Paris green, in each gallon of water sprayed or lightly sprinkled over them will poison their food so as to kill them within a few hours. Another good method of treatment is to add one-third part of either dry arsenate of lead or Paris green to dust, powder, or flour of any kind for the sake of diluting the poison, and with a large pepper box or baking powder can, with the bottom punched full of holes to serve the purpose, dust the mixture very lightly over the grasses or plants infested by the pests. Do this while the grass is damp, and the dust will stick and kill the pests as soon as they feed again.

"Owing to the immense numbers of eggs of parasite on the bodies of the larvae of the army worm we do not anticipate an outbreak of this pest again next year."

More Light on Fall of Man Is Shown by Further Translations

London, July 16.—Professor Langdon yesterday made a further interesting statement concerning his discovery of the pre-Semite story of the fall of man as related on the tablets now in the Museum of the University of Pennsylvania.

"Since I announced the translation of the fragment which I found in Philadelphia last autumn," he said, "the University authorities have found two large fragments which join the original fragments (of which Langdon has photographs) and it is very evident that the tablets as now completed contain the complete pre-Semite version of the flood and also of the temptation.

A SCIENTIFIC WAY TO REMOVE UNSIGHTLY HAIR

Apply a few drops of El Rado, the liquid hair remover, on the growth; after washing off with a little plain water not a trace of it will remain. The ingredients in El Rado are used by many physicians for exactly the same purpose, which proves conclusively how perfectly harmless it is. This wonderful preparation is the result of a long series of scientific experiments, and is proving a veritable godsend to women troubled with hair growths on lip, chin, cheek, neck or arms. Use a simple application of El Rado to saturate the hair; it is harmlessly dissolved, and in a few moments is gone, leaving the skin smooth, clear and velvety. The action of El Rado is absolutely safe, sure and thorough.

El Rado is coming to be regarded by society women as indispensable as face cream or toilet powder. Test it on your arm; prove for yourself it will do everything claimed. Your money back if you are not entirely satisfied. Write for El Rado bottles at all leading drug and department stores, or direct from the Pilgrim Mfg. Co., New York. Valuable information sent on request. In this city, El Rado is sold and recommended by:

REFORMED CHURCH FOLK AT REUNION

Many Local Members of Sect Go to Pen Mar Gathering

Many Harrisburg members of the Reformed churches took trains over the Cumberland Valley to-day for Pen-Mar to participate in the twenty-fifth annual reunion of the churches in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and District of Columbia. It is expected that 10,000 people will participate. Special trains were run from this city and from others throughout the sections mentioned. Addresses will be delivered this morning and this afternoon will be occupied in part by "College hour," in which graduates of the various Reformed colleges will gather in groups and sing their songs as well as giving the old-time yell.

Dr. Smith's Last Midweek Service.—The Rev. Dr. J. Ritchie Smith conducted his last midweek service last evening, and announced that he would preach his farewell sermon next Sunday morning, exchanging pulpits with the Rev. His address last evening was most impressive, the theme being "Prayer and Its Importance in the Church Service and the Life of the Believer." He said he had often thought if he were to live over his pastorate here he would give even more prominence to the prayer service. Many gave the popular pastor good-bye last night and wished him success and happiness in his new work at Princeton Seminary.

SURFACE TALKS ON ARMY WORM RAVAGE

Gives Recipes For Killing Pests; Visits Are Infrequent Here

State Zoologist Surface has issued a letter on the army worm, in which he says that, while the worm is with us in this section each year, it is only when its forage becomes scarce in its environment that it moves on to new pastures. This is one of those infrequent forays that the insect makes and from which it derived its name. Professor Surface says:

"The army worm is unusually bad at this time in several of the cities and boroughs of southeastern Pennsylvania. Throughout Harrisburg it is especially destructive to lawns. Many persons have done nothing for it, and its continued presence has resulted in the destruction of the vegetation of the lawns.

"This pest is a species of cutworm, varying in color from blackish to dark and light stripes, and when fully grown reaching a length of an inch and a half. The eggs are laid on the stems of grasses in cylindrical masses or bands by a grayish brown moth with wings expanding an inch and three-quarters from tip to tip, and marked by a white speck in the middle of each front wing. The larvae feed on grasses and other vegetation for some time, and when their food supply commences to become exhausted they move forward in a body like an army, and hence their name "Army Worm." The specific name, "Unipuncta," one spot, comes from the single white spot in the middle of the fore wing.

"The army worm is with us every year, and merely feeds as one of the ordinary cut worms, of which we have a great many species. It is only through the agency of unusual natural conditions that it increases to such numbers as to exhaust its food supply in one locality, and then move forward in search of more. It is usually not observed, excepting during the years when it starts to 'march.' This is one of those years. It is held in check by practically all kinds of insectivorous creatures, especially birds and toads and predacious insects and internal parasites. At present many of the specimens being sent to the State Zoologist are infested with internal parasites which will destroy them, as indicated by white eggs of the parasites placed on the skin of the worm or larva.

"The army worm is easily destroyed by arsenical sprays or dusting. A half ounce of arsenate of lead, or of
