More Big Excursions Coming to Harrisburg

Cheers and yells for Harrisburg marked the departure of the Southern High School boys, of Philadelphia, last evening. They had a big day in this city yesterday, and the boys expressed themselves in appreciative terms for the hospitality and many courtesies from Harrisburg folks.
 This excursion was one of a half dozen which will come to Harrisburg from Philadelphia this year. Two school trips were run to Harrisburg over the Reading Railroad last year as an experiment. They were so successful that M. Schwab, passenger agent for the Reading at Philadelphia, decided to arrange a series of trips for this year. Special trains will be provided and each trip will have new and interesting features.
 In Harrisburg arrangements are looked after by Elmer Hammer, passenger agent at the Reading Station. It was pointed out that such action would mean protection of the railroad between now and the end of the year.

SENIORS PLEASE IN JEDBURY JUNIOR

Most Successful Commencement Event Ever Held in History of Central High School

MISS HELEN WILSON
 Who Stars in Senior Play, "Jedbury Junior."
 "Jedbury Junior," the four-act comedy in which Maud Adams and John Drew appeared with such success, presented last night by the senior class of the Central high school, gave an audience of more than a thousand people a glimpse into English social life that was truly delightful.

And right here before going into detail it should be said that Miss Annabel Swartz, the central instructor in oratory and public reading, is to be congratulated on her selection of the cast and the training which the group of students showed. Regular theatergoers pronounced the production the best thing in amateur theatricals Harrisburg people have seen in five years. Miss Swartz has been in the high school faculty only a year and "Jedbury Junior" was the first big undertaking of her career in this city, although she has put elaborate productions on at other places. Before coming to Harrisburg Miss Swartz was instructor at the Bloomsburg high school for nine years. She is a graduate of the Shoemaker School of Oratory, Philadelphia, as was Miss Bertha Blaine Herring, her predecessor.

Helen Wilson as Dora was perhaps the best of the cast and she with Hoas Sites as Jedbury, Jr., handled their roles in a manner nearly professional. George Beckenbaugh as Mr. Gibb was side-splitting and Lenora C. Fry, as his wife, was extraordinarily capable. Margaret May as Nelly Jedbury was charming in her portrayal of a loving sister and smiling daughter. Miss Kathryn Harris as Jedbury's mother and Roland Remm as his father could hardly have handled their parts in better style. The supporting cast members were away above the amateur average and not a detail of the performance was neglected to make it well worth while.

An orchestra of fifteen seniors played between the acts. All in all "Jedbury Junior" was pronounced the most successful commencement week ever held in the history of the Harrisburg Central high school.

BELIEVE OBSTACLES CAN BE OVERCOME

Constitutionalists in their campaign toward Mexico City aroused keen interest. Results of the siege of Zacatecas by Carranza's men eagerly were awaited here. Here they camped in the outskirts of Mazatlan, reports that the federalists were giving way in the face of bitter rifle and artillery fire. General Funston's report that the Constitutionalists threatened to cut the railroad connection between Huerta's capital and Vera Cruz led to statements by friends of Carranza that the campaign was aimed to capture Huerta and his advisers in case they suddenly decided to leave the capital.

Rebels of Mazatlan Get Another Cemetery
 On Board the U. S. S. California, Mazatlan, June 9 (via wireless to San Diego, June 10)—Heavy volley firing on the outskirts of Mazatlan was heard to-night. It is believed the Constitutionalists are advancing for a determined assault. A well-directed attack is being made on the city. The capture of the city. The Constitutionalists captured a strategic hill north of the city Tuesday night.

Carranza's Note Sent, Say Dispatches From Saitillo
 Niagara Falls, Ont., June 11.—Reports from Saitillo that General Carranza's answer to the last communication of the federalists had been transmitted to Niagara Falls had been interpreted here as meaning that Rafael Zubaran, special Constitutional representative in Washington, had been given instructions on which to draft the reply.

Intimations have come from El Paso and other sources that the Constitutionalists will refuse to declare an armistice, in that the subject will be ignored, but that the note will announce the intention of the Constitutionalists to send delegates here to discuss the Mexican problem, leaving indefinite the nature of the instructions given to the delegates.

What the mediators would say to such a proposition is not difficult to conjecture, for they have taken a stand that unless an armistice is declared there will be no admission for the Constitutionalists delegates. Nevertheless, the mediators have indicated they would not be averse to discussing questions informally with representatives of General Carranza if they came here.

GROCERS TO PLAN PICNIC
 Grocers of Harrisburg and vicinity will hold a meeting this evening at 8 o'clock in the Courthouse to make arrangements for the annual picnic.

GIRLS GET BACK FROM 3-DAY TRAMP

In White Linen and Big Panamas They Tramp From Middletown to Other Cities
 Tired and dusty from a three-day "cross-country hike," six of the prettiest girl students of the Middletown high school, members of the "hiking" club, returned to their homes in Middletown last evening. In their three days' trip the girls tramped through Deodote, Bachmansville, Hockersville and Hummelstown.

No, the girls say they weren't "hiking" it "cross country for the cause," whatever that is, and they indignantly deny that they are followers of "General" Rosalie Jones.
 "Why, of course it wasn't a suffrage hike," pouted one of the pretty misses. "We think those militants over in England are just perfectly horrid! Don't we, girls? We took this little trip just because we like to be out doors."
 Bright and early Monday morning the little party left the Middletown Square. Had in neat white linen walking habits and wearing big white Panama hats, the "hikers" presented a rather good-looking appearance.

Shouldering their packs—Oh, sure, they carried packs; had to have a looking-glass and a few other things, you know—the little band tramped out across the square and out Market street to the country beyond. The first stop was at noon, by a cool spring near Deodote. Here the girls had lunch. After lunch was over and a short rest the "hikers" moved on to Bachmansville. Here they camped over night at the home of Squire F. D. Gruber and family. Refreshed, they galloped forth bright and early Tuesday and marched on to Hockersville and then to Hummelstown. Back to the hospitable shelter of Squire Gruber's home they trudged Tuesday evening. Yesterday they tramped back to their homes.

Included in the party were Miss Ruth McNair, Miss Mary Ettie, Miss Charlene Fishel, Miss Oma Lutz, Miss Eva Blecher and Miss Verone Keiper.

First Band Concert May Be Last One

The first complimentary open-air band concert will be given by the Steelton Band next Wednesday evening at Front and Conestoga streets. The band will be seated on the elevated terrace surrounding St. James' rectory.
 Whether or not this band will give any more concerts during the summer, as was done last year, depends on the action of the borough council on the municipal bandstand project. Just what is holding up this project seems to be a mystery. A good majority of the councilmen say they are in favor of a municipal bandstand, but some of them are holding out for the resolution authorizing its erection is always smothered when it comes up in council. The Pennsylvania Steel Company, it is understood, is willing to allow the stand to be erected on the steel company's lawn, front and angle streets, and the town property committee was expected to report favorably Monday evening. It failed to make any report, though, and the matter is still hanging fire.

OFFER REWARD FOR BODY

A number of Austrians in the West Side have raised a subscription of $25 to be offered as a reward for the recovery of the body of Marka Velykov, a fellow-countryman who drowned Tuesday evening. Grappling parties have searched the river carefully all around the spot where Velykov was seen to disappear. Up until late today, however, their efforts were fruitless.
