VETERAN TIMEKEEPER Only Colored Men on Jury When Pascal Hall Is Hung?

Clark Swope Retires Sheriff May Set Precedent; Doesn't Want to Die; Asks For Pig's Eye For Dinner

Only colored men may serve in the official capacity of jurors and physicians at the execution of Pascal Hall next Wednesday morning.

Whether or not this unusual precedent will be set for what may be the last hanging in the Dauphin county jailyard, will depend upon the applications for jury service that may be received from Sheriff H. C. Wells.

For the sheriff announced to-day that he will give colored applicants the preference in making up the panel of twelve jurors which the law requires must witness the execution.
