WILSON'S PLAN CAUSES ILL CONCEALED CONCERN

Steel and Metal Trade Outlook Is Not Very Encouraging in Stock Markets

New York, May 30. — The week in the stock market was characterized by very light dealing and unimportant price changes in the speculative leaders, although some of the specialists moved widely in both directions. Except for the Mexican situation and crop prospects, for both of which the future seemed highly favorable, sentiment veered more strongly towards the short account. The financial community, or more particularly the professional element, was disposed to see in the latest official utterances from Washington, strong possibilities of a revival of the agitation of recent years against the so-called corporate interests. President Wilson's expressed determination to proceed with the anti-trust program now before Congress, was received with ill-concealed concern. The industrial

Report Says Plans Are Again in Philadelphia For Minor Changes

While not confirmed officially it was announced to-day, that work on the proposed new Pennsylvania freight station in South Harrisburg would start early in July. Inquiries regarding this improvement brought a statement that plans had ben returned to Philadelphia for further approval.

The returning of the plans to Philadelphia is taken as an indication that the work is again to be taken up by the head officials, and that bids will in all probability be advertised for during the next two weeks. It was said there would be no material changes in the plans.
