What Others Think of the Primary Purchase

"The Democratic nominee for Governor says the nomination cost him about $33,000. . . . Nominations should not be purchasable."—The Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"The $33,000 which Vance C. McCormick spent in his campaign for the Democratic nomination is entirely too much for any man to spend, even though he be a man of wealth."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

"One Democratic vote equals thirty cents. That's the price the urbane Vance McCormick paid for each of his 110,000 votes."—Girard, in the Ledger.

"Vance C. McCormick, whose statement of election expenses confesses to $33,274 as the cost of making him "the people's choice" for Governor at the Democratic primary, and also makes mention of a trifling $5,000 contribution from his sister for the same unselfish and patriotic purpose, lectured the Republican administration on its extravagance yesterday. In one of his typical "rough house" speeches to the Democratic State committee he outlined his plans for getting the State out of the poorhouse when (if) he becomes governor."—Bristol Courier.

lays which the primary system has imposed upon candidates. When a candidate for governor admits an expenditure of $33,000, and when it is known that much penditure of $33,000, and when it is known that much more was actually spent by some one in his behalf the evil becomes manifest, for these outlays were for the primary campaign alone; the nomines have a still more costly campaign before them."—Public Ledger.

"Mr. McCormick—millionaire—deems himself competent to run the State on economical methods. Why, hasn't he just given us all an object lesson in rigid economy? To be sure he has. He wanted the nomination at the Democratic primaries. He told the people so. He went before them and talked to them and urged his competency upon them. All that he personally spent out of his ample fortune to induce a goodly attendance of them at the polls was $33,000!" Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Under the new primary law it is harder for a poor man to enter the portals of office than a rich man the Kingdom of Heaven."—Public Ledger.

Pittsburgh, June 10. — Intense excitement prevailed here soon after 10 o'clock this morning when a rumor ran through the crowds of Westinghouse strikers in the streets that strikebreakers had been sent into the electric company's plant. Investigation showed that three cars filled with men had been taken to a point on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, around a curve from the principal entrance to the works. Here they had disemburked, removed their shoes and stockings and wading Turtle creek had marched to the shops. They were in charge of fifty guards.

The strikers, who were forming in line for a parade to Wilmerding and Swissvale, where the shops of the Westinghouse Airbrake Company and of the Union Switch and Signal Company are located, fell into line and marched toward their destination, their leaders urging them to remain peaceable.

Milan, Italy, June 6,—Serious disorders have occurred here as a result of the general strike. All the stores are closed and both newspapers and street cars have suspended.

At the close of a meeting attended by 5,000 persons last night strikers and their followers armed themselves with bricks and fell upon the police, who fied. A squadron of cavalry dispersed the rioters after a sharp fight. The strikers reformed their ranks and attacked a detachment of carabineers, whom they scattered. They then captured a wagon loaded with cans of gasoline, to which they touched a match. A terrific explosion followed, causing a panic. Later the manifestants attacked the police and reinforcements came to the rescue, revolvers being emptied into the mob. A large number of persons were wounded, including Signor Mussolini editor of being emptied into the mob. A large number of persons were wounded, including Signor Mussolini, editor of Avanti. More than a hundred arrests were made.

An encounter between the troops and riotous strikers here to-day resulted in the wounding of a number of soldiers and workingmen. The strikers used the paving stones of the Cathedral Square as missiles. Many of the men were arrested.

Reading, Pa., June 10.—The industrial depression here became more acute to-day, when the Reading Iron Company, this city's largest industry, operating five mills, laid off 1,500 men. The Mexican situation and the tariff is blamed by company officials for conditions. The men were notified that the lay-off would be indefinite. Simultaneous with this announcement, the Reading Railway Company resume full time at the local shops. An order for a number of steel cars recently received is responsible for the boom. The men worok five 10-hour days and a half day Saturday.

Business Is As Good As We Make It

The head of a great national industry — a veritable live wire — remarked recently that he could have a panic in his business any time he wanted it.

All he had to do was to let up driving and begin to talk hard times.

But instead of doing this, he increases his advertising when things look squally and drives his salesmen harder.

And good times or bad, there has never been a year that his business has failed to go ahead and yield a handsome profit.

This man incidentally practically does all his advertising in the local newspapers, figuring wisely that by making sales for the distributors of his goods, he is paving the way for his own salesmen to get more orders.

The Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, is working to help builders of business build better. Booklet on Co-operation forwarded on request to $66 World Building, New York.
