DEATH OF MRS. GEO. ZIMMERMAN

Mechanicsburg, Pa., July 28.--Mrs. George H. Zimmerman, after a twelve-months' illness with tuberculosis, died at her home in Upper Allen township, near Mechanicsburg, on Monday morning. Mrs. Zimmerman was 38 years old and was born in Juniata county. She is survived by her husband and the following children: Esther, Mary, Noah, Paul and Laborn, all at home; one brother, John Weaver, of Lancaster, and three sisters, Mrs. S. B. Harner, of Lower Allen township; Mrs. Jacob Lauer, of Shiremanstown, and Mrs. Benner, of Juniata county. The funeral will be held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, with services in the Slate Hill Church. Burial in the graveyard near by.

Dwelling Collapses on Family at Shenandoah

Shenandoah, Pa., July 28.--At noon yesterday a three-story frame house that was being remodeled in North Main and Market streets, owned by J. A. Mandour, merchant, and occupied by Mrs. George Hughes and family on the third floor, collapsed, carrying Mrs. Hughes, 55 years old; her son, Albert, 4 years old; Elizabeth Becker, 12 years old, a niece, and Peter Zogby 60 years old, down in the crash.

Mrs. Hughes, Albert Hughes and Elizabeth Becker were found pinned under a light tar roof on the top of the ruins and were rescued, being lacerated and bruised and suffering from shock. They are seriously injured. Zogby was rescued later, also a mass of lacerations and bruises. His skull is fractured and hurt internally. He may die. William G. Bees, who conducted a harness store in the Market street side of the building, had barely time to flee for his life. His stock was ruined. Carpenters working in and about the building were at their noonday meal.

PAXTANG PARK

The headliner at Paxtang, this week, combines comedy, novelty and scientific bag-punching into one of the most original acts we have ever seen. The original acts were the Boxing Kangaroo is the title of the act. The brothers furnish the comedy, which is of the rough-and-tumble knockabout variety, and the bag-punching. The latter feature is sufficiently clever to interest any one, whether athletically inclined or not. The Boxing Kangaroo is the greatest novelty in vaudeville. The animal is enough of a boxer to make things lively for anyone who wishes to put on the gloves with him. He has one great advantage over his human antagonist, he uses all four feet with telling effect and with the aid of his tail he can use them all at once. The Lovett Musical Trio were a big hit with the park audience. Their efforts are along comedy lines as well as musical. An eccentric dancing finish was loudly applauded and it was necessary for one of the trio to make a speech before the performance could proceed. Marva Rehn, with four popular songs and a great singing voice, caught the fancy of her audience at the start and she could have sung a couple of more numbers with less presumption than many vaudeville acts display in taking bows. Herbert Kelsey, the king of ragtime, was well received, and George Moor, clown juggler, proved himself brilliant entertainer with some clever juggling. --Advertisement
