100,000 QUARTS OF CHERRIES RIPENING

Great Orchards in Blue Mountain District Yielding Immense Quantities of Fruit

Special to The Telegraph
Waynesboro, Pa., June 12.—The Blue Mountain orchards of A. D. Morganthall, near Pen-Mar, Md., will bear 100,000 quarts of cherries this year, it is reported by Harvey S. Morganthall, son of Mr. Morganthall, who is superintendent of the orchards. There are 2,000 cherry trees in the orchard and each is laden down with fruit. The cherries are beginning to ripen now and will be picked in great quantities each day until the supply is exhausted. Thirty-six Rouzeville people were employed yesterday in picking the cherries and the number will be increased to-day. The trees are young and are not very high, and the pickers use stepladders to reach the topmost branches.
Some of the cherries are sold in the local market, but the majority are sent to the cities, Baltimore receiving the largest consignments.
This is the largest yield of cherries Mr. Morganthall has ever had from his orchards. In addition to the cherries there will be great quantities of currants, raspberries and gooseberries. Mr. Morganthall also has several thousand peach, apple, plum and pear trees that are laden with fruit and, if nothing happens, he will gather thousands of baskets of peaches, pears and plums and several thousand barrels of apples.

HORSE'S KICK KILLS DRIVER

Special to The Telegraph
Marietta, Pa., June 12.—While assisting to plant tobacco on the farm of Peter Martin, near Goodville, John Fox was fatally kicked by the horse he was driving in a water wagon. He had just finished his work for the afternoon when the accident happened. Three blows from the horse's hoofs struck Fox in the stomach and knocked him off the wagon. He died soon after. Fox was 52 years old and is survived by his wife and a son, John Fox, of Reading, also by his mother, who made her home with him, and three brothers and three sisters.

FOUND IT WAS GASOLINE

Special to The Telegraph
Waynesboro, Pa., June 12.—When Andrew Oyler, Chambersburg, observed a small stream of something flowing from his automobile, and believed, after tasting it, that it was gasoline, he applied a match to it. Instantly the flames raced over the thirty feet of liquid trail to the tank on the machine and started such a conflagration that in a few minutes the automobile was burned so that it was practically useless and had to be consigned to the junk heap.

LINCOLN POLICIES AND THOSE OF THE PRESENT COMPARED

Former Vice-President Talks About "Reckless Impeachment of Our Political Institutions"

By Associated Press
Lincoln City, Ind., June 12.—At the grave of his mother, Abraham Lincoln, martyred president, was eulogized by a former vice-president of the United States and three former governors during the pilgrimage today of the Indiana Republican Editorial Association to this place. The grave of Nancy Hanks Lincoln and the old Lincoln home are now included in a State park.

Augustus E. Willson, former governor of Kentucky, addressed the editors and their friends on behalf of the State of Lincoln, and Charles W. Fairbanks, former vice-president, on behalf of the State of Illinois, and Richard Yates, former governor of Illinois, on behalf of the State of Indiana. Mr. Willson, former vice-president, and Charles W. Fairbanks, former vice-president, on behalf of the State of Illinois, and Richard Yates, former governor of Illinois, on behalf of the State of Indiana.

After reviewing the life of the Civil war president, Mr. Fairbanks paid special tribute to his modesty, patience and loyalty.
"In these days of hysteria and of the reckless impeachment of our political institutions, in these days of anxiety for the future," said the former vice-president, "it is well to recall the unwavering patience, the sublime faith and the loyalty of Abraham Lincoln to the cause of the union, his confidence in the virtue of Republican government and his trust in the ultimate judgment of the American people."

"Mr. Lincoln was beset by more and graver questions than ever taxed his illustrious predecessors or his great successors, but he never lost control of his better judgment; he never compromised with expediency, nor even for one moment bartered sound principles for the hope of political preferment."
