Daily bank balances on general school funds will earn interest for the district during the ensuing year, it is understood, despite the fact that the board last evening by a vote of 6 to 2 refused to adopt the special committee report on the subject. Official confirmation of the detailed plan is lacking, but it is understood that an arrangement is now being perfected whereby the savings institutions that will hold the school district funds next year will pay at least 2 per cent, interest on the daily balances.

The committee appointed at a recent meeting to investigate the possibilities for distributing the sinking and general school funds among all the banks as city depositories and incidentally to look into the question of whether George W. McIlhenny is legally and rightfull serving as school treasurer consisted of George A. Werner, Dr. William N. Yates and George W. Kennedy. The report authorized the preparation of a list of banks in the city to be designated as depositories for the money during the year beginning July 1 and an amendment by Chairman Werner authorized the designation of one bank to serve as a depository-treasurer.

Four times during the past year Mrs. Anna Nurick, 1531 Fulton street, has suffered the pain of having skin stripped from her body that her burned child might live. But still her patient suffering is not enough, and soon, for the fifth time, Mrs. Nurick will have to undergo another operation, when several inches of her skin will again be taken and grafted upon the wounds of the child.

Martha Nurick, who is 6 years old, was played with a lighted candle about a year ago at her home when the accident occurred. The child was taken to the Harrisburg Hospital, where she lay for many months slowly strugling back to life. Doctors at the hospital believed that the child's recovery would be hastened if she could be treated by the noted skin specialists at Jefferson, and so she was sent to the Philadelphia institution.

The skin that was stripped from the mother's back and arms was applied to parts of Martha's body where the flames had been most cruel. The child's condition was much improved, but yesterday the doctors at Jefferson hospital decided that another portion of new skin must be attached to the child's body in order to assure its recovery.

Pittsburgh, June 6.—Large crowds of strikers surrounded the entrances to the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company's plants in East Pittsburgh when the whistles blew for the men to report for work this morning and as each workman entered the gates he was called upon by friends in the crowd to join them. There were some additions to the ranks of the strikers, and other men seeing the crowds returned to their homes. Twenty special policemen were on duty but there was no disorder.

Long lines of pickets, men and women, stretched from the factory gates through the streets over which workmen were compelled to pass to reach the shops. Saloons were open but were not being patronized, strike leaders having urged their forces to keep away from them. In the crowds were representatives of the sheriff, but it was said they were there simply to observe the actions of the strikers and their methods of picketing.

The general committee of the strikers was in session to-day deciding whether locals of the Allegheny Congenial Industrial Union in other industries should be called out in a sympathetic strike.
