To-day Stucker Brothers' Construction company began dumping more of the fill from the Front street subway down along the river front below Paxton with a view to completing the uniformity of the embankment line to the edge of the walk along the wall.

The discovery of "pot holes," deep spots where it is expensive to reach rockbottom for foundations, is the difficulty. In addition to money for this added expense, it is hoped to raise some money to cover the cost of the extra sewer construction in the lower end of the city incident to the imp...
