Farmers Need Help to Market Their Peaches

Dillsburg. Pa., July 21.—With the prospects of the largest peach crop ever grown in Monaghen and Warrington townships the proposition that confronts the grower is the securing of sufficient help to get the peaches to market. The early varieties are now ripening and with all available help now in sight it is estimated that only about two-thirds of the crop can be gotten in market on account of the scarcity of help.

The largest rush will be between August 15 and September 1.

not "march" forth as an army. It is only when they are very numerous and find insufficient vegetation for them to live in one spot that they travel, and at that time are given the common name by which they are known.

The pests feed voraciously and continue to grow until they are over one inch in length, when they become quiet and change to chrysalids, and later into the soft gray moths, often seen flying around lights in the evening. Waynesboro, Pa., July 21.—A horse with his legs dangling between the ties on the Chambersburg, Greencastle and Waynesboro Street Railway trolley trestle near Rouzerville impeded the progress of the car from Pen-Maryesterday evening. The animal belonged to Elmer Creps, the Rouzerville blacksmith. Mr. Creps' son was driving the horse from the field when it ran upon the trestle and fell through. It could not get out and some men succeeded in tying the animal's front legs and hind legs together and after rigging up a block and fall hoisted the horse to terra firma.

by the white point in the middle of its forewing.

While the larvae are feeding voraciously they are easily destroyed. The main question each person has asked after the first inquiry of "What is it," is how to destroy them. When marching toward cultivated crops they have been kept back by plowing a furrow with the vertical side from them, so they cannot climb it easily, and then dragging a log behind a horse ridden by a boy. Of course, such measures are entirely impractical on lawns. For tunately, here it is easy to resort to an arsenical poisons and thus end them. They can be killed either by dusting or spraying with an arsenical poison, without injury to the grass, and without danger to the residents of the property.

WHAT NEURASTHENIA IS

Neurasthenia is a condition of exhaustion of the nervous system. The causes are varied. Continuous work. mental or physical, without proper vacation periods, without proper attention to diet and exercise, also worry over the struggle for success, are the most common causes. Excesses of almost any kind may produce it. Some diseases, like the grip, will cause neurasthenia. So also will a severe shock, intense anxiety or grief.

The symptoms are over-sensitiveness, irritability, a disposition to worry over trifles, headache, possibly nausea.

The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a nonalcoholic tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed toward building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to naemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenia patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Two useful books "Diseases of the Nervous System" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., If you mention this paper.—Advertisement.
