Inter-state Commerce Commission Says Directors Were "Criminally Negligent"

PRESENT MANAGEMENT GOOD

Report of Findings It Made Public and It Contains 30,000 Words

Washington, July 13.—"One of the most glaring instances of maladministration, revealed in all the history of American railroadings, is the Inter-State Commerce Commission's characterization of its findings in the investigation of New Haven Railroad financial affairs, reported to-day to the Senate.

In a report of 30,000 words, probably the most drastic in terms of any ever made by the commission, the New Haven's directors were pronounced, "criminally negligent." Evidence pointing to violation of law has been transmitted to district attorneys in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New York and the Federal Department of Justice.

"A reasonable estimate of the loss to the New Haven by reason of waste and mismanagement," says the report, "will amount to between $60,000,000 and $80,000,000. Directors should be made individually liable to civil and criminal laws for the manner in which they discharge their trust."

All the commission strictures were upon the management of the New Haven system under former President Mellen.

Worked With Commission In justice to the present management, the commission says it is but fair to say that Chairman Howard Elliott and Walker D. Hines, special counsel "have co-operated with the commission and rendered it substantial assistance throughout this investigation."

She report cites these "significant incidents": "Marked features and significant incidents in the loose, extravagant and

TAFT MAY BE GIVEN PLACE ON BENCH OF U.S. SUPREME COURT

Death of Associate Justice Lurton Causes Vacancy Which Former President May Fill

OTHERS ARE MENTIONED, TOO

Wilson May Name Democrat as Only Two Are on Bench at Present

Washington, D. C., July 13.—Discussion as to whom President Wilson will appoint to fill the vacancy on the Supreme Court bench caused by the death of Associate Justice Lurton continued here to-day. The names of those mentioned in connection with the vacancy include ex-President Taft, members of the Cabinet and others.

In official circles there was some discussion as to the choice of a successor to Justice Lurton, but no one cared to venture an opinion as to whom the President might appoint. It is not believed that the President has yet considered any name in connection with the vacancy. As a result of Justice Lurton's death the President will be called upon to make his first appointment to the Supreme bench.

In addition to Mr. Taft, those mentioned include Attorney General McReynolds, Secretaries Lane and Garrison, Senator Shields, of Tennessee, a former Justice of the Supreme Court of that State, Frederick W. Lehmann, ex-Solicitor General and one of the American delegates to the Mexican peace conference at Niagara Falls, and that of John W. Davis, of West Virginia, the Solicitor General.

Taft Had Ambition Ex-President Taft is known to have had an ambition to round out his career as a justice on the highest court of the land. Whether he still cherishes that ambition is not known here. When it was reported last winter that Justice Lurton was about to retire it was suggested that Mr. Taft might be offered the place, but it was stated at the White House that his name had not been mentioned. In official circles it is not thought likely that the President will appoint a member of his Cabinet because of his desire to go through his term.

Smith Has Chart of Bailey Murder Case

Freeport, N. Y., July 13.—Investigation of the murder on July 30, of Mrs. Louise Bailey in the office of Dr. Edwin Carman has led District Attorney Smith to form a new theory which is in direct contradiction to that brought forward by Dr. Carman that the murderer had planned to kill him and not his patient. A chart, which the district attorney has had prepared, shows the exact, identical positions occupied by Dr. Carman and Mrs. Bailey and shows that only the narrow part of the physician's shoulders could have been visible to the slayer, while an almost unobstructed view of Mrs. Bailey was obtainable. The district attorney also declared that he was positively satisfied that the shot was fired by a person who knew every inch and intimately of the inside of the room in which the killing occurred.

REDEMPTORISTS TO TAKE A BASTERY IN LANCASTER CO.

Bishop Shanahan Has Closed Deal For Purchase of Stock Farm at Ephrata

MEMBERS OF ORDER WILL HAVE HOME IN RICH AGRICULTURAL SECTION

Bishop Shanahan, of this city, head of the Harrisburg diocese of the Roman Catholic Church, has just closed an important real estate deal by the purchase of Clare Point Stock Farm, at Ephrata, Lancaster county. This farm is to serve as a home for the Redemptorist Fathers in the Harrisburg diocese.

In one of the richest and most fertile sections of Lancaster county, it is an ideal location. The farm is a tract of eighty-one acres, with a beautiful mansion and five other tenement houses. It has its own electric and gas plant on the property, also a well of medicinal water, through which Mr. Wilson, the former proprietor, prolonged his life for fifteen years, and decided to make Ephrata his home, and spared no money in beautifying the property.

The borough of Ephrata is beautifully situated in a thickly populated part of Lancaster county, the garden spot of the world, and is known as the "Carlsbad of America" on account of its medicinal waters. It has a population of nearly 5,000 and is reached by trolley and the Reading railroad (Lancaster branch) from Reading, Lancaster, Lebanon and the numerous small villages in the immediate vicinity. So the reverend fathers locating at Ephrata will not only be a spiritual but also a material benefit to the community, for by their presence the health-bringing locality will become better known.

5,000 ORANGEMEN IN ULSTER PASS THROUGH STREETS UNCOLLECTED

Nationalists in Belfast Take Little Notice of Annual Demonstration

Belfast, July 13.—The insistent demand of the Protestant portion of the province of Ulster for exclusion from the operations of the Irish home rule bill lent added interest to to-day's celebration of the centenary of the Battle of the Boyne. The celebration was carried out with great enthusiasm. Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, rode at the head of some 5,000 Orangemen, accompanied by the usual life and drum bands and including a sprinkling of brethren from the United States and the British colonies. They marched through the city of Belfast to-day, and at a public open-air meeting was addressed by Sir Edward and other leaders. The Nationalist quarter of Belfast was carefully avoided by the demonstrators and on no occasion during the procession did the rival factions come into contact. So little did the authorities expect trouble that they depended entirely on the local police force to keep order, but all the military were confined to barracks, as is usually the case during political demonstrations. A great crowd of tourists, including

Mystic Lay Monk Is Fatally Stabbed in His Native Village

St. Petersburg, Russia, July 13.—Details reached here to-day in a dispatch to the Courier of a probably fatal attack on the Mystic Lay Monk, Gregory Rasputin, whose influence over the emperor is said to be very great. Rasputin, who has been one of the most prominent figures in Russia in recent years was visiting his native village, Pokrovsky, in the province of Tomolsk, Siberia, when a woman, a stranger to the locality, approached him pretending to be a beggar. After accosting him she stabbed him in the abdomen with a long military dirk. The assailant was arrested and confessed she had waited two weeks for the opportunity. She said she had decided to kill the monk because he was a false prophet and was leading everything in Russia astray. Doctors who examined the monk's wound declared it was likely to prove fatal.

Wilson Denies Conflict Between Him and Senate Over Two Appointments

Washington, D. C., July 13.—President Wilson to-day denied that there was any conflict between him and the Senate over the nominations of Paul Warburg and Thomas D. Jones as members of the Federal Reserve Board. In talks with callers he declared he was working in complete harmony with the Democratic majority in the Senate with only one or two exceptions. Mr. Wilson said he had definite assurances Mr. Jones would be confirmed. He did not discuss the case of Mr. Warburg, except to say that he thought the Senate as a whole would be perfectly fair.

Sixteen-year-old Boy Drowned in Chickies Creek

Marietta, Pa., July 13.—Raymond Miller, 16 years old, son of Aaron Miller, of White Oak, was drowned yesterday afternoon in the Big Chickies creek, about a quarter of a mile from his home. Young Miller, who as an expert swimmer with a number of companions, went to the creek to bathe and he undressed and jumped into the water before the other boys were ready. When they went to the bank Miller had disappeared and search was made for him. The water at that point was about eight feet deep and none of the boys was able to get to their comrade. The boy did not come to the surface and about half an hour later Francis Way, of Manheim, came along the creek and he drove to the bottom and brought up the body. Deputy Coroner Stroth was summoned and held an investigation concluding that the boy's head had probably struck a stone on the bottom of the creek, stunning him.

Just before the court pronounced sentence Fleming made brief little plea in which he protested against the State's contention at the trial that he was a drunkard, and concluded with a request that "somebody look after his little baby." Preparations will begin at once.

HUERTA WILL TURN BUSINESS OVER TO CARBAJAL AND QUIT

Carranza Announces Unwillingness to Deal With Federal Leader's Successor

LITTLE FIGHTING EXPECTED

Carbajal Is Now Chief Justice of Mexico's Supreme Court; Was Elected Recently

Washington, D. C., July 13.—Mexico City was looked to to-day as the place where the next big scene in the Mexican situation would be staged. With Huerta about to quit and turn over his affairs to his new foreign minister, Francisco Carbajal, hope was expressed that a way might be found peacefully to transfer the government to the Constitutionalists and avert military conquest of the capital by their triumphant forces. Carranza has announced his unwillingness to deal with Carbajal, regarding him as the creation of Huerta. Nevertheless it has been suggested that parleys for the quick transition of power might take place if Carbajal appeared in the role of representative of a faction, rather than as provisional head of a government which the Constitutionalists refuse to recognize. Carranza, it was declared, intended to follow the "plan of Guadalupe," which provides for military occupation of the capital. However, several European and South American nations, it was said, might frown on such a course. They regard with apprehension the possibility of fighting in Mexico City and forceful resumption of power without some previous guarantee to the populace. It has been strongly intimated that if Carranza, after Huerta's elimination, should insist upon his original program, disapproval would be manifested by several nations. They might refuse to recognize the Constitutionalist leader unless he showed a disposition to give some quarter.

Hostilities Near End

Indications were not lacking, however, that a way might be found for the transfer of power without much further fighting. The impression prevailed widely in Washington that hostilities in Mexico were near an end. Huerta, it was believed, might quit Chapultepec some day this week. Automatically the new foreign minister, Francisco Carbajal, would assume the role of provisional president.

Carbajal is a man of law. He is less than 50 years old. Of an academic temperament, he never served in the army. He came into international prominence as the envoy of Diaz at the Juarez peace conference in 1911 after the Madero revolution.

A few weeks ago he was elected chief justice of the republic's Supreme Court after serving several years as associate justice. He received his education in Mexico. He is said to be of a conciliatory disposition, anxious for the restoration of order and likely to elect to resist with an arm the approach of the Constitutionalists.

"I began advertising in 1883, using a New York and a Boston paper. "Our copy has been consistently confined to newspapers. In fact we have used no other method of publicity for the last seven or eight years, believing that the direct appeal to the consumer printing, at the bottom of our ads the outlet for our shoes, is the best advertising path we can pursue. This shoe and this shoemaker are known the world over and his business is one of the largest if not the largest in the world. It was all built up by newspaper advertising.
