked for the 20,000 yards of excavated earth from the Front street subway by the Stucker Brothers Construction Company, City Council this afternoon was unable to accept the offer which would have solved successfully the problem of "filling" for the river front from Maclay to Division streets.

In a letter to Council the contracting company agreed to deliver the 20,000 yards of "fill" on the river front at 70 cents per two-horse wagonload. Each of the wagons will haul about a cubic yard and a half.

The letter says.further:

"If you would prefer to pay for the teaming, we would load the wagons at the subways and pay the city 15 cents per wagonload for hauling, providing the teaming, care of the dumping etc., is paid for by the city of Harrisburg."

City Commissioner Taylor said he supposed the letter was in connection Because of the exorbitant price

Ing ,etc., is paid for by the city of Harrisburg."

City Commissioner Taylor said he supposed the letter was in connection with a conversation he had had with the contractors when he obtained a lot of earth for the use of the city parks below Paxton street.

City Commissioner Lynch declared the price entirely too high. "Twenty cents a load would have been more like it and we probably would have paid that much," said Mr. Lynch. "But 70 cents! That's entirely too high. The city hasn't $14,000 to spend for that purpose."

Coach Warner and Miller Deny Linnen's Charges

Carlisle, Pa., May 26 .- In response to a request for a statement on the report of Inspector Linnen and the Carlisle Indian School scandal, Glenn S. Warner, coach of the football team, denied the charges, and said that Inspector Linnen's report was the result of personal animosity.

The statement of Mr. Warner follows:

The statement of Mr. Warner follows:

Inspector Linnen made a victious and malicious report against me, as he did against every employe of the school who remained loyal to the superintendent. He threatened to put me out of business if I did not cease supporting Mr. Friedman, and when he found his threats did not determe from doing as I thought my duty prompted me, he did everything he could to endeavor to discredit me.

He could find nothing dishonest in my twelve years' service at Carlisle, but on the evidence of a few Indian boys under his domination he obtained evidence that I said "damn" a few times when coaching the football team, and from that he argues that I should be dismissed. He insinuates that my expense accounts have been exorbitant, although he could easily verify them annd see that they were correct. Vouchers accompanied nearly every expenditure.

I purchased canned goods for the football team training table from the company in which I am a director because being a director I could obtain the goods at jobbers' prices and save the athletic association money.

This only shows how hard he worked to find something for which to criticise me. His adverse report on me is not sustained by evidence, and is the result of personal animosity and spite because I had the moral courage to oppose his farcical and one-sided investigation.

GLENN S. WARNER.

Hugh R. Miller, a newspaper correspondent, named in the charges of Inspector Linnen, also entered a denial.

Miller said that he received $150.

Miller said that he received $150 annually after the football season for press work submitted to papers which did not pay him, but which the Indians school athletic management thought advisable to stimulate a demand for games.

In reference to Friedman, he said that he was paid less under his rule than previously. He also said that Friedman had not suggested the publicity work. He said the amount paid him was smaller than the expense incurred.

In his defense Mr. Miller said that eight years ago he wrote to every big sporting editor in the East and asked their opinions on whether or not the Indians should pay him for outside press work, and that all said "yes," and suggested amounts that averaged thousands of dollars a season.

This Leaves the Skin Smooth and Hairless

(Boudoir Secrets.)

The electric needle for removing hairy or fuzzy growths is fast falling into disfavor among beauty specialists, because quicker and better results are obtained with the aid of a paste made by stirring together a little powdered delatone and water. This is applied on the hairs not wanted and in 2 minutes rubbed off, and with it comes every trace of hair. The skin should then be washed to remove the remaining paste and it will be left smooth and spotless. Buy delatone in original packages only.—Advertisement.
