COLLIER STORSTAD HELD TO BLAME FOR EMPRESS DISASTER

Findings of Wreck Commission Were Handed Down Today in Quebec

CHANGE OF COURSE CAUSE

Was Ordered by Third Officer Without Orders From First, Who Was in Charge

Quebec, July 11.—The Collier Storstad is held to blame for the Empress of Ireland disaster. In the findings of the wreck commission, handed down today, the commission holds that the disaster was due to the Storstad's change of course ordered by the third officer without instructions from the first officer, who was in charge of the collier at the time.

The Empress was sunk in the St. Lawrence on May 29 with a loss of more than 1,000 lives. The inquiry into the disaster was begun in Quebec on June 16 by a commission composed of Lord Mersey, formerly presiding justice of the British admiralty court; Sir Adolph Bouthier, of Quebec, and Chief Justice McLeod, of New Brunswick. The commissioners were assisted in their work by Commander F. W. Caborne, of the British royal naval reserve; Professor John Welsh, of New Castle, England; Captain Demere, of the Dominion wreck commission, and Engineer Commander Hoop, of the Canadian naval service. Commander Caborne and Professor Welsh were nominated by the British Board of Trade. Lord Mersey also presided over the inquiry into the Titanic disaster.
