

DUCK SEASON IS CHANGED AGAIN

National Board Sends Announcement of Its Work to the State Capitol Officials

According to the manner in which the attaches of the State Game Commission interpret the new rules relative to migratory birds the wild duck and water fowl season for Pennsylvania will be from October 1 to January 16. Under the State law it used to be from September 1 to December 15. New Jersey will be from November 1 to February 1. There was danger of these being a closed season which would interfere materially with the sport but this has been overcome.

State officials, however, are sorry that the Pennsylvania and New Jersey seasons were not made uniform as often men who get over the line on the Delaware find themselves in trouble. Nothing has been received here about the recent bird season on which a special ruling was asked to allow Pennsylvania to shoot them.

Hunters who have been deprived of their summer practice by the closing of plover shooting are taking a big interest in the reports of quail and pheasants, which are reported to be abundant in some sections, especially where farmers and sportsmen feed the birds during the winter. The pheasant season starts on October 15 and the quail season on November 1.

Kid Gloves Don't Make Hero Local Scenario Title

Beginning to-morrow and continuing through the balance of the week, the Colonial Theater will show a moving picture that was written, acted, photographed and finished right here at home. This is the first time that a company of motion picture actors has posed for films in Harrisburg, and the players in this comedy photodrama are all residents of the city.

"Kid Gloves Don't Make a Hero" is the title of the photoplay, and the story deals with the jilting of a country boy lover by his sweetheart who takes a shine to a city youth spending his vacation in the suburbs. But after the city youth has brought the girl to Harrisburg and shown her the sights, he takes her canoeing on the river, and when the boat upsets he would have drowned if her country boy hadn't happened on the scene in the nick of time and plunged in and saved her. Of course this brings a reconciliation.

Thousands of pedestrians have watched with interest the movements of the Colonial movie man during the past few days as scenes in this and other photodramas have been posed right in the heart of the city.

"No attempt is being made to rival the products of the big manufacturing plants," explains A. E. Deeman, the Colonial's director, "but the object of these films is to show what really can be done right here in Harrisburg by our own people playing as movie actors. Pictures have been taken in thousands of settings by favorite professionals, but here is a chance to see some of their own landscape and city buildings, as well as their neighbors and friends, on the screen."

The picture to be shown to-morrow contains an exciting scene in the Susquehanna when the canoe in which the country girl and her city lover are riding upsets.—Advertisement.

or advertisement can be seen in the important cities and towns. All the marks incident to licensed liquor dealers have disappeared as if by magic. Voted out of business by a majority of nearly 100,000, the saloonists took the inevitable good naturedly. Many sold their business and left the State. Some have turned to other lines of trade. Still others have retired from active pursuits. Of the 1,200 retail and wholesale liquor establishments in the State June 1, many had closed their doors before the week began. Only a few kept open until the last minute.

Transition Orderly

The transition was orderly. There was no celebration although many curious ones thronged the streets of the cities. Five deaths, due wholly or in part to intoxicants, were reported yesterday from the southern portion of the State.

Nearly $1,000,000 in revenues are taken from the State, counties, cities and towns by the passing of the saloons. To meet this deficit, each district has evolved other forms of taxation.

Fred O. Blue, State commissioner of prohibition, has perfected arrangements for enforcing the law. "The fight for prohibition has only commenced," he said in a statement issued last night in which he appealed to every citizen to aid the officers in compelling enforcement of the Yost act. Commissioner Blue declares he will use every power at his command to see that the act is obeyed in every particular.

PAXTANG PEOPLE PULL TOGETHER

Big Meeting Held by the Voters of the County's Newest Municipality Last Night

Residents of Paxtang "got together" last night in town meeting to make the baby borough one of the most attractive places on the map and laying aside differences on the subject of incorporation named men from whom the court can select election officers, discussed plans for improvements, education, sanitation, assessments and welfare, and wound up with three cheers and a tiger for the newest municipality. Just to show the feeling, it might be stated that while there are 122 voters in the new borough, about 100 appeared at the meeting in the schoolhouse.

The meeting was called primarily to choose men from whom the judges can select men to hold the first borough election. The names of three men were chosen for judges of election, majority and minority inspectors and advertiser of the election. The choice of these twelve men was attended by most good-natured nominating and protesting, and the proposition of public service so early in the existence of the new borough. William E. Seel, chairman of the town meeting which arranged for the incorporation, presided, and a Boyd Hamilton acting as secretary in the temporary absence of F. M. Gilbert, the secretary, and County treasurer Arthur H. Bailey in his position of legal adviser. The counsel for the incorporation move could not be present, having gone to Erie to attend the state bar meeting, but Mr. Bailey speedily qualified to act as attorney.

Burgess With a Veto

A list of the matters which must be taken up was submitted by Mr. Bailey and when the twelve names to be given to the court had been chosen it was decided to hold the first borough election on August 4 in the schoolhouse. Then there was a long discussion in civil government over the proposition of whether the burgess should be a member of council or be a purely executive official with a right of veto.

The discussion afforded an interesting idea of the way the people thought, for there was not a voice in opposition to a motion by John H. Schuster that the council should consist of seven members and that the burgess should be a separate official and not have a vote in council.

This provision will be placed in the charter and means that the burgess will have the same standing as the executives of Easton, Camp Hill, New Cumberland and other places.

Mr. Bailey then explained that the borough would elect at the special election a burgess, seven councilmen, five school directors, justice of the peace, constable and assessors, the selection of the board of health, street commissioner and treasurer being matters for the council. The men to be given to the court had been chosen at the election in August will serve until their successors, chosen at the municipal election in November, 1915, can qualify. The classification of councilmen and directors will take place after the 1915 election.

Smallwood for Burgess

With the exception that many of the voters informally booed Thomas W. Smallwood for burgess, there was nothing said about candidates. Mr. Smallwood, who is a well-known business man, is a prominent and active resident of Paxtang and was generally declared by everyone to be eminently off at a given signal from the Boy Scouts with their wag-wag flags.

The boys who will have charge of the signals will be Robert W. Crist and Willis S. Merrill. Each boy will have a white flag twenty-four inches square attached to a seven-foot pole. One of the boys will stand west of the tollhouse at Front and Market streets, and, on signal from Robert W. Hoy, will repeat the orders to the boy at the Island approach. The second boy will signal to the gunner at Fort Washington.

While the Flag Goes Up

The plan is to have the salute in progress while the flag goes slowly up, and while the band plays "The Star Spangled Banner." In the evening when the flag is hauled down three guns will be fired and Miss Irene M. Wagner will sound the "Retreat" on the bugle.

Colonel Joseph B. Hutchinson, who will be chief marshal of the parade, requests that everybody remain on the sidewalks. Ropes will be stretched at Front and Market streets to prevent interference with the flag-raising ceremony. No vehicular traffic will be allowed between Walnut and Chestnut streets in Front street after 8:15 a. m.

The committee in charge of the arrangements has requested that flags be displayed from every house in the city.

VETERANS' TOUR TO CONVENTION

Old time motorcyclists—men who have not taken part in a motorcycle tour since 1910—are oiling and tuning up their two wheelers and again getting in practice, in order to take part in the tour of old time riders which will be made from Chicago to St. Louis, to attend the annual meeting of the Federation of American Motorcyclists, July 15, 16, 17 and 18. This veterans' tour will be a two-day endurance run with a night stop, probably at Peoria, and H. T. Roberts who originated the tour anticipates that about 50 riders will enter. A handsome trophy will be awarded the veteran who finishes with the nearest perfect score. A. B. Coffman, of Toledo, will act as referee of the run.

However, old timers are not the only motorcyclists who are tuning up their machines for a run to the convention city. There will be a number of tours from all parts of the country, bringing in delegates and hundreds of other riders who will make the run. Perhaps the longest of any of these tours is that is being planned by cyclists of San Francisco.

OFFICIAL COGNIZANCE OF INTEREST DEFAULT TAKEN

By Associated Press

New York, July 1.—Official cognizance was taken by the Stock Exchange to-day of default in July interest on the 5 per cent. bonds of the Chicago and Indiana Coal Company, the 4 per cent. refunding bonds of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad, the 6 per cent. first mortgage bonds of the Evansville and Indianapolis Railroad and the 4 per cent. refunding bonds of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railway. The committee on securities of the exchange ruled that transactions in these issues were to be "flat," that is, with interest added.

Notice

Coal prices have advanced, but it is still everybody's privilege to cut down next winter's fuel bill.

Kelley's Broken, Egg, Stove and Nut sizes were 50c a ton cheaper during April, May and June. Instead of a full 50c advance at one time, an increase of only 30c came with July, and the other 20c will not be added until September 1.
