MRS. LAVINA BOOSER DIES AT PENBROOK

She Lived in Borough Thirty Years and Was Head of Well-known Family

Special to The Telegraph
Penbrook, Pa., July 2.—Mrs. Lavina L. Booser, widow of John Booser, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Martin L. Feesser, at Curtin and Main streets, yesterday afternoon. About a week ago Mrs. Booser, while reclining on a couch, slipped off, dislocating her hip in the fall. Owing to her age, this had a very serious effect and is believed to have caused her death.
Mrs. Booser was 87 years old and was widely known throughout the county. She was born in Lancaster county in 1827 and had lived in Penbrook for more than thirty years. Her husband, John Booser, died about twenty years ago. She was a life-long member of the River Brethren Church.
Mrs. Booser is survived by six children, two brothers, a sister, thirty-eight grandchildren, and twenty-two great-grandchildren. Jacob Booser, a son, who was a justice of the peace in Penbrook for nearly twenty-five years, died several years ago. Those of her immediate family surviving are: Mrs. Adam Shutt of Highspire; Mrs. David Reichert, of Penbrook; Mrs. Martin L. Feesser, of Penbrook; Mrs. Elias L. Witmer, of Penbrook; and Joseph L. Booser, of Penbrook; two brothers, Joseph Bachman, of Nebraska; and George Bachman, of Harrisburg; and a sister, Mrs. Sarah Roland, of Philadelphia.
The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 1 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Feesser at 1 o'clock and at the United Brethren Church at 1.30. The Rev. H. M. Miller will officiate, assisted by the Rev. John Brinzer, pastor of the River Brethren Church at Elizabethtown.

BALDWIN WARNS FARMERS ON FIRES

Says That in Harvest and Threshing Season They Must Use Many Precautions

Advice to farmers about avoiding fire risks in the country is given by Joseph L. Baldwin, the State fire marshal, in his July bulletin and he warns the dwellers in the country against the dangers of having threshing machine engines too close to barns now that the harvest season is on. Mr. Baldwin has been going over the fires reported in rural districts and gives this advice:
Safeguard your buildings by seeing that the engine is removed a safe distance. If a wood or coal burning traction engine is used see that it has a first class spark arrester in good order and in its proper place. If an oil burning engine is used do not allow the oil to be kept in the building. Keep it outside and use care in handling it.
The marshal says that farmers should see that all chaff and waste is removed from the vicinity of the thresher and that there is no oily waste because "an ounce of prevention will save pounds of loss."
It does not take much time for a little thought in fire prevention and it may save your buildings and season's crops, and "remember a good many farmers have been put down and out by a fire loss which a little judgment and care would have prevented." are bits of advice, and the marshal winds up "Don't go into barns with an open light."

SWALLOW DRINKING FOUNTAIN UNVEILED

Two Hundred and Fifty People Attend Exercises at Camp Hill

B-r-r—dashed if this here ain't some styie. By the seven tails of Cerberus I don't hadn't no such drink since I was born.

—Meditations of a yellow pup.
The strains of "The Old Oaken Bucket" floated down the Mechanicsburg road last evening as the sky turned to saffron and 250 voices joined in the rocking chorus, sung in front of the Swallow fountain dedicated last evening to the memory of the parents of Dr. S. C. Swallow and Mrs. Swallow.

The ceremonies were informal, and although no special invitations were issued 250 men, women and children from Harrisburg, Mechanicsburg, Camp Hill and surrounding country assembled in front of the Swallow fountain at Market and Cumberland streets in Penbrook township. "Come Thou Four of Ever Blessing" was sung as the exercises opened at 8 o'clock. Then all joined in the recital of the twenty-third Psalm, led by the Rev. H. W. Hartsock, of Camp Hill. The Rev. D. B. Weitzel, pastor of the Lutheran Church at Camp Hill made prayer, and B. F. M. Sours, of Mechanicsburg, read an original poem, and so did Professor J. H. Kurtzenknabe, of Harrisburg. Short addresses followed by Theodore B. Klein, president of the Dauphin County Historical Society; Attorney E. W. Jacobs, Mrs. Zella A. Peay, custodian of the Dauphin County Historical Society; Professor A. H. Ege, "Mother" Ellenberger, T. H. Hamilton, the Rev. John H. Daugherty, pastor Ridge Avenue Methodist Church, and Dr. W. T. Bishop, Pine street, Harrisburg.

Auss Ella Rohrer, 1400 North Second street, Harrisburg, unveiled the fountain and Wayne Kirschner, of the Bell Telephone Company, performed the ceremonies of turning on the water.
During the evening—and the ceremonies, although informal, lasted from 10.30, music was furnished by the Wagoner Orchestra and by the quartet from the Ridge Avenue Methodist Church led by Professor Evans. Miss Belle Middaugh, of Camp Hill, sang two solos and Miss May Seeger Kinch led in the singing of the "Old Oaken Bucket."
The fountain is twelve feet high, cast in bronzed iron. The base is square and from it a Corinthian pillar rises. Drinking places for humans, horses and for dogs are provided. It is the fact that this low trough to furnish food for canines was thoughtfully provided by the donors that furnished the then or yesterday to see this picture, the scheme is an instantaneous success. The picture is entitled "Kid Gloves Don't Make a Hero," and the fun runs all the way through. The film will be shown at each performance to-day and to-morrow. To-night will bring the weekly country store—Advertisement.

AT THE COLONIAL
In addition to a splendid bill of vaudeville, including comedy and music, the Colonial theater is offering for the last three days of the week, a homemade moving picture that has the town talking. Written in Harrisburg by a Harrisburg author, played in Harrisburg by Harrisburg amateurs, taken in Harrisburg and shown in Harrisburg—the film is the first of a series of homemade photoplays that the Colonial is going to run, and judging by the big crowds that were drawn to the show yesterday, to see this picture, the scheme is an instantaneous success. The picture is entitled "Kid Gloves Don't Make a Hero," and the fun runs all the way through. The film will be shown at each performance to-day and to-morrow. To-night will bring the weekly country store—Advertisement.

Regarding the Mortgage

- Q When you want to talk mortgage, come to this bank.
- Q There's always a heap of uncertainty surrounding the mortgage held by an individual. His intent may be well enough when he enters into the contract, but he can't foresee the future.
- Q Perhaps he may find it necessary to move to another locality miles away, and rather than continue the mortgage at long distance, he will call for its termination.
- Q Perhaps business reverses may come, necessitating the quick converting of all his paper into cash. By its sale your mortgage may fall into the hands of a veritable Shylock.
- Q Perhaps death may overtake him, and his estate not wishing to carry the mortgage, may call for its immediate satisfaction.
- Q These are some of the embarrassing conditions that may arise at any time with the individual-held mortgage.
- Q It was to overcome just such uncertainties that trust banks were created.
- Q Business must have something tangible on which to depend, or business will constantly be in distress. The bank is the key to the situation.
- Q The bank never gets sick, it never goes away, it never dies. The contract it makes with you will be carried through to completion.
- Q All that the bank requires is adequate security for the money it advances. It is loaning other people's money that has been entrusted to its keeping. It must always, therefore, be in possession of that money or its equivalent.
- Q Nor will the bank press you for payment of the mortgage provided you carry out your part of the contract. Mortgages mean revenue to the bank. It will never cut off its income from the promise-kept agreement.
- Q This institution now has money which it will advance on desirable first mortgages at current rates of interest—provided, of course, the security is satisfactory.
- Q If you are thinking of a mortgage, talk the matter over with us. It may be to our mutual benefit.

The award of these contracts will be formally approved at Tuesday's session.

RELIEF FROM DYSPEPSIA

All conditions of depressed vitality tend to disturb the processes of digestion. There is not a disturbed condition of life that may not affect digestion.
Few causes of indigestion are so common as thin, weak blood. It affects directly and at once the great processes of nutrition. Not only is the action of the gastric and intestinal glands diminished but the muscular action of the stomach is weakened. Nothing will more promptly restore the digestive efficiency than good red blood. Without it the normal activity of the stomach is impossible.
Thin, pale people who complain of indigestion must improve the condition of their blood to find relief. The most active blood-builder in such cases is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They make rich red blood which quickly restores the digestive organs to their proper activity and the first result is hunger. The dyspeptic who has hated the sight and smell of food now looks forward to meal time with pleasurable anticipation. Care now in the selection and quantity of food will put the patient well on the road to health. A diet book, "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.—Advertisement.
